William Earnshaw was born in Philadelphia May 12, 1828, and died July 17, 1885. At twenty-five, in the spring of 1853, he was admitted to the Baltimore Conference, and was sent to Warrior's Mark Circuit. In March, 1855, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Beverly Waugh. The same year he was united in marriage with Miss Margaret Hutchinson, who shared with him the toils and privileges of a successful ministry, and who, with four children, mourn his departure. In 1856–57 he had charge of Hancock Circuit (Md.), 1858–59 of Mercersburg Circuit, and 1860 of Shippensburg Circuit. At the latter place he enlisted as a private in the United States service, and four months later was elected chaplain of the 49th Pennsylvania Volunteers. His commission as Chaplain of United States Volunteers is dated April 22, 1863. He held this position until he was honorably mustered out of the service August 22, 1867. Nineteen battle-fields looked upon this man of God in the discharge of his duties in ministering to the wounded and dying, while the incessant round of duty in camp, bivouac, and hospital made so great a man as Gen. George H. Thomas say: "Mr. Earnshaw is the best chaplain I have known during the war." At the close of the rebellion he was appointed superintendent of cemeteries at Stone River and Nashville, and succeeded in gathering together and interring the remains of 22,000 Union soldiers. He was also one of a committee of three to select sites for the national cemeteries at Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Corinth, and Memphis. These duties opened up to him the path to honor and responsibility in connection with the National Home for disabled volunteer soldiers at Dayton, Ohio. He entered upon his duties there as chaplain September 5, 1867, and continued in this relation until death.

Thomas Sherlock was born in Philadelphia on February 28, 1826. At an early age he embraced the religion of Jesus Christ, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when but twelve years old. When but nineteen years old he filled the position of superintendent of Salem Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school, connected with one of the leading and most influential Methodist Episcopal churches of Philadelphia at that period of her history. His educational advantages were good, and he was graduated at Dickinson College in 1852 in the classical course. He was received as a probationer in the Baltimore Conference the following spring, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott on March 11, 1855. March 8, 1857, witnessed his ordination to elders' orders at the hands of the venerable Bishop Waugh, in the city of Baltimore. In 1858 he was married to Miss Kate Colsher, of Selinsgrove, Pa., who survives him. The following is a list of his appointments: Lock Haven, Newberry, Berwick, Muncy, Northumberland, Berwick, Bloomsburg, Bellefonte, Jersey Shore, Carlisle, Emory Church (Baltimore, Md.), Hagerstown (Md.), Newberry, Bedford, Mifflin, Chestnut Avenue (Altoona), Lewistown, Lock Haven. In disposition he was quiet and unobtrusive, always sweet-spirited, and before the world at least always cheerful. These gentle graces and finer elements, that gave to Thomas Sherlock his adorning, were the powers that confirmed his purpose, kept his character clear and his sword-sweep clear in the strain of life's battle. He died suddenly at Asbury Park, a short distance beyond the Ocean Grove boundary line, in the early dawn of Tuesday, August 25, 1885. He had been walking along the beach, communing, no doubt, with Nature and with Nature's God, when suddenly the air grew heavy with the rush of wings, and within a few moments he had passed on from the noise of the surf here to the music of the waves that lave the other shore.

Jacob S. McMurray was born on Pine Creek, near Jersey Shore, Pa., October 21, 1821, and died at Lilleyville, near Lewistown, Pa., Friday evening, November 27, 1885. Over a year ago, when pastor at Tyrone, he had a slight attack of congestion of the brain, from the effects of which he soon recovered. At the last Conference he was made presiding elder of Juniata District. He held quarterly meeting at Lilleyville on the evening of his death, preaching a sermon and administering the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. While preaching he appeared distressed, at times putting his hand to his head; and the last half of the sermon was delivered rapidly. The communion service, too, was shortened, the usual address to the communicants not being made. During this service he was troubled by violent coughing. After the second table he asked the people to sing, stating that he was obliged to go out on account of his cough. They sang three verses, during which time they could hear him cough violently outside. He then appeared at the door, and was assisted into the church, and seemed in great distress. When it was proposed to remove him to the house of Mr. G. Swartz near by, he said, "No." This was the last word he said, and in a few minutes he breathed his last. The physician, called in, said he died of apoplexy, a rush of blood to the head producing a cough, the violence of which ruptured a blood vessel. He entered the Baltimore Conference in March, 1845, and continued in the effective work until his death. His appointments were Bloomingdale, Sunbury, Bellefonte, Berwick, Baltimore (Fayette Street), Warrior's Mark, Birmingham, Bellefonte Circuit, Milton, Newberry, East Baltimore, North Baltimore, Lewistown, Carlisle District, Altoona, Altoona District, Huntingdon, Bloomsburg, Clearfield, Shamokin, Tyrone, and Juniata District. He was a delegate to the General Conference of 1864, which met at Philadelphia, and also of the General Conference of 1872, which met in Brooklyn. He was also a member of the Board of Church Extension for many years, attending its sessions regularly and faithfully. He was an able, eloquent, and efficient preacher of the word. A man of fine executive and administrative powers, and of intensely logical mind, he made himself felt in every position he occupied, and especially excelled in deliberative bodies as a clear and forceful debater. He had that rare combination of large individuality and courage, with self-poise and respect for the rights of others, which masters difficulties and reaches practical results. In the midst of a heated conflict, and in the face of partisan differences, his manliness and fair-mindedness were obvious traits. He was a friend and companion never to be forgotten; an accomplished Christian gentleman. Mindful of all the minor courtesies and delicate attentions which add so much to human happiness, he was ever manifesting consideration and sympathy for others. His habit of courtesy and thoughtful consideration was no mere surface polish, but rather the outward expression of his instinctively genuine and unvarying kindness of heart. How full he was in this rare culture will be attested especially by the grateful remembrance of the younger generation of preachers in this Conference, and also by that of many other young men in other callings, with whom he came in contact, and to whom his presence, his cheer, and his friendship were an inspiration and a benediction. Without ever striking an attitude as the special friend of young men, he was in reality their friend. Wherever he went, in and out of the Church, he made friends, and men loved and honored him. Having been a faithful worker in the Church for half a century, including his public ministry of over forty years, he has gone to join that innumerable company of the redeemed, where "they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever."

Cambridge Graham was born in the vicinity of Bellefonte, Pa., Dec. 19, 1816, and died in Tyrone, Pa., Dec. 20, 1885. At a camp-meeting near Karthaus, he was awakened and converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His zeal and success in winning souls to Christ in the ranks of the local laity was followed by the call of the Church to a higher sphere. He was admitted to the Baltimore Conference in March, 1845, and was ordained a deacon and elder, respectively, by Bishops Hamline and Thomas A. Morris. Circuit riding in those days meant much, but with the spirit of a true evangelical itinerant, the young man, by appointment from the Conference, penetrated the Clearfield forests — on horseback and with well-filled saddle-bags—to unfold the mystery of One dying for all men. The Karthaus Circuit was no sinecure. Thence to Bloomingdale in Luzerne County. Thence to Lewistown, Shirleysburg, Trough Creek, East Waterford, Allegheny, Concord, Carlisle, New Bloomfield, Woodbury, Cassville, Tuscarora, Duncannon, Mount Holly, Newville, Rehoboth, and Beaver Meadow. One touch of the pen can indicate these extensive fields, but a volume would be needed to outline the story of toil, trial, and triumphs bound up in each. At New Cumberland, in the winter of 1855, there was a large ingathering of souls, the happy pastor baptizing, according to the various modes of baptism, seventy-five persons, who, being received into the Church, became substantial and useful members. In the fall of 1859 he held a camp-meeting at Woodbury, Blair County, which resulted in two hundred conversions, nearly all of whom united with the Church. At Duncansville, on the same charge, the following winter, a most gracious revival occurred, and four church classes were organized. The same happy influences were felt at revival meetings at Duncannon, Mount Holly, and elsewhere. Indeed, Father Graham was an indefatigable workman, and was eminently successful every-where in saving souls. At the Conference of 1880, held in Altoona, he was granted a superannuated relation, and took up his residence in Tyrone. The last effective work he did was as a supply on the Port Matilda Circuit. But as a patriarch he went in and out among the people, wise in counsel, ready in reproof and strong in encouragement. Intensely spiritual and practical withal in his religion and conversation, he could cheer forward a good cause right royally, and give an impulse to right-doing on every hand. His home-life was delightful. His marriage with Miss Mary M. Creutzbury, of Bedford, was evidently in the line of a true providence, and the four affectionate children given them vied with each other in smoothing the pathway of the old itinerant. Father Graham was a sufferer—a great sufferer. Still he passed through all the mysteries of that seemingly indispensable baptism without murmuring. He had a triumphant experience in it all, and while enduring the most excruciating pain, could be heard shouting the high praises of God. At last the supreme moment came. "Weep not, my children, that your father's work is over and his traveling days are done. I am going to Jerusalem, the golden, of which we on Sabbath evenings have so often sung."

Saint Louis Conference.

Patterson McNutt was born in Switzerland County, Ind., Aug. 27, 1832, and died Feb. 9, 1886, in Del Norte, Col. He was converted, and united with the Church during his Sophomore year in college. He was graduated from the Indiana Asbury University in 1855, and in the autumn of that year was united in marriage with Louise S. Slavens. He received license to preach and joined the Illinois Conference in the autumn of 1858. He remained in this Conference several years, sustaining pastoral relations to one or two charges, but mainly engaged in teaching. In the summer of 1862 he engaged in the service of his country as captain of Company C, 73d Illinois Regiment. He was distinguished for ardent patriotism as well as enlightened piety. To many a suffering soldier he carried a cup of cold water and the message of heavenly mercy. He was in the battles of Perryville, Ky., and of Stone River, Tenn., as well as in numerous skirmishes. From exposure on the march, the picket line, and battle-field, his health became greatly impaired, and before the close of the war he was honorably discharged. From this time forward his life was a continual struggle with pain and bodily infirmity. He resumed his educational work in the Illinois Conference as president of Marshall College, which position he held for three years. In the spring of 1869 he was transferred to the Kansas Conference, and stationed at Oswego, serving two years. He afterward served one year as president of Baker University, when, his health becoming still more infirm, he took work in the Colorado Conference. Here his health was so greatly improved that he accepted the professorship of mathematics tendered him in 1872 by his alma mater. This position, in connection with the South-east Indiana Conference, he held for eleven years, when failing health caused him to resign. In 1883 he was transferred to the Saint Louis Conference, hoping to receive benefit from change of climate and occupation. He served a part of the year at Holden, and at the next session of Conference was stationed at Warrensburg. At the beginning of the second year here, his health still declining, he was forced to resign his charge and go to Colorado, hoping to be benefited as he had been before. Here on May 1, 1885, he took charge, as supply, of Del Norte and Monte Vista. At first his health seemed to improve. He often preached three times on Sabbath, besides attending Sunday-school, and leading classes after sermon. This he did with scarcely any intermission until the end. On Sunday previous to his last sickness he organized a church of thirty members at Monte Vista, preached twice, visited several of the members, and raised a subscription of $1,200 for a church building. Next day he rode more than twenty-five miles over the snowy plain, visiting and praying with the sick who had been unable to get out to church. On Tuesday he reached home very tired, but very happy in his work. Next day he suffered from neuralgia in the chest and shoulders, arising from a severe cold he had taken. The pain becoming more severe, a physician was sent for, who found his liver congested and extremely painful, accompanied with chills and fever. Medical aid seemed unavailing, and on the following Tuesday evening at ten minutes to seven o'clock he breathed his last.

Alonzo J. Clifford was born at Palermo, Me., June 14, 1846. His grandfather was an exhorter. His father and two brothers were Methodist preachers. His only sister is the wife of a Methodist preacher. He was converted before he was twelve years old. Receiving a common-school education, he was graduated at Dirigo Business College in 1866. He left a business life at the call of the Master, and was licensed to preach, May, 1873. Was ordained deacon at Bucksport, Me., by Bishop Foster, June, 1876. Ordained elder at Rockland, Me., by Bishop Merrill, May, 1878. His appointments in the Maine Conference were Unity, Rockport, Boothbay, Bucksport, and Monticello. An attack of pneumonia at this last place rendered a trip South necessary, and he spent a few months with a brother in Mississippi, but returned the following summer and supplied the Monticello work until transferred to the Saint Louis Conference in the spring of 1885, where he was stationed at Summit Street, Kansas City, dying there, Dec. 3, 1885, in the full assurance of faith. Brother Clifford was a good preacher and a good man. Few ever acquired and exerted in so short a time so wonderful a power for good as Brother Clifford in Kansas City. His memory is a sweet aroma. His kind, earnest life lingers like a "thing of beauty." As of Barnabas it was said, so of him: "He was a good man, full of the Holy Ghost and of faith." He leaves a wife and three children to the care of the Conference.

[The following obituary was received too late to appear in the Spring Minutes of 1885.]

SAMUEL HAYES MORTLAND was born in the County of Tyrone, North of Ireland, about fifty years ago. He died at Independence, Mo., March 27, 1885. In his sixteenth year, though very moral in life, he was deeply convinced of sin. After months of prolonged anguish of spirit he was powerfully converted while at a class-meeting, and entered into an unclouded experience of the divine favor. He united with the Saint Louis Conference at its session in 1873. He was appointed to Cape Girardeau, which charge he served two years. His next appointment was North Springfield one year. During this year (1875) he was united in marriage, at Memphis, Tenn., with Rosa B. Leslie. He served Rolla one year and Independence two years. At the close of the second year he was prostrated with pneumonia, and was unable to attend Conference. He, however, received his appointment to Holden. Recovering very slowly he was unable to take charge of his work for three months. At the expiration of this year he was reappointed to Holden, but by reason of mental depression and physical debility he was obliged to resign very early in the year. At the succeeding Conference he was placed in the supernumerary relation, which he held for two years. During the second year his health was so far restored, that he preached a few months for the Presbyterian congregation at Holden; and at the call of the presiding elder, closed out the year in supplying Lee's Summit Charge. He was then made effective and appointed to Lamar, where he remained one year. He was then returned to Independence. Ere the year closed he was again stricken down with pneumonia, induced by preaching a funeral sermon in a cold house. It was plainly evident that his life-work was done. His decease was announced to the Conference during its last session. As a Christian, he was a man of God. His religious experience was an even, constant, unquestioned fellowship with the Father, and his Son Jesus Christ.

Delaware Conference.

CHAS. H. ASH died July 10, 1885, at Townsend, Del. He was born fifty-two years ago in Caroline County, Md.; was converted at the early age of fifteen, and licensed to exhort in 1866. He held appointments as follows: Hillsborough, Denton, Tobacco Stick, Kerr Island, Townsend. It will be seen that his religious training began in his early boyhood, and this may have largely influenced his religious life, even to advanced years. Brother Ash was a warm, genuine, clear, Bible preacher. At times he waxed eloquent, when the whole congregation would be swayed by his burning sentences. We are confident that the world is better for his having lived. He was visited by his pastor in his last hours, who found him waiting and ready to depart. Gladly and triumphantly did he depart at the Master's call.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN BUTLER was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Feb. 7, 1835, and came to the United States in 1853, at the age of eighteen. His conversion and call to the ministry took place shortly afterward, and in 1856 he was received into the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. The ensuing thirty years of his life were crowded with more earnest endeavor and grander results than many men have accomplished. In the Zion connection our brother did effective service in the West. Out of the chaos, in which the war had plunged the colored membership of the Southern Church, Dr. Butler brought order, and soon added a large number of churches and communicants to the fold of the Zion connection. In Kentucky he organized the first convention of colored men held after the war, and his utterances in behalf of their rights were so outspoken and just, that they aroused the wrath of the unsubdued rebel element, and finally, for prudence' sake, he was assigned to an eastern work. His pastorate at Zion Church, New York city, was a troubled one, owing to circumstances over which he had no control; but his firmness, prudence, and good judgment brought him out of it with honor. The negotiations for a union between the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Zion connection having proved a failure, he united with the mother Church. In 1871 he organized what is now Saint Mark's Church, in New York city, and, both politically and socially, he was a prominent figure in the great metropolis. His transfer to the Missouri Conference, where he was made presiding elder of a colored district, followod his New York pastorate, and he did good and effective work in our western field. Returning East, he was stationed at Saint John's Church, Newark, N. J., and while there received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Central Tennessee College. His transfer to the Delaware Conference followed, and his appointments were, successively, Ezion, Wilmington (Del.), Zoar (Phila.), Haven Mission (Phila.), Chester (Pa.), and South Wilmington (Del.). At the Conference session of 1885 he was superannuated and returned to his home in Wilmington, Del. As sometimes, even in the darkest night, one lone star shines through the rifted clouds, so in his hours of poignant suffering, the religious element in our brother's character shone out all the clearer because of the mental wreck around it. Thank God, after the fearful days of suffering ended in the insane ward of the Delaware Almshouse, Feb. 20, 1886, we have reason to believe there was "a great calm" in the stillness of whose perfect peace the soul mounted up to God.

Missouri Conference.

LEWIS N. TAYLOR died at Evanston, Ill., Sept. 22, 1885. As a preacher of the Gospel of Christ in the Missouri Conference, he served the Church with acceptability and success two years on the Montgomery work and two years at Fulton. Feeling the need of a more thorough preparation for the Gospel ministry, he went to Evanston, Ill., to pursue a course of theological study at Garrett Biblical Institute. While there he gained the confidence of faculty and students, made steady progress in his studies, and impressed all with his sterling qualities. His character needs no word of praise from us. We do not understand the Providence that took one so full of promise from us, but meekly bow to his will, and ask him to raise up among us more men like L. N. Taylor.

LEWIS HENRY BOWDLE was born in Ohio in the year 1850. Both his father and grandfather were ministers of the Gospel. Working on the farm he saved means enough to take one years' course of study in college at Delaware, O. After this he worked his way through Holbrook's normal school at Lebanon, O. Then coming to Missouri, like some of our noble boys of the present, he paid his way by services through two years' instruction in our own Lewis College. In the summer of 1881 he was appointed by the presiding elder of the Hannibal District to supply the Brevier Charge, where he was instrumental in bringing about a glorious revival of religion. At the session of the Missouri Conference of 1882 he was admitted on trial and sent to the New Florence Circuit. In 1883 he was sent to the Rothville Charge, having this year quite a revival at the Mendon Appointment. In 1884 he was admitted into full connection and sent to the Laddonia Charge, where he continued to the close of the summer of 1884, when he was compelled to leave his work. Tubercular consumption had seized him, and the strong will had to yield to its demands. Taking with him his faithful wife and babe, he went to Bates County, Mo., where, after suffering till May 23, 1885, he crossed over to the other shore.

Levi T. McNeily was born Dec. 17, 1818, in the State of Virginia. He made a profession of religion in the year 1839, and in 1840 was married to Miss Amy G. Sperry. From the time he experienced the saving power of Christ he became an earnest worker in the Church of his choice. His labors as a minister of Christ in the Missouri Conference embrace a period of over nineteen years. He traveled the Middletown Circuit during the years 1866 and 1867. Took a supernumerary relation in 1868, but was made effective in 1869 and sent to the Sturgeon Charge. In 1870 he went to the Moberly and Huntsville work. His next appointment was at Shelbyville, where he remained two years. Clarence was his next field of labor, where he held up the cross for three years. From Clarence the Conference of 1876 sent him to Linneus, where, for three years, he served acceptably the church at that place; he then was sent to Milan, preaching there three years. At the Conference held at Macon City, Mo., March 19, 1885, Bishop Fowler assigned him to the Chillicothe Circuit, to which place he went; but he was nearer the time of his "location" than he thought. After making but one round on his circuit, not feeling well, he returned to his home at Linneus, where, after a few days' severe illness, on April 29, 1885, God gave him a "transfer" to a "better country."

North Indiana Conference.

Jacob Colclazer, the oldest man in the ministry in the North Indiana Conference, was born in Georgetown, D. C., September 22, 1813, and died in Kendallville, Ind., December 24, 1885, aged seventy-two years. In 1835 he settled in Logansport, which was then a mere Indian trading post. Brother Colclazer was converted in Coshocton County, O., Aug. 17, 1831, and on the same date united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Church he always loved, ever honored, and to which he gave the services and powers of his life. Two weeks after his arrival at Logansport he was appointed a class-leader; April 12, 1836, he was licensed to exhort; and on September 24 of the same year, he was licensed to preach. On the same day he was recommended for admission into the traveling connection. He was admitted to the Indiana Conference October 23, 1836. Brother Colclazer's fields of labor were as follows: Deep River Mission (Mo.), Kalamazoo Circuit (Mich.), Logansport, Fort Wayne, Monticello, Dayton, Frankfort, Kokomo Mission, Rockville, Roseville, Rochester, Delphi, Covington, Middletown, Muncie, Centreville, Goshen District, Fort Wayne District, Richmond, Indianapolis (Roberts Chapel), Logansport, Wabash, Peru, supernumerary, superannuated, Peru (Saint Paul's), Warsaw, Fort Wayne (Berry Street), New Castle, resigning in the middle of the last year on account of the loss of the sight of one eye, superannuated, and Peru. In 1880 he superannuated on account of the almost total loss of sight in his remaining eye, and continued in this relation until death. This long and excellent record shows almost forty-five years of active service, and over forty-nine years in the ministry. In 1860 he was a delegate to the General Conference at Buffalo. After his last superannuation he removed to Rome City, where he engaged in business, and some two years ago took up his residence at Kendallville, where he died. Brother Colclazer was married Aug. 22, 1839, to Miss Isabella M. Sholtz. Four children were given to this marriage. Two of these passed away in early childhood. He buried his wife Jan. 28, 1847. He was married the second time, Nov. 5, 1848, to Miss Eliza A. Hathaway, who survives him. One son was given to this union, who died a few months before his father. His final illness was protracted. The severe pain he suffered he bore with the greatest resignation and patience. Those who were with him in his last days say it was indeed an inspiration to see and hear him. His many years of service were crowned with a halo of glory and triumph. Jacob Colclazer was a man and a minister whose life and work are his best and most eloquent eulogy. He was a man of power and of great influence, as well as of usefulness. As a preacher, he was eloquent, forcible, instructive, and powerful. He dwelt much on Bible doctrines. His utterances were supplemented by an untarnished Christian character, against which no breath of reproach was ever directed. As a citizen, he was ever interested in the public welfare, and in all the great reforms of the age. All his influence was thrown on the side of uprightness, and his motto was "for God and humanity." In his family he was affectionate and kind.

Abia Minor Kerwood was born in Washington County, Pa., August 2, 1812, and died in Muncie, Ind., March 25, 1886, aged seventy-three years. On arriving at his majority he removed to what was then the far West, where he attended school, and worked at his trade. He was married in Preble County, O., in 1840, to Miss Rebecca Peden. Brother Kerwood was converted in 1832, and at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, to which he gave the best of his life. He was licensed to preach in 1841, and served the Church in a local capacity until 1854, when he was received on trial in the North Indiana Conference. Bishop Simpson ordained him as deacon in 1857, and elder in 1862. He spent forty-two years in the effective ministry, of which twenty-five were in the itinerancy. His fields of labor were as follows: Muncie Mission, New Corydon, Montpelier, Portland, Lafontaine, Normandy, Boxley, Alto, Miami, New Corner, Montpelier, Camden, Ridgevilie, Williamsburg, Eden, Westfield, Kempton, Boxley, superannuated. Upon receiving this relation he took up his residence in Camden, afterward removing to Muncie, where he remained until he passed to his reward above. Brother Kerwood was a clear and forcible preacher, powerful in prayer, original, logical, and apt to teach. He was a good biblical scholar, strong in his individuality, and ever acceptable to the people he served. During his last years he was confined much of the time to his home by the side of his afflicted wife, who had so heroically shared with him the work of the itinerancy, and to whom he was constantly devoted.

Washington Conference.

John Baptist Snowden died on Tuesday morning, September 8, 1885, aged eighty-four years. Born a slave, in the family of Nicholas Harden, on Morgan's Run, Baltimore County, and of slave parents, he was early trained and taught by a religious mother, and at the age of nineteen was converted, and connected himself with the Methodist Church. Two years later he began service as a local preacher, and at the age of thirty purchased his freedom from Elisha Bennett, Esq., to whom he then belonged. He was untiring in his labors, enjoyed the respect and esteem of every one with whom he came in contact and numbered among his converts many white as well as colored people. In 1864 he joined the Washington Conference, and was stationed successively on Jefferson Circuit, Frederick County, Baltimore (Dallas Street), Liberty Circuit, Frederick County, Reisterstown Circuit, Baltimore County, Harford and Govanstown Circuits, Hagerstown Station (Md.), and Leesburg (Va.). He was superannuated in 1880, after which time until his death he lived quietly with his children.

John Trigg was born in 1823. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for fifty years. The work of the Washington Conference in the south-western part of Virginia owes its very existence to the labors of this great and good man. He was admitted into the Washington Conference in 1868. Just before he departed he exclaimed, "The chariot has come to take me home, and I must go."

W. H. THOMAS was born in Fairfax County, Va., in 1836, and died October 13, 1885. This good and faithful minister of the Gospel was confined to his sick-bed over a month at Thaxton's, Va., where he was stationed; but having somewhat recovered, he returned to Baltimore for medical treatment. He was only permitted to live a month after his return. On the day of his death he said, "I feel better than I have felt for a long time; but I am weak." About three P. M. he called his wife and said, "This is death! this is death!" He asked the Rev. S. G. Griffin, who was present, to sing, "Nearer, my God, to thee." Shortly afterward he waved his hand to his beloved wife, exclaiming, "Good-bye, Harriet, good-bye!"

New England Southern Conf.

CHARLES NASON died in Woonsocket, R. I., May 28, 1885, aged sixty-two years. He was born in Kennebunkport, Me., Sept. 14, 1822. He was married to Miss Sarah Nason, a native of the same town, Oct. 1, 1843. The youngest child, Osman C. B., is principal of Hampstead (N. H.) High School. Brother Nason was converted March 1, 1842, in his native town. June 19, 1846, he received an exhorter's license, and Feb. 27, 1847, was licensed to preach by the West Kennebunk Quarterly Conference. He was ordained a local deacon at the New Hampshire Conference, held at Bristol, May 11, 1851. He was received on probation in the Maine Conference July 2, 1847, and that and the following year was appointed to Gray and Windham Circuit. Before the close of the second year he left to attend the Biblical Institute at Concord, N. H., graduating therefrom in 1851. April 14, 1852, he was received on probation by the Providence Conference, and stationed at South Dartmouth. His subsequent appointments, until 1862, were: Millville, Phenix, Taunton (First Church), New Bedford (Pleasant Street), and Edgartown. At the Conference of 1862 he took a location, and August 10 of that year enlisted as a private in the Eighth Maine Volunteer Infantry. He was soon promoted to the chaplaincy of his regiment, and served until Aug. 10 of the next year, when he resigned. The 12th of the next October he re-enlisted as chaplain of the Second Maine Cavalry, and served until March 12, 1865. Believing the war to be substantially over, he resigned in time for re-admission to his Conference, and was stationed at Scituate, Mass., where the church was burned, and he did very much in securing plans and funds for rebuilding. After two years he was stationed at Wellfleet, to which place he was re-appointed in 1868. In 1869 the Conference was arranged into five districts, and he was made presiding elder of Norwich District. The following year there were four districts, and Brother Nason was sent to Phenix for a second term, where he remained two years. His next station was Woonsocket, he remaining one year. The next four years he was chaplain and agent of the Rhode Island Hospital. In 1877 and 1878 he was stationed at East Blackstone, giving his Sabbaths to his charge, while residing and doing business in Woonsocket until his decease. One of these years he supplied Waterford. Brother Nason was an able and interesting preacher, and as a pastor was every-where successful, honored, trusted, and loved. He was ever a man of God, whether found in the pastorate, the army, or in business. Saturday, twelve days before his death, he went to Maine on a brief visit to his aged parents, returning on Monday seriously ill. He, however, went to his office early next day, the last time but two days before the end. His disease was pneumonia. He was ready when called. His earthly affairs were all in perfect order to be left, and those who knew him are fully assured he was well prepared for the life to come.

JONATHAN CADY was born in Killingly, Conn., January 9, 1802. Father Cady's school advantages were very poor. When but a boy of twelve years of age a sermon preached by a Methodist itinerant in his father's kitchen convicted him of sin. With four other boys he went to the woods for private prayer: all were converted and became Methodist ministers. He was received upon probation by the New England Conference which met in Providence, R. I., June 27, 1832, under the presidency of Bishop Roberts. Father Cady filled the following appointments: Warwick (R. I.), Holliston (Mass.), Webster (Mass.), Newport (R. I., Marlborough Street), Portsmouth (R. I.), North Attleborough (Mass.), Wellfleet (Mass.), Pawtucket (R. I.), Bristol (R. I.), New Bedford (Mass., Pleasant St.), Willimantic (Conn.), Mystic Bridge (Conn.), Providence (R. I., Federal Street Mission), Providence (Fountain Street), South Providence Mission, Pascoag (R. I.), and East Greenwich, where, being afflicted with a carbuncle upon his face, which seriously affected his eye-sight, he was compelled to cease active work. He connected himself with Broadway Church, Providence, upon his superannuation, and attended divine worship with that church until about 1866. He then connected himself with Trinity Church, in the same city, where he remained until death, which occurred July 18, 1885, after a long and painful illness. Father Cady was married May 8, 1823, to Eliza Pettey. Their home became at its origin a ministers' hotel. The marriage was consummated six months earlier than had been originally intended that the young couple might help entertain the ministers of the New England Conference. Two members of that body were the guests of the new home. As a preacher, Father Cady was plain, fervent, and practical. He drew most of his illustrations from the Scriptures. His sermons were doctrinal and spiritual. His general tone was conversational, occasionally warming into impassioned bursts of appeal and exhortation. Eternity will alone reveal the result of his labors of later years. The people always loved to hear him. His last exhortation at the week-night meeting will never be forgotten. He was in unusual vigor of body and exaltation of mind. He was going away on a short visit. He took special pains to attend the prayer-meeting, and asked the indulgence of the pastor and people to say his farewell.

GEORGE HUBBARD WINCHESTER was born at East Stoughton, Mass., March 22, 1819, and died at Fairhaven, Mass., Nov. 6, 1885. He was married to Miss Lucy Thomas, of Middleborough, June 2, 1845, by his father. Seven children were born to them, the oldest of whom is Prof. Caleb T. Winchester, of Wesleyan University. Brother Winchester's early life was spent amid the influences of the home of a Methodist preacher, who, although in the local ranks, regularly supplied stations for many years. He was converted in August, 1838, at Martha's Vineyard camp-meeting. The next spring he was baptized and received into the Church by his father, then stationed at Westport. He received an exhorter's license at Middleborough, Dec. 11, 1841, and on May 21, 1842, was licensed to preach by the Middleborough and Rochester Quarterly Conference, held at Rochester, Frederick Upham, presiding elder. He was admitted to the Conference, two years later, at New Bedford, and ordained deacon by Bishop Waugh. April 9, 1848, at New London, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding. His stations while connected with the Conference were: Osterville and Marston's Mills, West Duxbury, Scituate, Uncasville, Cohasset, West Sandwich, Pembroke, South Scituate, Middleborough, Steep Brook, Monument, Steep Brook again, Middleborough again, Long Plain, East Hartford, Wapping, Staffordsville, East Hampton, and Falmouth. In 1875 he was granted a superannuated relation, making his home in Fairhaven until his death. Brother Winchester was emphatically a Methodist in spirit, and in doctrine and Church economy, both of which he well understood. He was soundly converted and lived in the light. During the last two years of his life he was especially blessed, and delighted to tell of salvation full as well as free. He loved all the gatherings of his chosen people, social, devotional, and ecclesiastical. As a preacher, Brother Winchester was clear, instructive, and convincing, his sermons being well thought out and logically arranged. As a pastor, he went among his people in the spirit of his office, seeking always to be a faithful shepherd of his flock. In leading sinners to Christ, and in edifying the Church, he sought to make them strong, intelligent Christians. He cared nothing for a mere show of success. At the final harvest home he will come with many sheaves.

Samuel W. Coggeshall was born in Lynn, Mass., Feb. 18, 1811, and died in Pocasset, Mass., Oct. 30, 1885, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. For nearly half a century the name of Dr. Coggeshall has been familiarly known among the clergymen of New England. He was emphatically a self-made man. Awakened and converted at an early age, he at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, to which for some years his mother had belonged. At that period Methodism in Boston was very weak—it was the sect every-where spoken against—but with it he chose to be identified. Soon he heard the voice of the Master calling him to the work of the ministry, and obeyed. On recommendation of the Bromfield Street Church, he was admitted on probation in the New England Conference, June 27, 1832. At the division of the Conference, in 1840, he was assigned to that portion which now constitutes the New England Southern Conference, and in which he remained till his death. Although an itinerant, and subject to constant changes, he was a close student from early life. Thus he became not only acquainted with English literature, but a critical scholar in ancient languages, especially of the Greek and Hebrew. He was an untiring student of secular history, both ancient and modern, and was eminently well versed in the early history of Methodism. He was an able preacher, but especially excelled as a platform speaker and in debate—not eloquent, but effective. In manners he was highly cultured; had the courage of his opinions, and was fearless in the advocacy of what he believed to be right. He participated largely in the antislavery controversy. The cause of the slave and the temperance movement furnished opportunity for the fullest exercise of his abilities in platform address. For thirty years, while in the prime of his manhood, his voice was constantly heard in denunciation of the great sins of slavery and intemperance. When stationed on Cape Cod his attention was directed to a certain custom which had prevailed for many years among the young people, and was highly demoralizing. Many ministers deplored it, but did not know how to meet the difficulty. No sooner were the facts made known to Dr. Coggeshall than he attacked the evil in a most direct and heroic manner, occupying on one occasion two hours in uttering burning words and arguments of denunciation. The wrath of many was kindled against him, and the Bishop was obliged to remove him to another charge at the end of the year, but a death-blow to the demoralizing practice was struck, and it has had no place in that region since. Dr. Coggeshall was not what is commonly called a revival preacher; yet he laid the foundation for revivals, which was shown in a marked manner in a church in Connecticut, where he was popular as a preacher. His successor in that charge was blessed with a great revival. Many of the converts, however, in relating their experience, attributed their first serious impressions to sermons he had delivered while among them. Many articles were contributed by him to our denominational periodical literature, especially to the "Quarterly Review" and the weekly press. He was a delegate to the General Conference, and represented his brethren in that body, which met in Indianapolis, in 1856. In 1863, upon the recommendation of all the Bishops and other distinguished friends, he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., an honor which was worthily bestowed and creditably worn.

John Lovejoy was born in Lancaster, N. H., March 28, 1806, and died in Baltic, Conn., March 16, 1886, aged nearly eighty years. In 1826, at the age of twenty, he was employed by the presiding elder on Landaff Circuit, N. H. In 1827 he was admitted in full to the Conference at Portsmouth, N. H., and ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding. In 1831, at the Conference in Springfield, he was ordained elder by Bishop Soule. His Conference appointments were: Bradford (Vt.), Milford (Mass.), Thompson Circuit (Conn.), Easton and Stoughton (Mass.), Lynn (Wood End), Nantucket, Bristol, Lowell, and New London. By the division of the New England Conference, in 1840, he became a member of the Providence Conference, and was appointed to Duxbury, New Bedford, Provincetown, Wellfleet, Nantucket, Norwich, Woonsocket, Newport, Power Street (Providence), Pawtucket, Manchester (Conn.), Thompsonville, Rockville, Putnam, Mystic, Baltic, Quarryville, Norwich Town, Windsorville, and Griswold. In 1881, on account of age and failing strength, he took a superannuated relation to the Conference, which he retained till his death, still residing in Baltic, preaching occasionally during the first four years, in the latter of which his health utterly broke down. Brother Lovejoy was a man of intelligence. He was well read in general Christian and Methodist literature, and especially so in the sacred Scriptures. As a minister, he was entirely devoted to his work; he had no taste, no heart, no desire to attend to any secular business. He was an able and acceptable minister, as we might infer from his having filled many of the very largest appointments in the New England and Providence Conferences, in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. He never sought an appointment, and was ready to go to the poorest, as he did in his old age, esteeming it a privilege to preach the Gospel to the poor and to a few. Hence he was eminently a successful minister of the Gospel. While on the Thompson Circuit with Ira M. Bidwell and others in 1829 and 1830 there were not far from one thousand persons converted, and most of them added to the various societies on the circuit This circuit included nearly all of Windham County and the adjoining towns in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and there are now within its territory fourteen Methodist churches. In nearly all the churches to which he was appointed there were revivals, in which many were converted and Christians led into the higher paths of holy living. During his ministry of sixty years he received into the churches of which he was pastor several thousand members. Very few of his brethren in New England have been equally successful in the work of the ministry. To a friend, just before his death, he said, "All is well. I am ready, waiting, only waiting. I have tested salvation for more than sixty years, and have tried to preach it to the world. I have no fear of death. Jesus loves me. I don't know why, but I am confident he does, and here I rest."

Amos William Seavey was born March 17, 1849, in Greenland, N. H., and died Jan. 20, 1886, at Nahant, Mass. Brother Seavey was converted at home at the age of fourteen, and not long after was received into the Methodist Episcopal Church at Greenland. He was licensed to preach in Seabrook, N. H., in 1870. He was received as a probationer in the New England Southern Conference held at Brockton (then North Bridgewater) in 1874, and stationed at Portland, Conn. He was ordained deacon in 1875 at New Bedford by Bishop Janes, and ordained elder by Bishop Foster in 1878 at Providence. He was married August 31, 1875, to Miss Sally Isabelle Taylor, at Middletown, Conn. His ministerial career was one of much success. After leaving Portland he was stationed at Stoughton, Attleborough, Central Falls, and Provincetown Centre. Then taking a supernumerary relation, in 1884, and spending six months in Europe, and the remainder of the year in supplying vacant pulpits and lecturing, the following and last year he supplied the Methodist Episcopal Church at Nahant, where his labors, so highly appreciated by the people, were suddenly terminated by death. Brother Seavey happily combined an active life with a very studious one. He was a man of books, and loved his study. He was a great observer of the social and moral forces of the community where he lived. His early conversion was illustrative of his deep interest in the spiritual welfare of the young. He laid great emphasis on the importance of securing their attendance at the services of the church, and faithfully sought to bring them to a knowledge of God. He was never contented unless his church was well organized to accomplish definite results. He not only saw what ought to be done, but he could organize his forces to carry out plans which with many might remain forever only a wish or a hope. This important element of ministerial success was united with great enthusiasm. Brother Seavey had a high sense of honor. He was ambitious to succeed, but he desired that success should not be built up at the sacrifice of any element of manhood. His convictions were decided and strong, and he followed them through good report and ill. His friendship was of the same type—firm and earnest. It was poured out in deeds of helpfulness. He believed in doing something for those he loved. When such were in the hard places of life his hand was following his heart in smoothing the way or lifting the burden. He was an able preacher—earnest, attractive, inspiring. His last sickness was brief yet painful. He was conscious to the last, manifesting a spirit of Christian resignation and fortitude. His death was triumphant, only shadowed by the thought of leaving his sorrowing family.

New Hampshire Conference.

Charles R. Harding was born in Putney, Vt., Aug. 13, 1807, and died in Lunenburg, Mass., Aug. 24, 1885, aged seventy-eight years. When twenty years of age he was stricken under deep conviction. A few months after his conversion he received an exhorter's license, and in less than a year a license to preach. In 1829 he was received into the New Hampshire Conference as a probationer. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Soule, and elder by Bishop Hedding. His appointments were as follows: Brookfield (Vt.), Barnard (Vt.), Haverhill and Oxford (N. H.), Northfield (N. H.), Keene (N. H.), Winchester (N. H.), Brattleborough (Vt.), Northfield (N. H.), Montpelier (Vt.), Wardsborough (Vt.), Springfield (Vt.), agent for the Springfield School (Vt.), Bradford (Vt.), Newmarket (N. H.), Haverhill (Mass.), Nashua (N. H.), Templeton (Mass.), Methuen (Mass.), Salisbury (Mass.). From 1867 until his death he was on the superannuated list, residing part of the time at Fitchburg, Mass., but for the last ten years living at Lunenburg, Mass. Brother Harding was chaplain of the Vermont Senate in 1841, and chaplain of the Fitchburg House of Correction from 1872 to 1881. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1848. He was transferred to the New Hampshire Conference in 1854, having been in the Vermont Conference since the division of the Conferences, in 1844. He made a most excellent record. His ministry was eminently successful. Frequent revivals crowned his labors. As a preacher, he was excellent. His sermons showed careful preparation, were rich in thought, logical in arrangement, clear and flowing in diction, and with a voice sweet and musical, he could not fail to instruct, interest, and often captivate. His style was not rushing and declamatory, but calm, self-contained, yet earnest, persuasive, and sometimes pungent and thrilling. He was, moreover, an excellent pastor, looking carefully after the flock, and feeding and gathering the lambs into the fold. In his domestic relations he was most happy. He was married August 10, 1831, to Miss Nancy Barrows, of Windham, Vt., sister of the late Rev. L. D. Barrows, D.D., a lady of great excellence of character, deeply pious, intelligent, and devoted. She was eminently adapted to the peculiar responsibilities of an itinerant's wife. In 1871 he married, for his second wife, Mrs. Mary Clifton, of Fitchburg, an estimable lady, who survives him. He was a devoted husband, a loving and revered father, a true friend, a trusted counselor, a noble man.

Calvin Sears Harrington, D.D., was born at East Street, Johnsbury, Vt., May 17, 1826, and died at Middletown, Conn., Feb. 16, 1886. That he was born of native Vermont stock argues the probability from the start that he would be sturdy and substantial in character. He was all this. His intellectual life was begun in his native town, where he is remembered by the elderly people of to-day as a bright, active, promising boy at school. At the age of twenty-two years he entered the Wesleyan University. He was graduated with high honors in due course in 1852. Immediately on his graduation he became a teacher in the New Hampshire Conference Seminary, at Sanbornton Bridge, where he continued eight years, the last five being the principal of the institution. In 1861 he was elected Professor of Greek Language and Literature at Wesleyan University. This position he held till 1863, when he became Professor of Latin Language and Literature in the same institution, and continued to occupy that chair till his death, making thirty-three years of his life spent in educational work. During this time he was an arduous worker. He was not simply a perfunctory teacher. He carried conscience into his work. He felt it his duty to be helpful in every possible way to his pupils. His preparation for class-work was most thorough. Students in his class-room felt that they were in the presence of a master. He was a laborious and useful member of the committee which revised the Hymn Book of the Methodist Episcopal Church. One of his associates in that work "bears testimony to his strict attention, unfailing cheerfulness, valuable suggestions, poetic and musical taste." He was a most sweet and beautiful singer, and a composer of music of recognized ability. In 1884 he showed signs of failing health. During all the months of his illness his mind was clear and active, and he was able to perform some literary labor. He was too humble to be aware of his own excellences, nevertheless his abilities were recognized by others. The Ohio Wesleyan University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1877, an honor which he most meekly but most worthily wore. His personal Christian life, so far as public profession was concerned, began when he was twenty years of age, at which time he was converted, baptized, and admitted to the Methodist Episcopal Church. His "gifts, grace, and usefulness" were soon apparent. He was licensed to preach in 1852, received on trial in the New Hampshire Conference in 1854, ordained deacon in 1856, and elder in 1869. He was a pastor only three months of all his ministerial life. His first and only charge was at Great Falls in 1861; but soon after his appointment he was called to his professorship. Saintliness of character was his most marked distinction. His ever-shining light, his "beauty of holiness," the silent emanations of his saintly soul—these mark his greatness. The final moment came, and with his latest waking breath he said, "Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost; as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen;" and "he fell on sleep," and went to be with God.

Maine Conference.

Aaron Sanderson was born in Waterford, Me., Oct. 4, 1802, and died in Monmouth, Me., Feb. 9, 1886, aged eighty-three years. His parents were among the first settlers of Waterford, and were of a hardy, religious stock. When about sixteen years of age he was converted, and for several years he gave increasing evidence that God had a special work for him to do. The call came, and he obeyed the voice divine, and in 1824 he was licensed to preach, and recommended to the New England Conference by a local preacher's District Conference, according to the rule of Discipline at that time. He was admitted into Conference, and appointed to Durham Circuit, within the bounds of the Maine Conference, which was that year set off from the New England as a separate Conference. The total of his receipts that year for his labor in the wilderness was $37 33. The following is a list of the successive appointments he received during his ministry: Durham, Kennebunk, Readfield, Kennebunk, Gorham, Elliot, Bowdoinham, Gardiner, Exeter, Skowhegan, Wilton, Wiscassett, Augusta, Readfield, Portland (Chestnut Street), Portland, Saco, Augusta, Wilton, Farmington, Readfield, Gardiner, Portland, Bethel, and Lisbon. The last eight years of his life he was not able to take work. He was ordained deacon by Bishop George and elder by Bishop Hedding, and was a member of Conference sixty two years, and has left a record without spot or blemish. He was elected delegate to the General Conference in 1852, and again in 1856. In 1828 Brother Sanderson was united in marriage with Catharine Howard, a lady of rare fitness for the position. Brother Sanderson was of spotless life and conversation, popular on every charge, faithful to every trust, every-where and always a Christian gentleman. He was a faithful pastor, a wise counselor, and a warm friend, especially to the young preachers; an easy courtesy every-where marking his intercourse in social life. He was a good preacher, always sound and clear, while his style was animated, dignified, and graceful. The death of his wife, October 25, 1884, greatly prostrated him, and he felt that the strongest tie that held him here was sundered. While near the close of his life his son, Roscoe, said to him, "Father, is it all well with you spiritually?" He at once replied, "I am not without hope; I am not without faith; I am not without confidence."

Isaac Lord was born in Hallowell Jan. 28, 1803. After learning the carpenter's trade he went to work in Boston, and was converted in 1822. Five years after he commenced preaching in Chelsea, and joined the Maine Conference on trial in 1831, and was advanced in regular order to the offices of deacon and elder. His Conference record is as follows: Parkman, Exeter, Bradford, Fairfield, Bucksport, Brockville, Steuben, Calais, Buxton, Bartlett, Gorham, Durham, East Poland, York, West Cumberland, Newfield, Monmouth, Industry, Fayette, Wilton, Industry, Anson, Fairfield, Livermore, West Durham, Lisbon, Woodstock, Oak Ridge, Scarborough, Berwick, West Baldwin, Maryland Ridge, Ogunquit, supernumerary, superannuated. Brother Lord was twice married. His first wife was Sophronia Curtis, of Parkman, Me., who died Nov. 28, 1865, and was the mother of his four children. In March, 1867, he married Mrs. Lydia Stevens, of Gardiner, who died June 29, 1875. Brother Lord had a vigorous physical constitution, remarkable power of endurance, and indomitable perseverance. For fifty one years he went, without a murmur, to the fields of labor assigned him, however distant and undesirable, and put his best endeavors into his work, not unfrequently employing his skill as a mechanic in building or repairing the church or parsonage on his charge. He was a diligent student of the Bible, and thoroughly acquainted with the doctrines of the Church. He was a sound and faithful preacher and an indefatigable worker. He had strong convictions, and was thoroughly loyal to the Church. He loved his work, hard as it sometimes was, and when, after fifty-one years of continuous service in the itinerancy, it became necessary for him to retire, it was with profound grief that he was compelled by failing health to ask a supernumerary relation. At this, to him, important crisis in his life the Conference, by a unanimous vote, adopted a highly complimentary resolution regarding his long and faithful service. He closed his earthly life in great peace May 25, 1885, aged eighty-two years. Brother Lord was, from early life, trained to habits of industry and rigid economy. However scanty his receipts, he always managed to live within his income. His habits of economy were, perhaps, too severe for general imitation, but they were rendered necessary by the stinted support he often received. He was a thorough business man. For twenty-one years he served as a member of the Board of Conference Stewards, and during that time he assisted in distributing forty-two thousand dollars to Conference claimants without a mistake or loss. By careful economy he laid aside from his very moderate receipts ample means for his support in his years of feebleness without taxing the charities of the Church, and left a comfortable home for the surviving members of his family.

Eleazer W. Hutchinson died very suddenly of apoplexy July 20, 1885, while on the way from his home, in South Berwick, to the camp-ground at Old Orchard. Brother Hutchinson was the son of the late Rev. David and Lydia Hutchinson, and was born in Winslow, Me., Feb. 4, 1826. He was converted when about twenty years of age, and has given to the Church of his choice, in the various positions he has been called to fill, a fruitful service of forty years. He was married October 19, 1851, to Miss Nancy Woodsum, who has been a helpmeet, indeed, to him, and who has contributed in no small degree to the eminent success that has uniformly attended his labors. He was licensed to preach, and joined the East Maine Conference on trial in 1859; was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott in 1861, and elder by Bishop Simpson in 1863. During his connection with the East Maine Conference he filled some of its most important appointments and rendered effective service. At Newport he finished a church that was in process of erection when he was appointed to the charge. At Houlton he built a church. At Rockland, by his wise council and skillful management, trouble was allayed that threatened serious results. At Bucksport, besides serving the church at Bucksport Center and Orland he took charge of the boarding-house connected with the Conference Seminary, and made it a source of income to the institution. The business tact displayed in the management of this enterprise attracted attention, and led to his appointment as superintendent of the State Reform School, which position he filled with great acceptance for three years, having located for this purpose in 1871. In 1874 the church in Gorham, bereft of its pastor, desired his services, and he resigned his position in the Reform School to take that appointment. He was admitted to the Maine Conference in 1875. During the three years in which he served the charge at Gorham he was instrumental in securing the payment of the indebtedness of the society, and prepared the way for the erection of its new church edifice. In 1877 he was appointed to the charge at West End, Portland, and for three years practically gave his services, declining to receive from that weak society any thing that might be considered a remuneration therefor. The charge at Falmouth and Cumberland, to which he was next appointed, will long hold him in grateful remembrance for the good work he performed in its behalf. In 1883 he was stationed at South Berwick. It was in his heart to build a house for the Lord in that beautiful village, and he entered upon that work with his accustomed zeal and promise of success. A desirable lot of land was purchased and paid for, and an amount subscribed that was nearly sufficient to warrant the erection of a church, when he was suddenly removed from his earthly labors. Here, as on all his appointments, he had won the warm affection of his people, and his sudden death was not only a severe blow to them, but an occasion of deep regret and sorrow to the entire community, where he was held in high esteem by all classes. His was a noble spirit. There are few of whom it may be so truthfully said that all the graces met in him. Amiable in disposition, modest and unassuming in manner, generous and charitable toward all with whom he had to do, wise and discriminating in judgment, zealous in action, pure in heart and in life, a servant of God without reproach. He was wholly consecrated to God, and lived in constant and joyful communion with him.

Alpheus B. Lovewell was born in Otisfield, Me., May 10, 1821, and died in Bolster's Mills, July 17, 1885, aged sixty-four years. In 1845 he married Miss Emily N. Chute, of Otisfield, who yet survives him in feeble health. Brother Lovewell was converted in early life, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in 1849 he offered himself to the Maine Conference, was accepted, and stationed at Danville. His subsequent appointments were Lovell, Bartlett, Bridgton, South Paris, Kittery, Elliott, Otisfield, East Poland, Raymond, Otisfield, Gray, and Raymond. It was found by his records that the total number of sermons preached by him was 2,473. He was a good preacher. His sermons were clear and logical, and were usually delivered with force and animation, and good results generally followed. In 1864 his health failed, and he superannuated one year. In 1865 his health improved, and he took a supernumerary relation, and supplied at Raymond and Otisfield three years, when his health again failed, and in 1868 he again superannuated, which relation he held till the Master called for him. For many years he has been a great sufferer, yet seldom complained. He was an affectionate husband and kind father, and his invalid wife and worthy daughters are left sad and alone to mourn their loss. His death came very sudden at last. July 16 he retired apparently as well as usual, and at two o'clock the next morning he expired without a struggle. He had long been expecting a sudden release from suffering, and he was all ready for the summons.

Elwin W. Simons was born at Pleasant Ridge, Me., April 7, 1847. In 1872 he was married to Miss Louise Duly, of Stark. In 1876 he and his wife knelt together for prayers, and were converted. He began immediately to work for the salvation of others. They soon united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and became active laborers. Brother Simons received a local preacher's license, and was employed by the presiding elder to supply Weld and Phillips Circuit in 1878. He was received on trial in the Maine Conference in 1879, and continued in charge of the same circuit. He rendered efficient service on the charge. By great personal effort, aided by a generous collection at Conference, he succeeded in canceling the debt upon the church in Phillips, and infusing new courage into the little society at that place. There was a revival under his labors. In 1880 he was appointed to the South Paris and Norway Charge, and continued on this charge three years. A great amount of pastoral labor was required. The work at Norway became increasingly important, and a church was built in that village during his pastorate. In 1884 he was appointed to Berwick. Here the effects of excessive labor soon began to appear in his declining health. He continued to become more feeble till at length he returned to his father's house, in Stark, where he died of consumption, May 23, 1885, at the age of thirty-eight. Brother Simons was a young man of much more than ordinary promise, of goodly personal appearance, and capable of great physical endurance. He had an ardent nature, and an uncommon degree of energy, and was thoroughly consecrated to his work. Revivals almost constantly followed his labors. During his sickness the work of the ministry was much in his thoughts; but he resigned himself to the will of God, and was sustained by the faith which he had preached to others.

New York East Conference.

Daniel Denison Whedon was born in Onondaga County, N. Y., on March 20, 1808. His preparation for college was conducted, for the most part, at Rome, N. Y., then almost in the wilderness. At the age of eighteen he found easy admission to the Junior Class in Hamilton College, and was graduated in 1828 with marked honors. We soon find him a teacher in the Oneida Conference Seminary, at Cazenovia, where he received his license to preach. Then he became a tutor of Ancient Languages in his alma mater. In this position he was very efficient. In the year 1831 the Wesleyan University was opened, under the presidency of Wilbur Fisk. During the second year of its history Mr. Whedon passed from his tutorship, in Hamilton College, to the chair of Latin and Greek Languages and Literature at Middletown. Here he achieved distinction. In his class-room there was thorough drill, and careful attention to grammatical details; and there was far more: he unfolded the philosophy of language, drew attractive and impressive illustrations from classic literature, and sometimes, through the study of a single word, opened the way into fascinating realms of story and of song. Of quick perception, well informed, witty, conscientious, and impressed with the dignity and importance of his calling, he was a superior teacher. And he was a favorite with his classes, albeit the negligent and unready stood in dread of his shrewd comments upon performances, the merits of which they knew he would accurately estimate. In the spring of 1834 he joined the New York Conference on trial, and in regular course was ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding and elder by Bishop James O. Andrew. In the winter of 1842 Professor Whedon retired from his position at Middletown, and, after a few months of rest at White Plains, he was, in 1843, transferred to the Troy Conference and stationed at Pittsfield, Mass. Here he remained for the full term of two years, and then, in 1845, was appointed to Rensselaerville, whence, after three months, he removed to Ann Arbor, having been called to the chair of Rhetoric, Logic, and History in the University of Michigan. After a period of seven years, however, his career came to an abrupt termination, because he would speak his mind concerning the aggressions of slavery. While at Middletown, fifteen years before, both Dr. Fisk and himself had opposed the sentiments of the abolitionists, and now he is confronted with the charge of being inconsistent, to which he gave this characteristic and adequate answer: "For the existence of slavery I did and would apologize, but never for its extension. I would deal gently with the hereditary sin of its being, but I abhor the stupendous volitional crime of its propagandism." This noble response was not satisfactory to the authorities of the university, and he retired from his professorship. For a time he conducted a school at Ravenswood, but his increasing deafness proved so great an embarrassment in this work, that he gladly returned to pastoral service. He was for nearly a year in charge of the church in Twenty-seventh Street, New York, and for a little more than a year was pastor of the church in Jamaica. If in his transfer from a chair in a great university to the principalship of a private school, he seemed overtaken by discomfiture, it was only in the seeming. It was God's way of lifting him up so that the Church could see, admire, and honor him. The General Conference of 1856, of which he was not a member, made him the Editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review and of the Books of the General Catalogue. For the extraordinary period of twenty-eight years he filled and adorned this position of trust and distinction, being six times re-elected by acclamation. Dr. Whedon died at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., June 8, 1885. Beyond all questions Daniel Denison Whedon holds, and will ever hold, a place in the front rank of the great men of Methodism. His treatise on the "Freedom of the Will" is the work of a master in logic and philosophy. Had he produced nothing else, his fame, as one of the profoundest thinkers of the age, would be secure. As a commentator, his individuality is marked, and yet, in some respects, he reminds us of both Watson and Wesley. He, at least, resembles the latter in the rare intuitive gifts which enabled him promptly to lay hold of the real meaning of the sacred text. As an editor, Dr. Whedon was royally endowed and richly furnished. He was profound beyond most; but whoever excelled him in clearness of expression! Though severely logical, he was never dull. The glow of his imagination is upon every paragraph which flowed from his pen. Doubtless he loved controversy, but not for its sake. He contended for the truth as he saw it, and what seemed to him untrue he stabbed without pausing to say, "By your leave." His deafness was to him a great trial; but with what fortitude and meekness he endured it! Many men of other fiber would have grown dull or morose under such discipline; but he discovered in it an invitation from the Master to lead a life of deeper thought. He believed his trial "made him more a man of one work, and so of more efficient work." Having retired from editorial service, as the end of his remarkable career approached, he found special pleasure in turning, with even more than his wonted interest, toward the endless life. The "powers of the world to come," always inspiring to him, now became absorbing. Unwilling that his pen should lie idle, he gave us fresh thoughts concerning the immortality of the soul and the "Great Physician's Anodyne." We cherish his latest expressions of trust with all the more satisfaction because they were in perfect harmony with the testimony he had habitually borne for half a century. How welcome, at the hour, is the wise and sparkling paragraphs with which he concluded his letter to the alumni of Hamilton College in 1880: After alluding to the fact that he had passed his three-score and ten years, he quotes and emphasizes the sentiment of Gorgias, "I have no charges to bring against old age;" and then adds, "Let my closing record be, that the guide to and through years of serenity, the remedy against pessimism of belief or feeling, is a firm, deep Christian faith. This, if my experience and trust are a test, renders life an endaimonia, its close a euthanasia, its beyond an athanasia. What he then trusted he now knows, for he died well and has entered the "house of many mansions," where death never enters.

Seth W. Scofield was born in Stamford, Conn., Oct. 19, 1810. In 1832 he married Miss Hannah Wardwell, who survives him, with a son and a daughter. In 1835 he was licensed to preach, and in 1837 was admitted into the New York Conference and appointed to Phillipstown Circuit. In 1838 he was stationed at Mount Pleasant. In 1839 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Hedding and stationed at Litchfield. In 1841 he was ordained elder by the same Bishop, and appointed to Cornwall and Milton. His subsequent fields of labor were as follows: Windsor, Simsbury, Colebrook River, New Milford, Huntington, and Centreport. From 1851-54 he was compelled by ill health to take a supernumerary relation. In 1855, his health improving, he again entered the itinerant ranks, and was stationed at East Chester and City Island; in 1857, at Darien. In 1858, his voice failing him, he was compelled to retire from the work of the ministry, and was granted a superannuated relation. The last eighteen years of his life were passed in Stamford, Conn., the home of his childhood and youth. Entering upon active business, he was diligent, conscientious, and faithful in its discharge. He enjoyed the respect of the community and the confidence of the Church. Sincerity was a leading feature of Brother Scofield's character. He was far removed from guile or dissimulation. He made this apparent without effort. Surrounded by the loving members of his family, he peacefully passed away on Monday, Feb. 23, 1886. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

Nathaniel Kellogg fell asleep as the sun of the Sabbath of July 26 neared its setting, aged eighty-four. He was born in Dalton, Mass., July 1, 1801. His youth and early manhood were spent in Pittsfield, where he also finished his life's journey. His parents were stanch, earnest, and devoted Methodists. In 1815, at fourteen years of age, he gave his heart fully to the Lord. April 15, 1826, in his twenty-fifth year, he received an exhorter's license. He was received on probation at the next session of the New York Conference, and appointed to Petersburg, then to Hamden and Humphreysville. In 1829 he was ordained deacon at Troy, by Bishop Roberts, and received his appointment to Derby. After serving Hammanassett Mission two years, he was ordained elder by Bishop Hedding, at Middletown, in 1831. His appointments following were to Haddam, Windsor, Winterbury, West Suffield, Tariffville, and Sag Harbor. In 1839 he was stationed in Willett Street, New York. At the close of his term in 1841 he took a superannuation for a year. The following two years he was appointed chaplain of the Connecticut State-prison. After two pastorates in Bloomfield and Durham he was returned to the same chaplaincy for two years. His next appointment was to Colebrook River and Pleasant Valley. In 1850 he was at Windsor Locks. His health failing, he was superannuated in 1851. In 1853 he moved to Hartford, and engaged in business; then to Meriden, and then to Minneapolis. Here he held the office of Judge of the Commissioner's Court. In 1874 he returned to Pittsfield. During these years of his superannuation he was always ready to preach anywhere and for every body, often doing as much labor as an effective man. He loved the work of the ministry. When solicited to preach, his ready answer was, "I love to preach the Gospel; I love to tell the story of Jesus and his love." His bliss would be complete could he only again enter into the full work of the ministry. Brother Kellogg was twice married. His first wife was Jeannette Eliza Thompson, of New Haven, a queenly woman of rare gifts and many excellences, and the mother of his four sons, three of whom are now living. She died May 19, 1865, and was buried in Wilbraham, Mass. December, 1873, he married Miss Martha A. Foot, of Pittsfield, who survives him. Brother Kellogg was a man of positive convictions, with the courage to maintain them. He was the first young man in Pittsfield who had the moral courage to become a Methodist, when a Methodist church must not be built within three quarters of a mile of the Congregational meeting-house. As a preacher, he was earnest and faithful, clear and sharp in his thinking and speech. He sympathized with the poor and unfortunate, and was ever ready to help with heart and hand the needy and afflicted. God every-where favored him with seals to his ministry. By invitation of Mr. Charles J. Stearns, an old school and life-long friend, he visited the Exposition at New Orleans. He left home on the 25th of February. On his return he reached the house of an intimate friend, Dr. H. A. Archer, of Brooklyn, suffering from a severe cold, but could be induced to stay only for the night, as he was in haste to reach Hartford, the seat of the New York East Conference, anxious, as he said, to answer once more to the roll-call. His wish was gratified. The next day, the third of April, he returned home sick with pneumonia. It developed into quick consumption. For more than sixteen weeks he was a great sufferer, yet not only uncomplaining and resigned, but full of thankfulness and joyousness. To expressions of sympathy he would respond, "The Lord is good. He deals gently with me in taking down the tabernacle of clay." Of the future he would say, "Bright; it is all bright." As the Bible was read, or its promises quoted, he would exclaim, "O how precious! I have read that so often, and always thought it glorious, but never saw or felt its fullness as now."

CHARLES THOMPSON MALLORY was born in Bethel, Sullivan County, N. Y., and died in Mount Vernon, N. Y., May 6, 1885, aged sixty-seven years. He was converted in the twenty-first year of his age, and, without delay, united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and immediately began to exercise his talent in prayer-meetings. By the time he was admitted into full membership in the Church he received license to exhort, and soon local preacher's license. Soon after he was authorized to preach he filled, for some months, all the appointments of the junior preacher on the old Sullivan Circuit, one of the preaching places being the place where he had been known all his life. In 1840 he preached on the Delaware Mission, and in 1841 on Catskill Circuit; to both of these charges he was appointed by Presiding Elder J. B. Stratton. Brother Mallory was received on trial in the New York Conference, at the session held in Mulberry Street, New York, May, 1842. He was ordained deacon in Brooklyn in 1844, in the first class that Bishop Janes ordained. He filled the following appointments in the New York and the New York East Conferences: Kortright, Delhi, Kortright, Windham, Prattsville, Fair Haven, Westville, Southbury, Wolcottville, Brooklyn (North Fifth Street), Brooklyn (Grand Street), Rye, Port Chester, Ansonia, Upper New Rochelle, Glen Cove, Cypress Hills, Baldwin's, City Island, supernumerary. In 1880 he was appointed, by Presiding Elder William T. Hill, to Stepney; in 1881 he was made effective, and returned to Stepney. In 1882 he again became supernumerary, and so remained. Brother Mallory was a good preacher. As a pastor, he was highly esteemed, being very genial and social. He was patient with the froward, kind to all, sympathetic with the afflicted, and comforting to parents who had been bereaved of their children; he could sympathize with them, for while living in Wolcottville he buried his only child, a lovely girl of ten summers. In character he was blameless and without reproach. In the place where he had been known from his youth, as well as the places where he has been stationed, and by all his numerous acquaintances, he was universally esteemed. As a man, Brother Mallory possessed a cheery disposition, inclined to look on the bright side of every thing. I never knew him to complain of his appointments, although some of them required hard labor and gave poor pay. In 1878 he spent the Conference year in Manhattan, Kan. After returning from Kansas, from Nov. 1, 1879, until the next Conference, he supplied the pulpit in Newburg. A few years ago he purchased a house and made arrangements to live in Liberty, and have a more permanent home in his declining years in his native town near many of his relatives and dear friends and life-long acquaintances. But He that doeth all things well thought best to remove the old itinerant to a better home. After the death of his wife Brother Mallory suffered several times from symptoms of apoplexy, which at last resulted fatally. While in Kansas he had quite a severe attack, but recovered sufficiently to return to Liberty, where he preached his last sermon March 1, 1885. In the same week he had another attack of apoplexy, from which he rallied, and attended Conference at Hartford. Returning from Conference, he spent ten days with his friends at Port Chester. His strength failing, he went to Mount Vernon, where he was prostrated with apoplexy at the house of a niece, and after a week of very severe suffering, he passed from earth to be found with the Lord.

MILES N. OLMSTED was born in Delhi, Delaware County, N. Y., July 14, 1811, and died at Mount Vernon, N. Y., July 26, 1883. Brother Olmsted was converted at the South Norwalk Methodist Episcopal Church, and joined on probation February, 1834. Two weeks later he removed to Middletown, N. Y., where he wrought at his trade as carpenter and joiner. At this time he and his young wife were the only Methodists in that vicinity. Soon after two others, Alfred Goodale and wife, moved into the place, and the four arranged to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences. On the first Sunday, April, 1834, they met at the Presbyterian Church, and held the first Methodist service in Middletown. Their next meeting was held in the rear of Brother Goodale's shoe-store, the four being present. A young man who was a backslider was reclaimed, and united with them, and they were organized into a society. The occasional services of a neighboring preacher were secured, a school-house was opened for the purpose, and here Brother Olmsted made his first attempt to preach. He circulated a subscription paper, and collected money to build a church, which was completed at a cost of $2,000, and dedicated by the Rev. Dr. Kennaday, May, 1839. He returned to South Norwalk, Conn., where he was licensed as a local preacher, in 1839. He was ordained a local deacon at the New York Conference, in Forsyth Street, New York, in 1845. At this Conference he was received on trial and stationed at Burlington, Newfield, and Unionville. His succeeding appointments were Wethersfield, East Granby, Simsbury and North Canton, Pound Ridge, High Ridge, and Hunting Ridge, Poplar Plains and Kent, Milford, Brooklyn (Eighteenth Street), Mount Vernon, Cold Spring, Woodbury, West Hills, Brooklyn (William Street Bethel), superannuated, supplying Cook Street, Brooklyn, one year during the time. In 1870 he was again effective, and stationed at Oak Neck and Locust Valley, Roslyn and Searington. In 1873 he was made supernumerary, and labored as a missionary for the Norwalk and Vicinity Bible Society. In 1874–75 he was stationed at Saugatuck and Kent; 1876, Norwalk, Third Church; 1877, East Chester. In 1878–79 he was supernumerary, and supplied Round Hill and Stanwich. He also, during these years, performed much labor for the Norwalk and Vicinity Bible Society, canvassing on foot four towns. In 1880 he was superannuated, and continued in this relation till his death. As a preacher, Brother Olmsted gave good heed to the apostolic injunction: "Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine." He was an excellent pastor, faithfully preaching and teaching from house to house. As the leader of social meetings in the church, he possessed superior qualifications, being an excellent singer, and always making wise selections for this part of the service. During his ministry he preached about four thousand sermons; and, as evidence that his labors were not in vain in the Lord, he had enrolled the names of about one thousand persons who professed to have been converted in connection with his efforts. He was an earnest worker in the temperance cause, and believed in voting as he prayed. In the fall of 1884 he was the prohibition candidate for the Second Assembly District, in which he resided, and to his dying moment remained an uncompromising foe of the demon of alcohol. A severe cold, taken while attending the last session of his Conference, at Hartford, Conn., developed a disease which terminated fatally. He was confined to his room and to his bed only a few days, meantime bearing his sufferings with Christian meekness and resignation. When informed that he could not live, he seemed satisfied, and only desired that rest might come speedily.

ALEXANDER CHILSON STEVENS was born of Methodist Episcopal parents in Hartland, Vt., Oct. 4, 1835, and died in Riverhead, Long Island, July 1, 1885, in the fiftieth year of his age. The year subsequent to his conversion, which occurred at the Conference Seminary, on Oct. 7, 1855, he received a license as an exhorter, and one year later as local preacher, in the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was received into the Vermont Conference in 1863, ordained deacon the same year by Bishop Simpson, and elder one year after by Bishop Scott. Here he labored with marked success, occupying some of the leading appointments, as follows: Putney (Vt.), Brattleborough, Woodstock, Northfield, Saint Albans. In 1876 he was transferred to the New York East Conference, where his appointments were as follows: Cromwell (Conn.), York Street (Brooklyn), Warren Street (Brooklyn), Riverhead (Long Island), where he ceased at once to work and live. In every appointment our brother was successful in the highest sense of the word; seeing, every-where, souls converted, and the spiritual life of the churches quickened under his faithful ministry of the word. While at Warren Street his health failed, but was partially recovered by a brief rest in Colorado. He preached and wrought in the pastoral work at Riverhead for two years, with his usual success, though not at any time in firm health. Returned for the third year, with broken health and failing strength, he yet labored on till June 14. On that Sabbath he fainted, through weakness, before entering the pulpit, but would not be persuaded to relinquish the service, and carried himself through by sheer force of consecrated will. Then followed a brief season of rest from work and of rapid weakening of body until, on July 1, he passed from the pleasant parsonage at Riverhead to his rest and his reward. In 1863 he was happily married to Miss Mary Mathison, of Middletown, Conn., who, with four children, survives him. Alexander Chilson Stevens was, in every sense, a manly young man. Grace added spiritual life, and refined and exalted his naturally admirable character into a transparently pure, true, earnest, and active Christian manhood. As a preacher, our brother was scriptural, spiritual, and earnest; while a vein of tender feeling, never absent, drew the hearts of the hearers at once to the preacher and to his message. His catholicity of spirit was so broad, and made itself so felt, that in the field of his ministry all hearts were drawn to him, and all denominations of Christian people felt that in a marked sense he belonged to them. On Monday, July 6, memorial services were held in the First Place Methodist Episcopal Church, Brooklyn, with addresses by the Revs. B. M. Adams, I. Simmons, and I. E. Smith.

William Harvey Stebbins was born at Pound Ridge, N. Y., Nov. 14, 1828. At twenty-two years of age he united in marriage with Miss Hildah J. Platt, and settled down to business in Stepney. But he was not at rest respecting the ministry. The frequent calls for his services led him to accept a local preacher's license, and the divine blessing upon his labors convinced him of his duty to leave all for Christ and his Church. He united with this Conference in 1863, and was sent to the circuit near his home, where he had labored with great acceptance as a local preacher. His pastorates have been: Riverside and East Village, Southbury and South Britain, West Goshen and Cornwall, Southport, Easton, and Weston, North Wilton and Zion's Hill, Nichols and Long Hill, Southington and Windsor Locks. As a preacher, Brother Stebbins was clear and methodical in style, a good expounder of the Scriptures, earnest and pathetic in his delivery, and eminently practical in his aim. His library, more suited to a Methodist pastor than to a speculative philosopher, scientist, or literary critic, gives evidence of much handling. He was a well-read and thoughtful man. Through his natural diffidence he was led into the habit of writing or reading his sermons; but his brethren have said that he gained in substance and richness more than he lost in effectiveness by this method. As a pastor, he was diligent, kind, sociable, a good conversationalist, a son of consolation in the homes of sorrow, and always welcomed by the people. As a man and Christian, he was genuine. His friendships were pure and steadfast. He was eminently conscientious and reliable, a man of deep convictions and unswerving devotion to truth in doctrine and rightness in life. His piety was deep and consistent. At the close of our last session he returned to Windsor Locks for the third year, and preached on the following Sunday, one of his texts being: "Brethren, the time is short." Through the day he suffered much pain. At night the physicians were called; but their skill was unavailing. He died on the following Wednesday, April 15, 1885. During his illness his mind was unclouded. When told that the end was near, he said, "It has come sooner than I thought; but it is all right." Affectionate words were spoken, and "he was not, for God took him."

New York Conference.

Valentine Buck was born on July 16, 1802. His mother, whose maiden name had been Nancy Valentine, gave him the name of her family, and he bore it unsullied through all the years of his beautiful life. He was converted and admitted to the Church in his boyhood, and before he was twenty, accompanied his father to his preaching appointments, and exhorted after the sermon. In 1826 he was admitted on trial in the New York Conference. He was ordained deacon by Bishop George, and elder by Bishop Hedding. His appointments were successively Stratford (Conn.), Wethersfield (Conn.), New Paltz (N. Y.), Matteawan (N. Y.), Peekskill (N. Y.), Matteawan (N. Y.), New Paltz (N. Y.), Matteawan (N. Y.), Montgomery (N. Y.), White Plains, John Street (New York city), Delaware District, then John Street again, New Rochelle (N. Y.), Mamaroneck (N. Y.), Twenty-seventh and Thirty-seventh Streets (New York city), South New York Mission, Corlear's Hook, New York City Mission, Agent of Colonization Society, Tremont (N. Y.), Salisbury (Conn.), Red Hook (N. Y.), and Tenth Avenue Mission, where he superannuated in 1866. In 1860 the wife of his youth died, and in the following year he was married to Miss Anna Disbrow, of New York city. His married life was, in both instances, happy and blessed. When he assumed the supernumerary relation, in 1866, he removed to Westfield, N. J., where he passed fifteen happy years, respected and beloved by his neighbors of all denominations, and was warmly welcomed to all pulpits and all homes. In 1881 he came to New York to reside with his son-in-law, the Rev. Thomas B. Smith, where he remained, a benediction to the household, until his death. Gradually and surely his strength declined, but he was the same social, happy, patient Christian to the last. He was confined to his room only a few days, his disease, pneumonia, proving rapid and fatal. Brother Buck was an able and interesting preacher. He was the friend of parents, the guide of youth, the beloved and reverenced of childhood. On the Conference floor he was modest, manly, brotherly, wise in council, fraternal in conduct.

Silas Fitch was born in Franklin, N. Y., March 15, 1813, and died in Irvington October 26, 1885. At fifteen he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, though his parents were devout Baptists. He was graduated at Wesleyan University in 1838. He was received on trial in the New York Conference in 1846, and stationed at Cocyman's, where he remained two years. His subsequent appointments were: Durham, Windham, Sullivan Street (New York city), Rondout, Hedding Church (Poughkeepsie), Middletown, Coxsackie, and Saugerties. Thence he was called to the principalship of Delaware Academy, at Delhi, and, as this position would give an opportunity for the better education of his own children, he accepted it, and remained four years. During two of these he regularly supplied Hamden Station without charge. His subsequent appointments were Hudson, Carmel, Amenia, Shrub Oaks, Great Barrington, Germantown, Dover Plains, Golden's Bridge, Irvington. In many of the above charges his labors were owned in the salvation of souls. As a preacher, he was plain and practical. He felt that what all most needed was the application of the Gospel to the heart and life. He endeavored so to set forth the truth that men should be sanctified and set free. He loved this work. As a pastor, he was very successful. His manly form, genial face, and cheerful words made him ever welcome. He was unselfish, and his sympathies were broad and deep. Whatever interested his flock interested him. Little children loved him, and would run to meet him. If things seemed forbidding in the new charge, he always looked on the bright side and strove to build up what had fallen down, and restore harmony where discord prevailed, and his efforts were generally successful. In 1842 Brother Fitch married Miss Mary A. White, preceptress of the institute of which he was principal. Of their seven children, six survive to gladden the heart of the widowed mother. As a husband and father, our brother had few equals. He was the joy of the household, for those who knew him best loved him most. His death was sudden. He had just returned from a brief walk, and while engaged in cheerful conversation with his family, and apparently in perfect health, he expired without a moment's warning.

Denton Keeler was born in Dutchess County, N. Y., October 15, 1789, and died in Pleasantville, N. Y., March 1, 1886. His remains were interred at Wappinger's Falls. George Washington was first inaugurated April 30, 1789, so that Brother Keeler lived about seven years and a half under his administration, and was over ten years old when he died. He acquainted himself thoroughly with the theology and discipline of his Church, and gained a very comprehensive knowledge of ancient, mediæval, and modern history. It is said by one who can remember something of his work, and who traveled an adjacent circuit, that many came to hear him preach because his sermons were so crowded with historic facts, which he used to illustrate Gospel truths. Brother Keeler was of a keen, analytical turn of mind, practical, rather than sentimental, and a splendid type of the old-time Methodist preacher. He was converted at the age of seventeen, in Dutchess County, in 1806. He was licensed to exhort in 1826, and received local preacher's license in 1830, and joined the New York Conference in 1833, and served the following charges: Bedford, Milan, Lenox, Armenia and Sharon, Pawling, Cortland and North Salem, West Hampton, Bridgehampton, Fishkill West, North East, Millersville, Richmond, and Norwalk, and superannuated in 1853. After he retired from active work in the itinerant ministry, he resided for a short time at Lysander, then at Cross River, and soon removed to Pleasantville, where he remained until the voice from heaven called him to his everlasting home. Oct. 4, 1810, he married Mary Gifford, who was a faithful and devoted wife, and the mother of his six children. For forty-one years they lived and toiled and prayed together, when, in 1851, she bade him farewell, and went to her reward. Oct. 24, 1852, he married Jane Matilda Buel, who walked with him in faithful companionship for twenty years, when, in 1872, she went out from the quiet little home at Pleasantville to her promised mansion of rest. Dr. Keeler was a delegate to the General Conference of 1860, 1864, and 1872, where he did efficient work for the Church. He was a presiding elder for twelve successive years. He officiated at the funeral of the mother of Bishop Janes, and received the Bishop's father into the Church.

Charles Palmer was born in Unadilla, N. Y., in 1819, and died December 3, 1885. He was converted when twenty years of age. In 1842 he married Miss Juliet H. Andrews, of Franklin, N.Y., who was a great comfort and help to him during his laborious life, and by his death has met with her greatest earthly loss. The first few years of his married life were spent upon a farm near the place of his birth. He then went into the hardware business, with his brother, in Deposit. While living there he attended a camp-meeting near Hancock, in the autumn of 1849. Through that meeting his entire subsequent life was turned into a new and unexpected channel. For sometime previous he had been interested in the writings of Mrs. Phœbe Palmer, and during the meeting he sought and found the blessing of entire sanctification. From that time he could no longer interest himself in merely secular affairs. A divine voice was constantly sounding in his ears, bidding him preach the Gospel. His business relations were speedily severed. The following spring he joined the New York Conference. He served successively the following charges: Beaverkill, Delhi, Franklin, Middletown, North Blenheim, Bloomville, Jefferson, Andes and Bovina, Windham, Roxbury, Stone Ridge, Alligerville, Bloomingburg, Milton, West Hurley, Greenfield, Fergusonville, East Davenport, and Accord. Brother Palmer, from the beginning of his ministry to its close, felt it to be his duty in preaching to give special prominence to the doctrine of entire sanctification. Therefore, while laboring faithfully and successfully for the conversion of sinners, he, at the same time, with intense earnestness, with persistent endeavor, sought to lead believers into the blessedness of full salvation. And in the various places where he labored many, through his instrumentality, sought and found that "perfect love" which "casteth out fear." He also attended carefully to the temporal interests of the Church. Several churches and parsonages were built by him, and others were repaired and beautified. Even in the last years of his ministry "his bow abode in strength." In 1883, at Davenport, a village adjoining his charge, where we had neither a society nor a place of worship, he built a beautiful church edifice, and held revival services, which resulted in the formation of a society of about one hundred and thirty members. Upon going to his last charge he found no parsonage there. With characteristic promptness and energy he immediately proposed to build one. In a short time sufficient funds were pledged, and the building was commenced. This was his last work. Before it was completed he was stricken with disease, and went to the house of his son-in-law in West Hurley. He recovered sufficiently, however, to attend his first Quarterly Conference about the sixth of July. When returning from that meeting he became convinced that his public life was ended. "I received," said he, "at that time just as clear an evidence that my work was done as I did of my call to the ministry at the first." His last illness was painful in the extreme, yet he never complained of his sufferings, nor questioned the goodness of God. With a faith unshaken, a peace undisturbed, and a hope like an anchor, he calmly awaited the hour of his departure. When we contemplate his excellent life, and seek to ascertain what gave him such great success, we do not think chiefly of natural endowments, or social gifts, or grace of language and expression, or knowledge gleaned from books. We recall chiefly a soul filled with heavenly wisdom; a piety deep, uniform, and abiding; an unquestioning faith in God; a firm persuasion that the Gospel is a perfect remedy for the guilt, power, and pollution of sin; a consecration of all thought and energy to the one work to which he believed God had called him. These were the endowments which made good men love him, which caused the wicked to respect while they feared him, and which made him a power for good from the beginning of his ministry to its close.

Vermont Conference.

Homer T. Jones was born in Madison, Me., Aug. 16, 1816. He departed this life from his late home at Barton Landing, Vt., Feb. 3, 1886. He was admitted on trial in the Vermont Conference at the age of twenty-four. His first appointment was to the Barton Circuit, embracing Barton Landing, Coventry, Brownington, and Newport Center. His second appointment was West Bradford, from which he was removed to South Royalton for one year. His next consecutive appointments were Waitsfield, Plainfield, Sutton, in each of which he served a two-years' pastorate. His next appointment was Lyndon, where he remained one year. He then removed to Ware, Mass., where he was in clerical employ for the succeeding two years, at the expiration of which he returned to Vermont, and was appointed to Putney, serving one year; then to Derby and Albany, each of which he served two years; then to Danville, where he rendered a pastorate of three years. Saint Johnsbury Centre was his next pastorate, which he served for a term of two years; Enosburg, three years; Bradford, one year; then returning to Derby for a second term of two years, from which he was removed to Hardwick, where he continued three years; then to Saint Johnsbury Centre for a second term of two years. At the expiration of his second term of service at Saint Johnsbury Centre, impaired health compelled him to ask respite and partial retirement in superannuation. Subsequently he was made effective, and served the Albany Charge for one year, when he was again constrained to superannuate. Brother Jones was a man of upright mold, of manly bearing, and of godly endeavor; his was a princely spirit. He lived in the inspiration of a high calling of God, as apprehending that for which he was apprehended of Christ Jesus the Lord.

Newark Conference.

David Graves was born in Corinth, Vt., August 9, 1817, and died in Newark, N. J., May 23, 1885. When fifteen years old he was born again. He was admitted to the ministry in the New Jersey Conference in 1842, and after the division became a member of the Newark Conference, and was stationed as follows: Tuckerton, Fort Lee, Hudson City, Hoboken, Belvidere, Irvington, Bridgeton, Penn's Neck and Penn's Grove, Woodbridge, Clinton, Hackettstown, Paterson(Cross Street), Newark (Eighth Avenue), Rahway (First Church), Nyack, and removed to Jersey City (Centenary Church), Spring Valley, Belleville. Since 1870 he held the supernumerary relation. David Graves was a man of marked individuality. He had a sharp and rugged mind, clear conceptions of right, an inflexible will, great fervency of spirit, untiring energy, and a tender heart. His preaching was of the straightforward, hortatory, practical, spiritual type. He preached only the Gospel, complete and unadorned, with an unshaken faith in its efficiency. His aim was to correct abuses in society, to build up the Church in righteousness, and, in pursuit of that purpose, he never shunned to declare the whole counsel of God, through fear of man. At Hoboken, Belvidere, and Hackettstown church buildings were erected during his ministry. He also had skill in quickening the life of the people, setting them at work, deepening the spirit of benevolence, and placing affairs in good working order. To his credit, be it said, he made a stir. Narrowness and indolence in any body he could not endure. He would rather make men mad than let them be mean. He woke people up, even if sometimes they woke up cross. By reason of ill-health, he was allowed, during late years, to hear the Gospel rather than to preach it. Brother Graves was nowhere more to be admired than in his home. There he occupied a throne, where love waited before him, and his counsels were gladly accepted without hesitation or dispute. When the fatal illness came it found an easy victim. An indomitable will kept him on his feet as long as they would go. It was never easy for him to give up. When he had to stop he had to die. But no man was less afraid to die. Seated in his chair, his weary, painful feet raised and at rest at last, with all the ministries of comfort about him, the visitor found a feeble man, with a bright face and joyful spirit, and on occasion saw a flash of wit, or heard a hearty laugh. For him death had no sting. He saw no terrors in the grave. In his last hours on earth there was only triumph. The stern, granite character of the man offered no inducement to the assaults of Satan. He was fearless to the end.

Thomas T. Campfield.—[Obituary not received.]

Northern New York Conference.

John A. Cosgrove died at Avon, N. Y., April 2, 1886, aged thirty-seven years. Brother Cosgrove was born at Haverstraw, N. Y., September 6, 1848. The training he received during his early years was of a truly Christian character. "Genuine love," says their pastor, "was the ruling principle in his house." From childhood to manhood "his life was built on nothing less than Jesus's blood and righteousness." In preparing for the ministry he spent two years at Pennington, N. J., in Pennington Seminary; thence he went to Madison, N. J., and took the collegiate and theological course in Drew Theological Seminary. These were four pleasant years at Drew; he formed many lasting friendships, and was very useful in evangelistic work among neighboring churches. However, when the time came he sought work in the Northern New York Conference, and was stationed at Mount Pleasant, in the Oswego District. He afterward served Alexandria Bay, in the Saint Lawrence District, DeKalb, in the Watertown District, and Chaumont, in the Adams District. But, in the prime of his manhood, God has seen fit to say to him, "It is enough; come up higher." Brother Cosgrove was a manly, pious, faithful, Gospel preacher. The word he preached was "in power and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance." He loved revival work, and served no charge where he did not see accomplished the great ends of the Gospel ministry. He was a good preacher, and the people he served loved him. His genial, hearty nature won him a host of friends.

Miles H. Gaylord, the senior patriarch of our Conference, departed this life in peace at Howardsville, Oswego County, N. Y., January 29, 1886, aged ninety years. He was born at Bristol, Conn., February 6, 1796, and removed with the family to Florence, N. Y., in 1804. Brother Gaylord joined the Genesee Conference in 1827. From this time he devoted himself wholly to the work of a traveling preacher. His fields of labor were, in the Genesee Conference, Wyoming and Spencer; in the Oneida Conference, Broome, Barton, Canaan, Fulton, and Lysander; in the Black River Conference, Williamstown, Herkimer, Steuben, Russell, Black River, Clay, Vienna, Hannibal, Red Creek, and Washingtonville, where he appears to have closed his effective labors, and retired to the superannuated relation at the age of fifty-six, having given about twenty-seven years of hard work to the Church he loved so well. He was twice married: first, to Miss Laura Kellogg, in 1820, who died in peace and triumph in 1825, leaving three little ones. Three years after, having joined Conference, he married Miss Jane Duston, who survives him after enjoying his society and sharing his toils and triumphs nearly threescore years. How little can the present members of this Conference remember of the work of Father Gaylord. He has been superannuated about a third of a century. Of the comrades of his effective days only about dozen remain among us. He was a man of good common sense, of well-balanced mind, though rather pensive and retiring. As a Christian, his meekness and sweetness of temper predominated. His piety was solid, deep, and steady. As a preacher, he was sound and instructive rather than brilliant and stirring.

ELIJAH H. MUNGER was born in the vicinity of Boston, Mass., June 8, 1811, and died at Manlius Station, N. Y., September 18, 1885, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. At the age of nine years he moved with his parents into Oswego County, N. Y., then an almost unbroken wilderness. He was converted a short time after the death of his father, and his early Christian character was molded by the pious vigilance and instructions of his widowed mother. He was early persuaded of a divine call to the Christian ministry. He joined the Black River Conference, of which the Northern New York Conference is the successor, in 1849. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes, and elder by Bishop Simpson. His appointments, in nearly all of which he served the full disciplinary term, were as follows: Steuben, Brockett's Bridge, two terms; Delta and Westernville, Floyd, Trenton, two terms; Rome (Embargo Street), Taberg, New Bridge, Centreville, Manlius Station, and Parish. In 1859 he became supernumerary, which relation he held for one year only. In 1875 he felt that his itinerant work in the Conference was done, and at his own request he was granted a superannuated relation, which he retained to the close of life. His last years were spent in his own pleasant home in Manlius Station. Brother Munger was twice married. His first wife was Lavinia Millard, of Palermo, N. Y., whom he married March 13, 1832. She was the mother of his children, and she cheerfully shared with him the vicissitudes of an itinerant's life. She died greatly lamented by her family and the Church. June 12, 1857, he was married to Mary H. Moore, of Floyd, N. Y., by whose sympathy and co-operation he was materially aided in his work, and who, with his five daughters, survives to mourn his departure. He was a great reader and a close student through life. He read not only the current literature, but works on theology and general science. So that, notwithstanding his limited early education, he came to be a man of large intelligence. He was a good thinker, and he had pronounced views on all the great questions of the age. His sermons abounded in fresh thoughts extemporaneously delivered. His people uniformly regarded him as an able preacher. He was tender and conscientious in his pastoral work. He could not rest while it lay in his power to comfort the sick and minister to the bereaved. He was most happy in his remarks on funeral occasions. He stood high in the esteem of his Conference. He was always thought of when men of exceptionally sound judgment were required in constituting a special committee. He did not often speak on the Conference floor, but whenever he did speak, he shed new light on the subject in hand. He died as he lived, "a man full of the Holy Ghost."

Troy Conference.

DANIEL ROSE was born in Grand Isle, Vt., April 29, 1820, and died suddenly but peacefully in Williamstown, Mass., March 25, 1886. He joined the Troy Conference on trial in 1848, and continued effective until the spring of 1882. He was ordained deacon June 4, 1850, by Bishop Morris. Two years later elder by Bishop Janes. His appointments as pastor were Saranac River Mission, New Ashford (Mass.), Washington (Mass.), Wells (Vt.), Arlington (Vt.), Schroon Lake, Johnsburg, Stamford (Vt.), Pownal (Vt.), Petersburg, New Lebanon, Minaville, Danby (Vt.), Pottersville and Minerva, Argyle, Easton and North Cambridge, Middletown and Wells, Clifton Park, supernumerary. As a preacher, Brother Rose was earnest, simple, plain, and practical. As a pastor, he was faithful and successful. He succeeded by his quiet, unobtrusive, and courteous manner, genial face, and cheerful words, and by his kind, sympathetic, and affectionate interest in old and young. As a Christian, his piety was deep, uniform, and abiding. All who enjoyed his acquaintance will be ready to say he was a manly man, a true friend and brother, an affectionate husband, a wise father, a worthy and esteemed citizen, a sweet, gentle, and devout Christian, an honor to the Church and Conference. His last days were peaceful and joyous. The praises of Jesus were constantly upon his lips, and triumphantly he passed from the earthly to the heavenly shore.

BARNES M. HALL was born June 10, 1803, in Orwell, Vt., and died February 22, 1886, in Crescent, N. Y. In 1834, when thirty-one years of age, he joined the Troy Conference, of which he was a member fifty-two years. His Conference record is as follows: Jay Circuit, Redford, Chazy, Stowe, Essex (Vt.), Berkshire, Saint Albans, Burlington District, Garrettson Station (Albany), Schenectady, Troy District, Saratoga Springs, Middlebury (Vt.). In 1860 he connected himself with Jonesville Academy, where he was employed for three years; and his diary contains a record of the opinion that he ought never to have turned aside from the ministry. During 1863 he assisted Rev. Robert Fox on Crescent Circuit; he was afterward appointed to Newtonville, Crescent, Broadalbin, Rutland (Vt.), Third Street (Troy). While at this appointment his health failed, and at the ensuing Conference session he was placed on the superlatively honorable roll of worn-out preachers, and continued with dignity and sweetness to grace the ranks of the veterans till death. The commanding influence which he afterward acquired is fully illustrated in the fact that he was appointed to many of the leading charges of the Conference, twice served as presiding elder, and was three times chosen by his brethren to represent them in the General Conference of the Church. His ministry was marked by gracious revivals, as well as by the steady plodding that advances all the interests of the Church. It will be admitted, by all who knew him, that he achieved much more than the average measure of success. He was a man of uniform and consistent piety. There were no follies and short-comings to discount his pulpit utterances. On the contrary, his Christian life was such as to re-enforce his opinions and appeals. He was not what we are wont to term a great preacher, a profound thinker, or a faultless rhetorician, or a brilliant orator. His thinking was along the beaten track of orthodoxy; his words were plain and simple; his style of oratory conversational; and yet his preaching was instructive, scriptural, and convincing. His most prominent mental characteristic was a sound judgment; or, to use the more familiar phrase, common sense. And it was this, perhaps, more than all else, that led to his large measure of success. He was a wise man, of well-rounded and well-balanced character. Brother Hall was a man whose judgment and character added power to every word he uttered. These qualities made it possible for him to preach a plain Gospel, so that men were won to Christ by it, and to so manage the affairs of the Church that societies were held together, and the cause of God advanced. It was these qualities that enabled him, in few words, to throw light on so many questions under discussion before the Conference; and in them we find an explanation of the fact that he was repeatedly called to the presiding eldership, and to represent his brethren in the highest councils of the Church.

DAVID OSGOOD was born in the town of Westport, N. Y., January 24, 1813, and died in Argyle, N. Y., January 16, 1886, being seventy-three years of age. His appointments were Orwell and Benson, Bridgeport, Morristown, Hinesburg, Easton, Fair Haven, Champlain and Mooers, Mooers, North Greenwich, Essex, Saranac, Jay, Berne, Middleburg and Westchester, Lebanon, Brunswick, Stamford (Vt.), Hebron, and in 1866, closing an active career in the ministry of twenty-seven years, he superannuated, with residence at Argyle, N. Y., where he lived nearly twenty years. His last days were peaceful and quiet.

Alpheus S. Bigelow was born in Madrid, Saint Lawrence County, N. Y., April 5, 1816, and died in Keeseville, N. Y., June 5, 1886. In 1854, urged by his brethren, who discerned his fitness, he entered the ministry, serving as a supply on the Jay Circuit, under Rev. William Griffin, then presiding elder of the Plattsburg District. At the ensuing Conference of 1855 he was received as a probationer in the Troy Conference, and stationed at Beekmantown. His subsequent appointments were Willsborough, Mooers, Whitehall, Willsborough (second time), Dannemora, Champlain, Crown Point, Jay (second time), Chazy, and Chester. This proved to be his last pastorate. It opened under the most encouraging auspices. He was pressing with wonted ardor the work of special revival meetings when he was suddenly arrested by a stroke of paralysis. From this time his active ministry ceased. Indeed, it was thought for weeks that he could not recover. But he rallied in a measure, and in the autumn of 1880 he removed to a house he had purchased in Keeseville, where, honored and respected for his consistent piety, he remained till his decease. Because of his diffidence and self-distrust, he did not enter the ministerial work till in middle age, yet his presiding elder, in introducing him to the Conference as a candidate for admission on trial, remarked that Brother Bigelow was "capable of filling half the appointments of the Conference." Shrinking from responsibilities, as he often did through the influence of his temperament, yet when assumed he always discharged them with ability. Often depressed and gloomy in feeling, he had frequent deliverances into exultation and triumph. Entering the garden with his Lord, he came forth transfigured. Many are the memories of wondrous scenes of spiritual conflict and victory in which he was a participant, which are cherished by his friends. He was seldom absent from the services of the sanctuary. He mingled with the worshipers at the prayer and class meetings, which had always been his delight. Broken and infirm in body, he awaited the final summons. For months he was a great sufferer, and, like Paul, "desired to depart and be with Christ." But grace was given, and he was resigned and peaceful. At times his days were passed in joyous praise. When the closing scenes drew near his soul filled with raptures. Even in the occasional wanderings of his mind his spirit was in his work. On the Sunday evening preceding his departure, as his wife gave him water, he said, "The wine is come—go on with the communion service." As he bade his two daughters the nightly adieu, he said, "Good-night, girls. Praise God, from whom all blessings flow!" In the gloaming of the following Tuesday morning the wearied spirit passed on to the higher service of the Church above. Upon the worn face there was seen to rest a radiance as of "another world than ours." In 1843 Brother Bigelow married Miss Clara Snell, of Crown Point, N. Y. Three of their children have entered the unseen world. Three survive—his son, Rev. Loyal A. Bigelow, of this Conference, and two daughters, who, with their bereaved mother, share the present "consolations of God," and are cheered by the prospect of the eternal reunion that is to come.

Zebulon Phillips was born in Amsterdam, N. Y., 1808, and died in the city of Troy, N. Y., Feb. 8, 1885, in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He had a good academic education, which, with his habit of constant and careful study through life made him a man of liberal culture. He entered the Troy Conference in the year 1834 at its session at Plattsburg, and received his first appointment to Fort Ann Circuit, which then embraced the territory which includes Fort Ann, Glens Falls, Sandy Hill, Fort Edward, and adjacent towns. In 1835 he was sent to Castleton (Vt.), then to Shelburn (Vt.), Rensselaerville (N. Y.), Jonesville (N. Y.), West Troy, and Hudson Street (Albany). In 1845 he was moved to Keeseville (N. Y.), and in 1847 to Pittsfield. The next year he was made presiding elder of the Troy District. In this enlarged field he found the opportunity for the discovery of his powers as a leader of men, and his master of many of the difficult problems found in both the social and ecclesiastical life. For a number of years he stood as the leader and the master-mind of this Conference. During this period he also held the General Conference office of member of the Book Committee. In 1852, having completed his term of office, he was elected Assistant Book Agent at New York, where he continued during the constitutional period. In 1856 he was appointed to the agency of the Troy University, where he continued until 1860. At this time he made (what he afterward confessed it to be) the great mistake of his life. He left the active work of the ministry and entered into business. Brother Phillips had a pleasant voice, a dignified and graceful presence, and as a preacher was quite above the standard. His sermons were remarkably chaste and beautiful in expression, and fixed themselves upon the memory of his hearers. He died in the full faith of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, with the Christian's confession and exultant declaration upon his lips, "Jesus saves me." His widow, a greatly beloved Christian lady with whom he walked in wedded life fifty-four years, remains with us to receive the grateful expressions of the Church she has served so long.

Sanford Washburn was born in Putnam County, N. Y., August 30, 1812, and died in Mechanicsville, N. Y., July 23, 1885. He was admitted on trial in the New York Conference in 1833, and appointed to Amenia Circuit. In 1835 he was received into full connection, ordained deacon by Bishop Emory, and appointed to Waterbury, Conn. In 1836–37 he was stationed at Middleburg, Conn. At the Conference of 1837 he was ordained elder by Bishop Hedding. Subsequently he filled the following appointments: Prattsville, Broome, Franklin, Bloomville, Forsyth Street (New York city). In 1846 he was transferred to Troy Conference, and stationed at North Second Street (Troy), Pittsfield (Mass.), Poultney District, Garrettson Station (Albany), Saratoga District, Troy District, North Second Street (Troy) second time, Greenwich, Canajoharie, Fort Edward, Cambridge District, Jonesville, Middlebury (Vt.), Esperance. In 1880, at his own request, he was granted a superannuated relation. He was thrice married, and each time happily. He has left a widow and several children, who mourn their loss. Brother Washburn was a Christian gentleman of a high order. He was a man in whom his brethren placed great confidence. Twice he was elected a delegate to the General Conference: in 1856 and 1872. For several years he was president of our Conference Missionary Society, a member of the Board of Trustees of Troy Conference Academy, and also of the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute. He thoroughly investigated every subject he took in hand. There was nothing superficial about him. The result was he became one of the clearest and most able preachers of his day. He had a noble physique; in his apparel he was neat; his voice was clear and distinct; his analysis was striking; his style was pure and chaste, and his logic conclusive. At times there was a power in his preaching which was overwhelming. In exhortation he was the peer of our early Methodist preachers. As a pastor, he was kind and sympathetic. While the pulpit was his fort, he faithfully attended all the social means of grace, and all the interests of his work were kept under his special supervision. As a presiding elder, he was a good executive officer, familiar with the Discipline, which he loved, judicious in counsel, and uniformly courteous. The cause of God lay near his heart, and his constant aim and study were to build up the Church, and advance the kingdom of Christ. As far as possible, he labored to promote the best interests of the preachers and people. A great, a good, and a true man has passed from among us.

GIDEON H. TOWNSEND was born in Brandon, Vt., June 8, 1816, and died at Round Lake, N. Y., November 8, 1885, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. He joined the Troy Conference in 1842, and was married to Miss Mary Jones the same year. This estimable lady survives him, and resides, with her youngest daughter, at Round Lake. His first appointment was at Beekmantown, Clinton County, N. Y., then at Mooers, after which his appointments were as follows: Ellenburg Mission, North Hero, Lower Jay and Ausable, West Dorset, Ticonderoga, Schroon and Minerva, Johnsburg, Danby, Fort Ann and Sanford's Ridge, Middletown and Wells, Franklin (Vt.), Fairfax (Vt.). In 1864–65 he was an agent of the Christian Commission, and was actively employed, with his wife, in the work of that commission in the army. He was then sent to Weybridge (Vt.), Pittsford (Vt.), Pawlet (Vt.), Minaville (N. Y.), Grovenor's (N. Y.), Arlington (Vt.), and in 1880 to North Bennington (Vt.), where he received a stroke of paralysis, in August of that year, by which he was deprived of his efficiency, and from which he did not recover. As a preacher, Brother Townsend might be classed as an evangelist rather than a teacher, his exhortations and prayers sometimes rising into eloquence and grandeur. He had no reluctance or hesitation in making personal appeals to men on the subject of their soul's interest, and probably much of his success grew out of this direct and persistent personal effort. By careful management and economy he accumulated a small property, a part of which goes ultimately to the benevolences of the Church in which he wrought so faithfully, and in the faith of which he died.

OBITUARIES.

Southern Illinois Conference.

Levi Collins English was born Sept. 24, 1828, in Gloucester County, N. J. He was the son of Abel and Margaret English, who, in the fall of 1835, emigrating westward, stopped two years in Indiana, and moving thence to Clark County, Ill., settled permanently. A fair education prepared Brother English for teaching, and at this he served through several terms. In 1848 he began the study of medicine with Dr. Minear of Paris, Ill., and continued this pursuit until Jan. 28, 1850, when events conspired to alter his purpose. On Sept. 14, 1848, at a camp-meeting held on Edgar Circuit, he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church as a seeker of religion, and on Jan. 9, 1859, was converted while engaged in secret prayer. A life of Christian activity, now fairly begun, found varied exercise in the study of the Scriptures. From childhood he was impressed with the belief that he would become a minister of the Gospel. This took form in a license to exhort, Jan. 2, 1850, and a license to preach, April 26, 1851. To the duties of local preacher were added those of a class-leader. These duties foreshadowed the life-work upon which he entered. He was admitted on trial in the Illinois Conference, Sept. 22, 1851, and appointed to Palestine Circuit. By division of the Illinois Conference, this circuit was embraced in the territory falling to the Southern Conference, and so Brother English became identified with the latter organization. He served successfully the following charges: Newton, Mount Carmel Circuit, Granville, Olney, Prairietown, Jonesborough, Saratoga, Jonesborough again, Albion, Prairietown again, Olney, Fairview, Robinson, Ashley, Du Quoin, District, Fidelity, Gillespie, Staunton, Upper Alton, Albion a second time, and Robinson, where, in 1851, he began his itinerancy, it being at that time one of the appointments on the Palestine Circuit. By strange coincidence, the labors of Brother English ended on the same charge where, thirty-four years before, they began; and his funeral services were held in the church built through his efforts when again in charge, seventeen years later; and his death occurred at another period of seventeen years. Thus, in the same field where his itinerant course began, his body with his charge he laid down. The breath of prayer for his charges and his own fitness for service makes fragrant the pages of thirty volumes of diarial history, extending through thirty-five years of active ministerial life. Brother English was twice married. He and his second wife, who survives him, were married Sept. 14, 1858. To them were born ten children, three of whom are with their father in the land of rest. On Friday morning, June 25, 1886, after an illness of about two months, he fell quietly asleep in the parsonage at Robinson, surrounded by his family and friends.

Erastus Lathrop was born in Vermont, Oct. 26, 1813, and died at Moravia, Iowa, March 26, 1886. When a child he came with his parents to Decatur County, Ind., where his father soon after died. When he was large enough he started out to make a living for himself at the tailor's trade. In 1832 he married Julietta Fenton. This union lasted only two years. In 1838 he married Hannah Kell, who preceded him to the better land just six weeks. He was the father of nine children, six having died. Soon after the last marriage, at a meeting held in Aurora, Ind., he and his wife were converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In a short time he was called to his life-work, and was licensed to exhort. On Oct. 11, 1846, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Hamlin, at Connersville, Ind., and entered the Indiana Conference. Here he remained for nine years in the active work; traveling different circuits until Aug. 10, 1855, when he was ordained elder by Bishop Waugh, at Davenport, Iowa, and transferred to the Iowa Conference, acceptably filling the charges given him until 1859, when he was transferred to the Missouri Conference. In 1861 he was transferred to the South-eastern Indiana Conference, then to the Kentucky Conference in 1864. While here he served a short time as chaplain in the army. In 1866 he was transferred to the Southern Illinois Conference. He was well acquainted with President Lincoln, who offered him a position in Washington; but this he declined, preferring the work of the ministry. In 1872 he took a superannuated relation and moved to Moravia, Iowa. He filled many of the best stations, was presiding elder, was once a missionary worker in North-west rn Iowa, and traveled many large and rough circuits, but, having a strong constitution, he was seldom sick, and with a pure heart full of love for the work and a strong and willing mind he has been enabled to do much good. Having been a successful revivalist for over forty years of earnest faithful work in five different States, who can tell the results of such a life! Since 1872, by close management, he had procured a home in Moravia, and was living very comfortably. He could not bear being idle, either during the week or on the Sabbath. He wished to cease to work and live at once, which he did, having preached his last sermon just two weeks before his funeral.

Central Ohio Conference.

Simeon H. Alderman was born in Athens County, O., May 16, 1814, and died in Antwerp, O., Dec. 4, 1885. He was married Dec. 14, 1836, to Miss Eliza H. Humphrey. When eighteen he was converted and united with the Church. His Christian life was earnest and consistent. He preached his first sermon at Antwerp, O., where, forty-five years afterward, he closed up his earthly career. In 1841 he was received into the North Ohio Conference, and in the division of the Conference his lot fell with the Central Ohio. He was a close student of the Bible and standard theology of the Church, and as a theologian he had no superior in the Conference. He was familiar with the law of the Church, which rendered him a wise administrator and safe counselor for his less experienced brothers in the ministry. He was a bold, earnest, and able preacher, and his ministry at times was accompanied by deep and sweeping revivals, and large and abiding accessions to the Church. As a pastor he attended promptly to all the details of his work, and in visiting from house to house, and especially the sick, he was worthy of imitation. The very last effort of his life was to start to visit a sick neighbor, but being too feeble he returned home. Heart disease gradually developed for several months, but when admonished by his physician of its serious character, he persistently pursued his work, preferring to fall at his post, as he did. He returned from the Annual Conference quite out of health, but continued to fill his regular appointments until October 26, when he preached his last sermon, which was a funeral discourse from Job xvii, 11, "My days are past, my purposes are broken off." At one time, after a season of quiet, he opened his eyes, and with a smile on his face, said, "Yes, Lord, I am coming!" and thus he peacefully passed to his rest with God. A faithful husband, a devoted father, and a trustworthy friend has gone from our midst.

Columbia River Conference.

GEORGE WILBER STRONG was born in Friendship, Allegany County, N. Y. He united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, Aug. 5, 1865, and experienced the blessing of entire sanctification in January, 1879. He was commissioned as a local preacher July 26, 1879; and after exercising his gifts for a few years he was recommended for the itinerancy and admitted on trial in the Columbia River Conference in 1883. At the last session of our Conference he was ordained deacon and received into full connection in the Conference. He was, as a man, manly and upright; as a friend, true and steadfast; as a Christian, sincere, cheerful, and devoted; as a preacher, earnest, fearless, acceptable; as a pastor, tender, diligent, caring for the flock—in a word, he was a loyal, self-sacrificing, yet joyous Methodist preacher. At the last session of our Conference he was appointed to the Waldron Circuit. He anticipated much success in his new field. But his work was done. On October 1 he was prostrated by typhoid pneumonia. At times his mind was obscured. At intervals it was clear. In these he expressed his joy in God and his readiness to depart. On Sunday, November 1, his face lighted up with a heavenly radiance and he whispered, "Glory!" and in triumph "swept through the gates, washed in the blood of the Lamb." He was married Aug 6, 1865, to Miss Sallie A. Thomas, with whom he lived in peace and joy. Four daughters were given them, all of whom, with their grief-stricken mother, survive him, and mourn a noble Christian father gone.

Illinois Conference.

PETER AKERS was born in Campbell County, Va., Sept. 1, 1790. He commenced his education in common schools, and when sixteen was called to teach a school. He afterward studied in higher institutions in Virginia and North Carolina, pursuing a classical course. Determined to devote himself to the law, though his godly mother desired that he might become a minister, he removed to Kentucky. Reaching Mount Sterling, at the solicitation of the authorities he took charge of a school under State control. But looking on this as a diversion from his life-work, he remained there only six months, and then passed to Flemingsburg, where he entered the law office of Major W. P. Fleming. In 1817 he was admitted to the bar, and immediately entered into partnership with Major Fleming, and soon took rank with the most gifted young men. On March 12, 1818, he married Miss Eliza S. Faris. On March 25 a sermon was preached in his house by the Rev. Dr. Houston, from 1 Kings xviii, 21. At the close Mr. Akers and his wife joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. On Sunday, June 24, 1821, his wife having died about a month before, in a class and prayer-meeting his heart was strangely warmed, and he received the assurance of his conversion. With this came the conviction that his life-work henceforth was to be the ministry. He preached his first sermon under a permit from the preacher in charge on Friday night, July 27, from "Repent ye, and believe the gospel," and at a local Preachers' Conference, about two months afterward, he was licensed to preach, and recommended to Kentucky Conference. Admitted on trial he was appointed to Limestone Circuit, where his labors resulted in the salvation of many souls. His second circuit was the Little Kentawa, in Western Virginia. While on this circuit he visited his mother in Virginia, whom he had not seen for several years. While there he preached, his mother being much affected. At the last meal at home, an older brother asked his mother if she would not be glad if Peter would leave the Methodists and become a Presbyterian? She replied: "I hope he has more stability than to be carried about with every wind of doctrine." During the year he started seventeen Sunday-schools and received $37 56¼. In 1823 he was appointed to Fleming Circuit, in Kentucky. He had previously felt the need of entire sanctification, had sought instruction, and had read in regard to it, but without obtaining the experience until this year. He had been sick, and had missed some of his appointments. His presiding elder, Andrew Monroe, appointed a two days' meeting at one of the preaching places. Mr. Akers was able to attend. The sermon of the presiding elder on the Sabbath seemed exactly adapted to his wants, and during it he was enabled to lay hold on Christ as his sanctification. The presiding elder came to him, and asked: "Brother Akers, has the Lord sanctified your soul?" He said: "I don't know what it is, but God is love, and I am filled with love." From this time there was a marked change in his preaching. Wonderful revivals occurred under his ministry and multitudes were converted. In 1826 he was appointed to Lexington. Some of his official members there insisted that he should preach shorter sermons. He timed himself for a few Sabbaths and closed his sermons just as he began to get into the spirit of them. Finding that he was doing no good, and was dwarfing his own soul, he resolved he would no more preach by the watch, but by the Spirit of God, and on Sunday preached on Ezekiel's vision of the dry bones. The power of God came upon the congregation; some screamed, some shouted, others fell prostrate. Many were from that service brought to Christ, and his officiary gave him liberty after that to take his own course. The next year, 1827, he was appointed agent for Augusta College, and did good work. His subsequent appointments in Kentucky were: Louisville, Danville, and Harrodsburg, Louisville a second time, and in 1831 he was again agent for Augusta College. His ministry during all these years was in power. In 1833–34 he served as President of McKendree College. In 1835 he started the Ebenezer Manual Labor School, at his own residence, four miles north of Lebanon. He also filled the newly formed station at Beardstown for a year, and in 1837 was assigned to Springfield Station. In 1838 he was appointed to Quincy District, and moved to Pulaski. In 1840 he was appointed to the Springfield District, which he traveled four years. Here wonderful revivals attended his ministry. At the Conference at Winchester, in 1842, he preached powerfully, and, as usual, with violent bodily exertion. Exposed after the service, he took a severe cold, and was thrown into a high fever. He lay sick for a long time, until it was thought he was dying. A Baptist minister, who was also a physician, came in, and, being asked to have prayer, read the Twenty-third Psalm. As he read, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil," he turned to Brother Akers and said: "You are now in that valley." He could not speak, but he thought, "If I am, then I fear no evil." And from that time he rapidly recovered. During the next four years he presided on Jacksonville District, and during the three following on Quincy District. In 1851 he was again assigned to Springfield District. But at the next session of Conference he again consented to serve as President of McKendree College. Here he remained five years—years of great success as President, but of deep family affliction, for in the burying ground there he deposited the bodies of three daughters and a son. In 1857 he was transferred to Minnesota Conference and assigned to Red Wing. At Red Wing a great revival occurred, and at Spate's School-house—a country appointment—over a hundred souls were converted under his labors. From 1858 to 1864 he sustained a superannuated relation, during the first five years in the Minnesota and the last two in the Illinois Conference, to which, at the request of his brethren, he had been transferred. In 1865 he returned to Jacksonville, of which he remained a resident. After serving the Church again as presiding elder of Jacksonville District, he was appointed to Pleasant Plains District, but, at the close of his second year on it, was granted a superannuated relation, in which he remained. Dr. Akers was a man of marked character, of large frame, of giant intellect, of extensive learning, of wonderful eloquence. He would have been a leader in any department. He stood in the Church the peer of the foremost. As a preacher he was rarely equaled, never surpassed. His profound knowledge of the Scriptures, his intimate communion with God, his fidelity to his convictions, his eloquence, and his humility, combined with his physical strength to make him the most powerful preacher in the West, and only equaled in the East by Dr. Stephen Olin. He was remarkable for his modesty and humility. He never sought ecclesiastical preferment. His brethren chose him as their representative to eight General Conferences, generally placing him at the head of the ticket. He was an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures.

Ezra L. Carlisle was born in Phœnixville, Chester County, Pa., Sept. 4, 1847, and died at his home in Franklin, Ill., Feb. 6, 1886. He married Miss Hattie Chrisman, Dec. 25, 1874. She proved to be a worthy and useful helpmeet to him in his ministerial work. She died Nov. 24, 1880. He married Miss Ella L. Munsfield, Oct. 19, 1881. Brother Carlisle was converted Dec. 25, 1802, at the age of fifteen. From that time he felt himself called to the ministry. Preparatory to that work he received license to exhort, and entered the Illinois College at Jacksonville. Before graduation, however, he was licensed to preach in September 1874. He served the Church at Alexander as a supply during the following year. Joining the Illinois Conference in 1857 he was appointed to Waverly Circuit, which charge he filled for three years. In 1878–79 he was appointed to Manchester, in 1880 to Franklin, 1881–83 to Morrisonville, in 1884 to Tolono; in 1885 he was superannuated. In his childhood he received an injury to his foot, which took on a scrofulous character and gave him long and very great suffering. While at Morrisonville the malady appeared again, complicated with a cancerous nature. Amputation of the limb became necessary, and for a time seemed to give permanent relief. But again the disease reappeared and progressed to a fatal termination. During all these long years his sufferings were great beyond description, but were always borne with fortitude, cheerfulness, and resignation. In suffering and death he was more than conqueror. Brother Carlisle had an unusually sweet disposition, and made friends easily. As a preacher he was thoughtful, sensible, earnest and popular. He understood the doctrines of the Church, and believed and preached them. He was successful in building up the Church in a sound and substantial manner. His premature removal is a great loss and sorrow.

J. C. Long was born in Preble County, O., April 21, 1817, and died Dec. 5, 1885, in Urbana, Ill. On Dec. 9, 1838, he was married to Mrs. P. F. Milligan, with whom he lived thirty-three years. He was converted in the thirty-fourth year of his age, at a camp-meeting near Danville, Aug. 15, 1841, and immediately joined the church on probation. His conversion was manifest to himself as well as to all observers. He was received on trial in the Illinois Conference in 1849, and stationed in Urbana; in 1850–51 in Shelbyville; in 1852 in Urbana again, the place where his itinerant ministry commenced. His labors were crowned by a wonderful revival this year. Much of the fruit remains to this day, though the greater part has been garnered. In 1853 he was appointed to the Charlestown Circuit, and in 1854–55 to Homer Mission. Here he did good, faithful work, laying the foundation of the present prosperous church in that place. In the fall of 1856, feeling the necessity of rest, he took a superannuated relation, and for the next two years resided in Homer, being engaged in the dry goods business. During the summer of 1859, however, he was appointed by the elder to fill out the year on Middletown Circuit, which had been vacated by its pastor. At the Conference of 1859 he was placed on the effective list, and appointed to the Danville Circuit. He did effective work here, and was returned in 1860. In 1862–63 he traveled the Vermillion Circuit; in 1864–66 the Danville Circuit; and in 1867–68 he was superannuated. In 1869 his faithful wife was called to rest and reward, and he was appointed to the Urbana Circuit. On June 21, 1870, he was married to the lady that survives him, Miss P. A. Keeler, and at the ensuing Conference was appointed to the Bloomfield Circuit; in 1871 to Myersville Circuit the last he traveled. On account of failing health the Conference of 1872 granted him a superannuated relation which he sustained until death. He took up his residence in Urbana, where he has since resided, rejoicing in the prosperity of the church which his early labors did so much to establish. His last sickness was characterized by great suffering. During most of the time he was unconscious of his surroundings. But his oft-repeated testimony and his godly life leave no doubt as to his eternal blessedness.

California Conference.

John L. Broaddus was born in Madison County, Ky., Nov. 18, 1824. He was converted in 1839 at a watch-night meeting. In 1850 he moved to California. In March 1855 he was united in marriage with Miss Missouri J. Broaddus. In 1859 he settled in Mendolina County, and one year thereafter he was licensed to preach. He was employed by the presiding elder to supply the Ukiah Circuit. In 1870 he was admitted on trial in the California Conference, and was in due time received into full connection. For a period of eight years he was in the effective ranks, laboring in Lake and Mendolina Counties. In 1878, partly because of impaired health, and partly because of the invalid condition of his wife, he was granted a supernumerary relation, in which he was continued till released from the ills of this life and taken to his blessed reward. On Aug. 21 he died at the residence of his son-in-law, Joel Vann, near Covelo, Round Valley. His wife had passed over the Jordan into the land of promise a few months in advance. Their remains were laid away side by side in the cemetery at Willits. Brother Broaddus was a fair preacher, a good man, and greatly beloved in the fields of labor which he had filled. During the past two years he had been a great sufferer, but he was cheerful, hopeful, and resigned to the Father's will. When visited by brethren, he was found to be not only peaceful but joyful. A devoted brother and faithful laborer has been taken from our ranks to join the innumerable company that have gone up through great tribulation, having "washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the lamb."

North Nebraska Conference.

Wesley Wilson died April 2, 1886, at his house in Merrick County, Neb., aged thirty-two years. He was born in Jacksonville, Ill. While yet a boy he was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Some years later he entered into a higher Christian experience, and under deep impression consecrated himself to the Christian ministry. He moved to Nebraska a few years ago and was received on trial in the West Nebraska Mission.

Two years ago he was transferred to the North Nebraska Conference, and continued on the Chapman Circuit. He entered upon the year's work with great zeal, laboring beyond his strength, riding and preaching while enduring great suffering. The last part of the year he was compelled to cease almost wholly from labor. At the last Conference he was granted a superannuated relation. He continued steadily to decline, but did not give up the hope of recovery until very near the last. When convinced that he must die he calmly submitted to the will of God, saying: "It is all right."

Iowa Conference.

Joseph McDowell was born in Westmoreland County, Pa., July 11, 1797, and died in Mount Pleasant, Ia., Oct. 16, 1885. In his seventeenth year he was converted, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Soon after he was licensed to exhort and then to preach. In 1818 he married Esther Norman, of Waynesburg, Pa., who for more than fifty-five years shared with him the toils and triumphs of the ministry. He labored faithfully in the capacity of local preacher till 1833, when he was admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference and sent to Delaware Circuit, in 1834 to Roscoe, and in 1835 to Somerset. In the fall of the latter year he was admitted to full connection and ordained deacon. In 1836 he was at Westchester. In the fall of 1837 he was ordained elder and appointed to Germantown, where he spent two years, after which he filled the following appointments: Franklin, Eaton, Troy, Union, South Charleston, Vienna and Mechanicsburg. In 1848 he was transfered to the Rock River Conference and appointed to Canton, Ill. In 1848 he was transfered to the Iowa Conference and appointed to New London. His appointments in the Iowa Conference were afterward, Yellow Springs, Fairfield Station, Mount Pleasant, Salem, Muscatine District, again Mount Pleasant, Rome, Glasgow and Salem. This latter he resigned during the year on account of bodily infirmities. In 1864 he was appointed to Brighton. In 1865 he was granted a superannuate relation. In 1868–69 he was chaplain of the Iowa State-prison, at Fort Madison. In the earlier years of his ministry the revival service was his proper element, and he often said that the shout of newborn souls was the sweetest music to his ears. Upon the Troy Circuit in one year he received into the church thirteen hundred persons. He had a great love for young men, and was always on the lookout for those whom he thought God had called to preach the Gospel, and would very earnestly press upon them their duty in this respect. To his mind it was a great achievement to lead one whom the Lord had called into the active ministry, and he watched over all such with undying interest, rejoicing in all their successes. To his colleagues he was a brother beloved. Rev. J. G. Thompson, his junior on Mount Pleasant Circuit in 1853, which then included the town of Mount Pleasant, writes: "He was the most loving and lovable colleague with whom I ever labored." He regarded the calling of a Methodist preacher as the noblest on earth, and often said: "I would rather be an humble Methodist Itinerant than be President of the United States." He loved the Church with all the strength of his ardent soul, and was loyal to her doctrines and Discipline to the last degree. As a preacher, Father McDowell was tender and persuasive rather than argumentative and logical. His appeals were made directly to the heart, and all were made to feel he had an overflowing love for souls. It was an increasing delight to him to be present at the sessions of Conference in late years, and as each year he responded to his name, all voices would be hushed that they might catch every word that would fall from his saintly lips, for they were always freighted with sweetness and wisdom. He bore constant testimony to the younger members of the Conference that in his age and infirmity he was enjoying the brightest and sweetest experience of his life, and with these words would encourage them to continue in the work to which God had called them without a thought of turning aside. He was a father in Israel whom all loved most tenderly. During his lingering illness his mind was clear and his soul triumphant. He seemed to have wonderfully clear views of the world to come, and was often in transports at the thought of soon entering into the joy of the Lord.

Thomas M. Kirkpatrick was born in Morgan County, Ill., June 5, 1813, and died in Butler County, Neb., March 10, 1886. He entered the Illinois Conference in 1837 and the Iowa Conference in 1844. He removed from Iowa to Minnesota in 1855, where during the years of the Rebellion he suffered great privations and was exposed to great dangers on account of the hostility of the Indians. He removed to Arkansas in 1871 and returned to Iowa in 1875. He prosecuted the work of the ministry in Minnesota and Arkansas, but whether as supply or member of Conference the writer has no means of knowing. Brother Kirpatrick did regular and faithful service in the Iowa Conference as one of the pioneers when privations were many and comforts few. He was a plain, practical, and efficient preacher for many years, and until the infirmities of age made it necessary for him to retire. Since August 1884, he had suffered from paralysis.

Pittsburg Conference.

Leonidas Hamline Eaton died at Millvale, Pa., March 31, 1886, in the thirty-fifth year of his age, having been a traveling preacher for twelve years, during which he filled the following appointments: Smith's Ferry, Banksville and Knowlson, Cannonsburg, Fayette City, Dawson, Waynesburg and Hudson. He was the son of Rev. M. M. Eaton, deceased, and was possessed of a bright intellect and a manly and generous disposition, which by studious habits and the grace of God made him an attractive and effective minister of the New Testament. In his daily life he aimed to be "an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity," and to adorn the doctrine of his Lord and Master. Though called to cease his labors before the noon of life, he was ready. By faith he overcame the world and laid hold on eternal life. During his sickness his Christian graces shone so brightly that the room where his last hours were spent became, to loving friends ministering to him, the house of God and the gate of heaven.

Jacob Keiss Miller died at his home in Beaver, Pa., July 4, 1886, beloved in the community where he had lived for nearly thirty years, and honored by the church, to the promotion of whose interests the best years of his working life were given. Our departed brother and fellow-worker was born in Lancaster, Pa., May 10, 1797. He was admitted into the Pittsburg Conference in 1828, and filled the following appointments: Lewis, Harrison and Braddock's Mission, Laurel Hill Mission, Waynesburg, Cambria Mission, McConnellsville, Sharon, Agent for Allegheny College, Moorfield, Summerfield, Hanover, New Philadelphia, again Agent for Allegheny College, Paris, Fairfield, Beaver Creek Mission, Petersburg and Butler, Sewickley, Georgetown, Agent for Beaver Seminary, Elkton, Supernumerary, Perre Creek, Agent of Young Men's Bible Society of Allegheny County, after which he became a superannuate. These fields of labor, scattered widely through three States, report a great share of hard work as having fallen to the lot of our departed brother. He did the work assigned him earnestly and well. He was a good organizer when organizing was a chief need of the Methodist movement. The societies are numerous that he started; the churches are many that he built. Without conspicuous talents for public address, he persistently secured the improvement and enlargement of his fields of toil. The foundations of Methodism, within the bounds of the "Old Pittsburg Conference," are wider and deeper because he has lived and labored. From the beginning to the end he sustained a pure and exalted Christian character. In disposition, affable and pleasant; in manners, simple and unaffected; in religious life, devout and charitable, he was in all regards an exemplary and noble man. He remained among us till he became venerable in years as well as in services; and then "he was not, for God took him."

North-west Indiana Conference.

Wilson Beckner was born in Carroll County, Ind., in 1831, and died in Kentland, Ind., March 5, 1886. He was admitted on trial in the North-west Indiana Conference in 1857. He was united in marriage to Miss Mary E. Bartlett, daughter of the Rev. Thomas Bartlett, in 1858. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Morris, in Greencastle, Oct. 2, 1859, and elder by Bishop Simpson, Oct. 13, 1861, at South Bend. He was appointed to and served faithfully and successfully the following charges: Battle Ground, Burnettsville, Knox Mission, South Bend, Colfax, Ladoga, Frankfort, Pittsburg, Perrysville, Attica and Kentland. In 1873, on account of failing health, he sustained a superannuated relation to the Conference. In 1874 he was made effective and stationed at Battle Ground for three years and then at Kentland. At the close of the Conference year of 1878 he again asked for and obtained a superannuated relation, which he sustained at the time of his death. He was appointed postmaster of Kentucky, May 27, 1881, and remained in office until removed in January 1886. Although most of the time unable to attend to the duties of that office, they were ably performed, under his direction, by his son Thomas. As a preacher, Brother Beckner was strong, evangelical, and successful; as a man, he was courteous, kind, and helpful; as a husband and father, he was loving and considerate. During his long sickness and great suffering he was patient, and showed great Christian fortitude. He often expressed himself as ready to depart, but willing to wait the will of God. Although debarred from active Christian work for many years, he was greatly interested in the work of the Church and the success of the cause of Christ. He was always ready to give his pastor sympathy and advice. A good, useful, earnest man and minister of Christ has entered into his reward.

Conrad S. Burgner was born in East Hanover Township, Lebanon County, Pa., Jan. 31, 1819, and died at his home, in Valparaiso, Ind., March 10, 1886, aged sixty-seven years. On Dec. 3, 1840, he was married to Sarah Martin, who survives him. He was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church about two years after his marriage, and was licensed to preach before leaving Ohio. He served in the capacity of a local preacher until the fall of 1849, when he entered the traveling connection in North Indiana Conference, which held its session that year at Logansport. When the Conference was divided, in 1852, and the North-west Indiana Conference was formed, he chose to become a member of this Conference. His itinerant life covered a period of thirty-five years. He traveled circuits thirteen years, receiving his appointments to these in the following order: Leesburg, Warsaw, Byron, Crown Point, Danville, Rockville and Montezuma, Newport, Russellville, Brownsburg, Remington, Hebron and Wheeler. He filled stations fifteen years as follows: Danville, South Bend, Rochester, Attica, Strange Chapel, Indianapolis, Brazil, Rockville, Zionsville, Monticello, Fowler, and Earl Park. At the session of the Conference in 1884, on account of failing health, he was granted a superannuated relation. He immediately moved to his home in Valparaiso, where he hoped to obtain from rest a lengthening of his days. He was able to preach but a few times after his superannuation. He filled with acceptability every position to which the Church called him. As a preacher, he was painstaking, sound, and logical. When thoroughly aroused and enlisted in his subject he often grew eloquent. He was eminently scriptural in his preaching; the Bible was his principal text-book; he relied on it for argument and illustration. His sermons were always instructive, and never failed to leave a good impression. He was a very timid man, and perhaps lacked confidence in himself sufficient to reach the highest point of efficiency. He was always preferring others to himself, and was ever ready to sit at the feet of those who were his inferiors in age, experience, and ability. When principle was involved he was immovable. He loved the Church of the choice of his early manhood, and was warmly attached to all her doctrines, economy, and usages; and yet he was possessed of a broad and generous catholicity that honored and loved Christians of every name and order. When he became satisfied that his disease was incurable, and that he must soon die, he began to set his house in order for the coming event. He carefully arranged his temporal affairs, providing as fully as he could, with the means at his disposal, for his companion during her life-time. The last two days, his mind, when not directly enlisted, wandered, and he lived over again many of the scenes of his itinerant life. A few moments before he passed away, when the power of speech had well-nigh forsaken him, being asked by his wife if Jesus still supported him, he nodded assent; and as he crossed to the farther side of the mystic river he whispered back, "Hallelujah, praise the Lord!"

Martin Luther Green was born in Randolph County, N. C., April 11, 1820. He moved to Indiana in 1838 and was married Dec. 22, 1842, to Lucinda Cloyd. He was converted and joined the church in the old brick school-house near Danville in Hendricks County, Ind. With the exception of two years of superannuation, he was actively engaged in the work of the ministry from 1853 to the time of his death. He joined the North-west Indiana Conference during its session at Attica in 1853, and was appointed to Pittsburg Circuit. During the succeeding thirty-eight years he served as pastor, faithfully and efficiently, sixteen different charges in pastorates of from one to three years. His appointments were as follows: Eugene, Monticello, Rockville, Bellmore, Russellville, Fillmore, Bainbridge, Westville, Lebanon, Romney, Ladoga, West Lebanon, Clinton, Newport, Annapolis, superannuated, and West Lebanon, to which he was reappointed for the third year. He was ordained a deacon Sept. 1, 1855, by Bishop Ames, at Delphi, and at the Conference session of 1857 was ordained an elder by Bishop Waught. On Sabbath, Oct. 11, 1885, he preached with great zeal and unction. After the evening sermon at West Lebanon he retired to the parsonage, apparently in his usual health, and in less than two hours was with the blest. He "ceased at once to work and live," having his earnest prayer answered, for he had repeatedly asked that he might "die with the harness on." In his religious experience he was clear and positive. Though naturally modest and retiring, he was always true to his convictions, and with unwavering confidence he declared what God had done for his soul. In his ministerial life while seeking to show himself a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, and ambitious to succeed in the ministry in the highest and true sense, that he might present every man perfect in Christ Jesus, he was remarkably free from selfishness and place-seeking. Loyal to God and the Church of his choice, he indeed endured hardness as a good soldier, and without complaint, he accepted the hardships and sacrifices with the joys and triumphs of the itinerancy, and made full proof of his ministry. In his pulpit ministrations he was clear and pointed; his sermons showed much thought and careful preparation. In every department of church work he was faithful. In his conversation and communication with society, prudence and carefulness, good judgment and deep piety, were leading characteristics. He was truly a man of God and a good minister.

Michigan Conference.

Noah Fassett died Nov, 7, 1885, after a lingering sickness. He was born in Shelby, Orleans County, N. Y. His father preached the first sermon ever heard in Jackson County, Mich., in September, 1830, and preached his last sermon at a quarterly meeting in Albion in April, 1842. Soon after his conversion Brother Fassett felt that he must preach, but did not confess his feelings to his parents until shortly before his father's death. In the summer of 1846, while a student at Albion, he received his first license to exhort. One year later he was licensed to preach, and received on trial in the Michigan Annual Conference. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Hamline in 1849, and elder by Bishop Morris in 1851. His first appointment in 1847 was with Isaac Bennett as preacher in charge on Burlington Circuit, after which he filled the following appointments: Livingston, Manchester, Duplain, Greenville, Eaton Rapids, Union City, Girard, Jonesville, Reading, Dowagiac, Battle Creek, Niles, Hillsdale, Marshall, Lansing, First Church, Lansing District, Homer, Litchfield, Concord, Springport, Olivet, Nashville. At the close of his pastorate at Nashville he was granted a superannuated relation, and retired to his farm, but was unable to work much. His energies had been expended in the labors of the ministry. Brother Fassett was married to Miss Emily A. Fuller, Aug. 30, 1849. Three daughters blessed their union. One died in infancy, and two, Mary Amelia, wife of Rev. C. L. Ellis, and Ella Amina, are yet living. So positive were some of his theological views that he shrank not from controversy in order to maintain them. As the end came near, he recognized it, and calmly made all possible provision therefor. Personal preparation was not necessary, that had been made long before. And thus he calmly awaited his last appointment, and departed in the peace of God.

Franklin Gage was born Sept. 13, 1815, at Vergennes, Rutland County, Vt.. He received license to preach from Ira Eddy, of the Erie Conference, and started with several exhorters and local preachers for the West, arriving at Florence, Saint Joseph County, Mich., in company with Henry Worthington, and concluded to tarry there during the winter. Each engaged in teaching until the spring of 1838. He then returned to Painesville, O., and was married to Mary C. Dimmick. A month later he started for their frontier home in Michigan. He was recommended to the Indiana Conference by the Quarterly Conference held at White Pigeon, to become a traveling preacher, and was stationed on Goshen Circuit, as junior preacher with J. M. Boyd. After three months' travel he was taken off and stationed at Mishawaka, labored to the end of the year, and was then appointed to Saint Joseph Mission, and during the winter had a great revival, three hundred persons joining the church as the result of their labors. This was in the winter of 1838–39. He continued on this circuit until the fall of 1840, was then appointed to Prairie Ronde, and had a great revival on Gourdneck Prairie. The next year he was appointed to Allegan Mission, had a revival there and built a brick church. In the fall of 1840 he was appointed to Grand Rapids. At this place he preached three or four times on Sabbath, and nearly every evening during the week in the homes of the people. It took four weeks to make his circuit, and he was guided on his way by marked trees and Indian trails. It would be impossible to speak of all that happened here. Many and strange were the scenes he passed through. He was at this place two years. In 1844 he was sent to Kalamazoo and remained on this circuit two years. We next find him at White Pigeon, Niles, Battle Creek, Jackson, where he built a brick church; Paw Paw, where he released the church from debt; and at Union City, where he freed that church from debt. He next went to Homer, then to Galesburg, after which he located and went to his farm in Barry County, remaining on his farm eight years, during this time organizing the Prairieville Circuit. The next two years he organized and preached on what is now known as the Otsego Charge, and following he organized and preached on the Richland Circuit. He was then sick (caused by a sunstroke) for over two years, after which he again joined the Conference and went to Moscow. After this he was at Oshtemo, Colon, Girard, and Burr Oak, where he raised the church debt and repaired the church; and at White Pigeon for two years, and one year at Bronson. He was then superannuated and removed to his farm, at Colon, where he remained until his death, Jan. 1, 1886. He was a great sufferer during the last two years of his life, and never recovered from the grief caused by the death of his wife in 1884. He was an earnest preacher, a faithful pastor, and a successful soul-winner, faithfully cultivating some of the hardest fields, and ably filling some of the best pulpits of Michigan Methodism.

A. J. Van Wyck died in the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at Casnovia, Mich., Jan, 9, 1886, aged forty-nine years. Soon after his graduation he went to the city of Brooklyn, N. Y., and commenced and completed the study of law. Up to this date he had made no profession of religion, though he had been reared after the strictest order of the Presbyterian faith, his parents belonging to that denomination. Curiosity led him into a Methodist class-meeting, and through this agency he was powerfully convicted, and at last soundly converted to God, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. This changed the tenor of his thoughts and the plan of his life, for at once he felt the call to preach the gospel. Following the conviction which had now so fully fastened itself upon him, after about six months' practice of the law in the city of Brooklyn, he came to Michigan and at once commenced a preparation to enter upon the work of the ministry. In 1858 he was admitted to the Michigan Conference, and from that time to the day of his death he honored the high position to which the Church of his choice had called him. Such was the condition of his health that fourteen years of his ministerial life he felt obliged to spend in the local ranks, though during four of these years he did work under the presiding elder. The following is a list of the charges which he served: Ganges, South Haven, Breedsville and Lawrence, Middleville, Second Street, Grand Rapids, Galesburg, Otsego, New Buffalo, Benton Harbor. He was re-admitted into the Conference in 1883, at Albion, and stationed at Newaygo one year; then was appointed to Casnovia, where, after another year and a quarter, he closed his earthly labors and entered upon eternal realities. He was scholarly, used polished and forceful language, and gave to the people the most vigorous thought, always accompanied with the unction of the Holy Ghost. Above all he succeeded in working out a consolidated and well-rounded Christian character. Into that character entered humility, simplicity, thoughtfulness, sincerity, sympathy, devotion, and faith. He was an able and efficient minister, conscientious, industrious, tender toward all his flock. He was a kind and loving husband and father, a true and valued friend. He died in peace. Earth has lost a noble man; heaven has crowned another saint.

Stephen Nelson was born in Yarm, Yorkshire, England, Feb. 7, 1837. He was converted at the age of twenty-five; he was a stout sinner, but not too stout for the grace of God. When he was converted he knew it, and at once began to proclaim the wonders of redeeming love. Soon he was licensed to preach and put on the circuit plan, according to the old Wesleyan system. In 1866 Brother Nelson left England for Fergus, Canada, where his father was living. Here he continued to labor as a local preacher, while supporting his family by his daily labor. In 1873 the wants of a growing family, and the prospect of better wages, induced him to leave Canada and settle in Detroit. The Church soon recognized his ability and worth, and, although still laboring to support his family, he was engaged for two years to supply a weak charge, by Rev. E. H. Pilcher, presiding elder of Detroit District. In 1877 he removed to Charlotte. Soon he was recommended to Brother Bangs, presiding elder of the Lansing District, and engaged as a supply for the Gresham Charge (then Chester Centre). Here he labored two years under great difficulty, owing to inadequate support, but with unusual acceptability. His next appointment was Onondago (now Winfield). At the close of his first year on this charge he was recommended for the traveling connection; and although his age, forty-three, and a large family dependent on him for support, were against him, his robust health and solid qualities secured for him a favorable vote, and the goal of his earthly ambition was won—he was a member of the Methodist itinerancy. He continued at Onondago the full term, doing royal service for both the temporal and spiritual affairs of the church. His next appointment was Ithaca, where again he spent the full term of three years. Precious revivals attended his ministry on this charge from year to year. A new church was built at Sickles, new appointments were taken up, and work attempted that three men could not well do. It was the strain of this constant overwork, and the shock of his daughter's unexpected death, that broke at once his spirit and his excellent health. He never fully rallied from the blow. An entire change of work and surroundings might have saved him. At one o'clock A.M., July 3, he sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. He had hoped to get better until the very last, but when the end came, he was neither surprised nor disappointed.

A. L. Crittenden was born in Ontario (now Walworth, N. Y.), Nov. 14, 1814. He died in Howell, Mich., Oct. 21, 1885, being nearly seventy-one years of age. He came from Indiana in 1835, carrying all he possessed in a sack. In 1831 he was converted. He was married Aug. 27, to Miss Jane Thompson. In 1836 the church at Howell gave him his license to exhort. In 1843 he was licensed as a local preacher; in 1850 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Morris. In 1854 he was admitted on trial in the Michigan Conference and appointed to Portland, and afterward appointed to the following charges, namely: Williamston, Mason, Eaton Rapids, DeWitt, Coldwater, Osseo, Centreville, Decatur, Edwardsburg, Barrien Springs, Pokagon, Okemos, Shepherdsville, Maple Rapids, Mosherville, Union City, Moscow and Springport. In 1880, in consequence of failing health, he superannuated and went to his former home in Howell. As a preacher but few stood above Brother Crittenden, and the number was very small that were his equal. As a logician he excelled. The channels he dug for his thoughts to run in (as Robert Hall says) were always in a logical form. He framed his arguments not only so you could understand them, but so you could not misunderstand them. He was noted for clearness. No one had to ask what was he trying to do; they could very easily see what he was doing and see when the work was done. After he supernumerated he still continued to preach, and often said to ministers when they came for him, "I am willing to use what little strength I have." He preached over a hundred sermons after he left the active work. Almost the last thing he said was, "Tell all I have been peaceful and happy through my life."

Detroit Conference.

James Francis Davidson was born in Brown County, O., Dec. 14, 1810, and closed his eyes to all the scenes of this mortal life at his home in Fenton, Mich., at about seven o'clock A.M., on the seventy-fifth anniversary of his birth, Dec. 14, 1885. Brother Davidson was wont to refer, with much satisfaction, to the fidelity of his parents, especially in the duties of domestic piety. The itinerant ministers always found a welcome and a congenial home under their hospitable roof. He said, "I was early impressed with the things of religion. At the age of twelve, I had religious convictions. I was baptized when an infant, and from the moment I learned this fact I felt that in some sense I was under obligations to be good and serve the Lord. I always honored my parents for having me baptized when a child." He also said, "I received the evidence of my conversion on the early morning of Sept. 13, 1827. This was at a camp-meeting held at Ash Ridge, O., with Russell Bigelow in command. I went into the prayer-meeting on Friday evening about nine o'clock and remained all night in prayer. Early in the morning I found peace." He was licensed as an exhorter, Feb. 9, 1830, which was followed by authority to preach, given May 14, 1831. Brother Davidson was received on trial in the Ohio Conference in the fall of 1831, and was appointed junior preacher on Oxford Circuit, with Rev. John Stewart in charge. Within four weeks after entering upon his new field he had preached thirty discourses, and at the end of the year's labor over three hundred persons had been added to the membership of the church within the bounds of the charge. His subsequent appointments stand as follows: Tecumseh, Calhoun Mission, Tecumseh, a second time; Monroe, Coldwater, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo District, Marshall, Congress Street, Detroit; Plymouth, Albion, Battle Creek again; Adrian, Tecumseh, a third time; Trenton, Lafayette Street, Detroit; Detroit District, Saline, Grass Lake, Plymouth, a second time; Birmingham, Howell, Court Street, Flint; Milford, Oxford, Utica, Chesaning and Fenton. Here the long-continued service of this faithful laborer in the Master's vineyard was destined to end. In his second year at Fenton he became afflicted with almost total loss of vision, and was compelled to resign his charge. Well-nigh did our departed brother, after a very successful ministry of fifty-four years of almost uninterrupted continuance, his

> And cease at once to work and live."

Brother Davidson was twice married; first, with Miss Louisa Beach. She died in 1844. His second marriage occurred in 1845. Our departed brother was a dignified Christian gentleman of chaste and agreeable conversation; an earnest, faithful pastor, and an unusually successful preacher of the everlasting Gospel.

Lewis Mitchell was born in Queen's County, Ireland, July 31, 1820, and departed this life in Arcada, Lapeer County, Mich., April 3, 1886, in the sixty-sixth year of his age. He came into full membership with the Detroit Annual Conference in 1856. The same year he was united in marriage to Miss Permelia Johnson, who, after sharing with him the joys and sacrifices of thirty years' ministerial life, yet survives him to mourn her great loss. Brother Mitchell served the following pastoral charges: Owosso, Clarkston, Tuscola, Genesee, North Branch, Stoney Creek, Dryden, Hadly, a second term at Clarkston, Bedford and Southfield, Ida and Mill Creek Mission. In 1868 failing health compelled him to accept a superannuated relation to the Conference. He then purchased a farm on which he continued to reside until the time of his decease, preaching with great acceptability as opportunity offered. Our lamented brother was not only a sincere and deeply experienced Christian man, always enjoying most fully the esteem and confidence of those who knew him best; but he was also a thoughtful, systematic, and evangelical preacher, who commended himself to every man's conscience in the sight of God. To his brethren, whether in the laity or ministry, he was always courteous, loving and true.

Jacob Dobbins was born at Mount Holly, N. J., Feb. 3, 1809, and fell asleep in Jesus at Marine City, Mich., July 31, 1886. On Dec. 31, 1833, he was united with Miss Melissa Wilkins, who still survives him. Brother Dobbins was received on trial in the Michigan Conference in the fall of 1852, and appointed to Addison Circuit. In 1854 he was appointed to Bedford Charge, where he remained two years. By division of the State into two Conferences, he fell into the Detroit Conference, and was, in 1856, assigned to Rome Circuit. In 1857-58 he was on the Augusta Charge, and in 1859 at Brighton. In 1860 he was appointed to the Armada Circuit, and at the succeeding session of Conference, in 1861, he was granted a superannuated relation because of poor health. He was continued in this relation until 1865, when he was changed to an effective relation and appointed to Franciscoville and Waterloo, where he remained for two years. In 1867 failing health again required him to accept a superannuated relation, which relation he has since sustained. During the last three years of his earthly pilgrimage our departed brother was a great sufferer, yet it is said by those who were much in his company, that during his protracted illness he was cheerful and happy. His interest in the Church and his concern for her prosperity continued strong, until death disclosed to his enraptured vision the stronger attractions of the heavenly world.

Erastus Reed Hascall died in the city of Detroit, March 2, 1886, and was laid to rest in the cemetery at Tecumseh by the side of his wife and daughter, to await the resurrection of the just. Our departed brother was born in Stafford, Genesee County, N. Y., Aug. 7, 1818. He writes in his life-record: "At the age of ten I felt my sins a burden to me." He joined the Michigan Conference on trial in 1852. His appointments in the regular work were as follows: Oakville, Mason, South Lyon, Ridgeway, Blissfield, Dexter, Howell, Northwell, Farmington, Tecumseh, Grass Lake, Hudson; Garland Street, Flint; and Ridgeway a second term. Here his health failed, and he was forced to cease effective service in 1868. At his own request his name was placed on the superannuated list, which relation he sustained until his death. Brother Haskell's ministry was very far from being a failure. It is said by those who claim to know, that more than two thousand souls were converted and brought into the Church through his instrumentality. This is certainly a grand record, more enduring and glorious than any earthly fame.

West Virginia Conference.

Neville C. Beckley died in Charlton, W. Va., Oct. 16, 1885. He was born at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., Dec. 5, 1834, while his father was a soldier and stationed at that place. In 1836 his father, Major Beckley, resigned his position in the army and moved to Wildwood, Va., now Raleigh Courthouse, W. Va. When about nineteen years of age he was converted to God and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was received on trial in the West Virginia Conference, at Charleston, March 10, 1870, and appointed as follows: Boone, Nicholas, Spencer, and Leon. In 1880 he went West and remained two years. After his return he was appointed to Wayne Circuit. The Conference, at its session in Charleston, in September, 1885, appointed him to Malden, and while on his way to his new field he was stricken down with paralysis. He lingered eight days and then fell asleep in Jesus. Brother Beckley had no doubts as to his conversion or his call to the ministry. With strong convictions of duty he entered upon his work, and for the space of fifteen years, with diligence, acceptability, and success, he preached "Christ, the crucified." He was a good preacher, an excellent pastor, loving husband, a kind father, and a faithful friend.

J. S. Laughlin was born in Pennsylvania, in 1845, and died at his home, in Deer Park, Garrett County, Md., in February, 1886. He was received on probation in the West Virginia Conference in 1872, and into full connection in 1874. He was a member of the West Virginia Conference thirteen years, during five of which he was supernumerary. Brother Laughlin, at the time of entering the Conference, was thought to be a young man of more than ordinary promise, but his health soon failed, so as to materially interfere with his work, both as it related to his studies and ministerial labors. Yet, he was very acceptable as a preacher wherever he was sent. At the time of his death he sustained a supernumerary relation to the Conference. He was converted in his sixteenth year, and thereafter lived a consistent Christian, and as a consequence his end was peace.

Samuel Steele was born in the city of Londonderry, in the Province of Ulster, Ireland, May 21, 1821, and died at his post in Buckhannon, May 24, 1886. He was licensed to preach at Gilboa, Marion County, and soon thereafter was sent to Beverly Circuit, then known as "Brush College." His appointments from that time on, were: Weston, Wayne, Malden, Weston again; Buckhannon, Harrisville, Parkersburg, Parkersburg District, when he was appointed chaplain of the Seventh Regiment, West Virginia Volunteer Infantry, and remained in the service until the close of the war. His appointments subsequent to the war were: Mannington, Chapline Street, Wheeling; Clarksburg District, Grafton, Morgantown District, Morgantown Station, North Street, Wheeling; Huntington, Buckhannon, where he fell at his post with his armor on. He had his full share of the honors of the Conference. He was secretary of the Conference three times; elected to the General Conference in 1872; received the degree of Doctor of Divinity, worthily bestowed and gracefully worn. In 1856 he was married to Victoria Lorentz, daughter of John Lorentz, of Weston, who proved a faithful sharer of his toils, sorrows, and triumphs. Brother Steele was loyal to the country of his adoption, to his Church, to his God; and, as a man, a citizen, a Christian, a minister, a counselor, was the peer of any man in our Conference.

Andrew Dixon was born in 1815. He was converted, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, at eight years of age; and, through all the years that followed, fully exemplified to the Church and to the world the truth of his conversion and the value of early piety. He was admitted on trial into the Ohio Conference in 1822; was ordained deacon and received into full connection in 1864, and ordained elder in 1836. He assisted in the organization of the West Virginia Conference, by division having fallen within its territorial limits. He spent twenty-seven years as an effective and efficient worker in the vineyard of the Master; and many in the day of the Lord will acknowledge him as having been the instrument in the hands of God in bringing them to Christ. For a number of years, on account of age and infirmity, he has been on the superannuated list, leading a quiet and somewhat retired life. February 1886, in the full assurance of faith, he fell asleep, and entered upon the reward promised to the faithful minister of Christ.

South-east Indiana Conference.

J. B. Sparks was born in Belmont County, O., Nov. 15, 1808. He did not become religious until after his marriage to Eliza B. Rockafellar, of New Trenton, Ind., which occurred Sept. 19, 1830. But the influence of his devotedly Christian young wife had largely to do with bringing him to Christ, and into the Methodist Episcopal Church sometime during the year 1831. In 1848 he was voted license to preach, and two years later was received on trial in the Indiana Conference, and put in charge of the Manchester Circuit, remaining there one year. It was a year of revival power. After the division of the Conference, in 1852, he fell within the bounds of the South-east Indiana Conference, where the balance of his itinerant life was spent. In the autumn of 1851 he was appointed to Wilmington Circuit, where he remained two years; then followed Mount Sterling, Moorefield, Wilmington again; Allensville, Versailles, Hartford the second time, for one year, Delaware two years, Belleview one year; Osgood, which was a part of the old Versailles Circuit, two years; Milford one year, Southport three years. At the close of his second year at Brownsville, embarrassed by his increasing deafness, he asked for, and was granted a superannuated relation and removed to Greenfield, Ind. Here, while his strength permitted, he continued abundant in Christian labors; co-operating, with loving and loyal spirit, with the several pastors of the charge within the bounds of which he lived. After protracted and great suffering, which was borne with Christly patience, he quietly sank to rest on the evening of Feb. 6, 1886. He had reached the seventy-seventh anniversary of his birth, Nov. 15, 1885. Although forty-two years of age when he entered the traveling connection, he spent twenty-nine years in that department, and very many souls had been converted and brought into the Church through his instrumentality.

Alexander Jamison was born in Garrett County, Ky., Aug. 20, 1820. He was licensed to preach by Rev. M. Marley, presiding elder in the Cincinnati Conference, April 14, 1860. He was employed for a season in home mission work in Cincinnati, and joined the Kentucky Conference, and was then transferred to the Texas Conference in 1872. In 1875 he was transferred to the Sout-east Indiana Conference, served, in the order named, the following charges: Medora, Castleton, Edwin Ray, Waldron, Nineveh. His last appointment was at Acton, where, after a year of very hard toil attended with much success, he was stricken with a painful illness from which he died, Sept. 8, 1886. Brother Jamison had only limited advantages of education, but made commendable improvement of his opportunities, and by his plain exposition of the word of God and exhortations and prayers, was very successful in promoting revivals on all his fields of labor and bringing many into the Church of God. He was a pure, sincere man, warm and true in his friendship, and we have not a doubt of his happy reward in the Master's kingdom.

George W. Wilson was born on Langhery Creek, Dearborn County, seven miles from Aurora, Nov. 27, 1837. On March 21, 1866, he was married to Miss Ella Mapes, of Mason, Ill. At that place he was licensed to preach, and there he preached his first sermon. In 1867 he went back to Illinois, entered the Southern Illinois Conference and filled successively the following appointments: Clay City, one year; Oden, one year; Enfield, one year; and Wabash Circuit, one year. In 1871 he located at Norris City, Ill., and was employed by the presiding elder as a supply at Golconda. In 1880 he succeeded Dr. E. G. Wood, on the Delaware Circuit, being used by the presiding elder as a supply, and in the fall of that year entered the South-east Indiana Conference and was put in charge of Moorefield Circuit during the following year. He was next appointed to Metamora Circuit, but was afterward changed by the presiding elder to Mount Carmel, where he labored successfully for two years. From Mount Carmel he was sent to Fairfield Circuit, and thence to Metamora, where he received a most cordial and generous welcome. He preached superior sermons to full houses, and the people greatly appreciated his labors. During severe labors in protracted meetings in Blooming Grove, Everton, and Metamora, he had suffered from painful and repeated attacks of asthma. Yet, notwithstanding this fact, his meeting at Metamora had been in progress for eighteen days, with constantly increasing prospects and power. Tuesday night, January 12, he was so ill as to feel that he ought to close the meeting; but, reluctant to give up the work, he continued. Thursday night he went to the church, but was too sick to preach, and was compelled to return to his home. But before leaving the church he bowed with the people in prayer, committing the church and the souls of the people into the care of a compassionate God. It was a scene never to be forgotten by those who were present. From that time he grew rapidly worse until Sabbath morning, when he became unconscious. While reason held its place, through excruciating pain, his faith was unfailing and his testimony clear. At about two o'clock on Monday morning, Jan. 18, 1886, he ceased to live on earth and entered into life eternal.

Blue Ridge Conference.

John Nelson Barker was born in Lincoln County, N. C., February, 1818, and was converted on July 4, 1829. He united at once with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and in 1836 was licensed to exhort, and preach in 1840. In 1862 he was admitted on trial in the Virginia and North Carolina Conference, and was appointed to the Alexander, North Wilks and Yadkin Circuit. His subsequent appointments were mostly in the western part of the State, and he was well-known and generally greatly beloved. His labors were crowned with abundant evidence of his Master's approval. Brother Barker was a Methodist from thorough conviction; he knew the doctrines, he believed them, and he preached them. He was an earnest, honest man, and accepted the work of the ministry as a precious trust and privilege. Although not a great he was a good preacher, whose sermons were all intended to produce results then and there, which frequently happened. Brother Barker enjoyed religion, and frequently gave expression to his joy in a very fervent manner, although he was by no means a "noisy Methodist." His last appointment was to Jefferson Circuit, where he labored but a short time, and on the 10th of last April, peacefully fell asleep in Jesus.

Upper Iowa Conference.

E. A. Hawn was born in Van Buren County, Ia., March 22, 1858. At the age of ten years he was converted, and united with the church of which his father was pastor. In the spring of 1879 he was licensed as a preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and appointed to the Garrison Circuit, to fill a vacancy that occurred there. On Nov. 2, 1879, he married Miss Florence A. Hall, and was appointed to Republican City, Neb. His work in that new country was very hard, and the following spring he was prostrated by an attack of lung fever, which left him so weakened that he had to return to Iowa and rest that summer. The following fall, 1880, he was appointed to the Rockwell Circuit, in Upper Iowa Conference. Here he worked with his characteristic energy and success, but again his health failed and he had to rest for a time. In the spring of 1882 he filled his father's pulpit, at Elwood, Iowa, for three months, with great pleasure to the people. The next fall he was appointed to London Charge, where he worked two years with great success. The next year, 1884–85, he was stationed at DeWitt, where, the following spring, his health entirely failed him. He spent the last summer at Okoboji Lake, in hopes of recovery, but with no substantial effect. Last December he, with his wife, went to New Mexico, hoping that a change of climate would be beneficial, but he sank rapidly, and on the 9th of the present month passed from suffering to the "rest that remaineth for the people of God." His end was very triumphant.

Chicago German Conference.

George L. Mulfinger was born at Stenzenheim, in the Kingdom of Bavaria, Germany, Nov. 4, 1819. He entered the rest of God's people, July 28, 1886. In his fourteenth year he, with his parents, emigrated to America, and settled at Lawrenceburg, Ind. In 1839 he was converted to God and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. A short time afterward he was licensed to preach the Gospel as a local preacher. In 1845 Brother Mulfinger was received on probation in the Ohio Conference and sent to Fort Wayne, Ind.; he afterward served the Langhery Mission for two years; then two years in the Wash Street Church, Saint Louis, Mo. Then he was put on the large Wisconsin District. This extended from Manitowoc, Wis., to Pekin, Ill. On this district he had from eighteen to twenty thousand miles quarterly to travel by team. In 1853 he moved to Chicago, Ill. In 1854 the large Wisconsin District was divided, and Brother Mulfinger was sent on the Chicago District, after which he filled the following appointments: Burlington District, Ia.; Quincey, Ill.; First Church, Milwaukee, Wis.; Chicago District again; Claybourn Avenue, Chicago; Aurora, Ill.; Ashland Avenue Church, Chicago; Maxwell Street Church, Chicago; Milwaukee District, and the Chicago District, for the third time. From 1883 to the time of his death he was the pastor of Claybourn Avenue Church, Chicago, Ill. Brother Mulfinger labored every-where with good success; many hundred souls were brought to Christ through him. Under his wise discretion many new churches in the bounds of our Conference were organized; especially was this the case with our work in Chicago. He was a humble, pious, and industrious laborer in the vineyard of Jesus Christ; he was a profound thinker, a grand preacher, and a thorough and loyal Methodist. In our Conference he was one of the fathers and a representative man. By his brethren in the ministry he was highly esteemed and beloved, and never felt happier than when he was among them. In the whole, Brother Mulfinger served the Church forty-one years as an itinerant preacher, of which twenty years were spent in the the presiding eldership. At the close of a protracted meeting, last February, he was laid on a bed of severe suffering, which he bore with Christian fortitude and patience. His end was peace.

Central Tennessee Conference.

Otis O. Knight was born in Oxford, N. Y., November, 1823, and died at his home in Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 24, 1886, in the sixty-third year of his age. In the early part of life he removed to Nashville, for several years previous to the war was in the employment of the Southern Methodist Publishing-house. He was also for many years a laborious and devoted local minister. In these relations he displayed the same fidelity that characterized all his labors in the service of the Methodist Episcopal Church. When in October, 1886, Bishop Clark reorganized the Tennessee Conference, in Murfreesborough, Brother Knight was admitted as a probationer and entered at once on that remarkable career of labor and sacrifice which continued to the end of his life. Among the very first duties assigned him by Bishop Clark was the gathering up of the colored population from the streets of Nashville, and teaching them in a large building used in war times, first as a gun factory, then as a military hospital. This was the beginning of the Central Tennessee College. Such was the necessity for his labors and oversight and such the confidence reposed in him by Bisho, Clark, that he was appointed to the Springfield District before having received ordination as elder. At the session held at Huntingdon in the fall of 1872, he was appointed to the Memphis District, which appointment he held four consecutive years, then two years on Nashville District, then as pastor at Dickson and Doweltown, one year at each place, then back to the Memphis, now known as Huntingdon, District. On this district he served three years and two months. It is but moderate praise to say that he was the very embodiment of fidelity and devotion to every obligation and interest committed to his charge. His energy and industry were marvelous. As a preacher he was eminently sound and scriptural. His preaching increased in depth of thought, spirituality, and evangelical richness to the last. Intellectually, he was far more than an ordinary man.

J. F. Turner died in December, 1885. With him the strife is over, the conflict ended, the victory won; for the great Captain of our salvation has said to him, "It is enough, come up higher." He was a young man of promise. Educated, refined, manly, and fully devoted to the Church; we have met with a serious loss. Being tenderly affectionate, he held a warm place in many hearts. To know him was to respect and love him. In his convictions of Bible doctrine he was thoroughly Methodistic, and his experience fully accorded with his opinions. Though his ministerial life was mostly spent in the educational work, yet he dearly loved to preach the Gospel and to lead sinners to the cross.

West German Conference.

Matthias Klaiber was born Aug. 13, 1831, in Haussen, Wurtemburg. He came to this country at the age of twenty one, and two years after was married to Miss Maria Glump, who became a faithful wife through all the vicissitudes of life. He was converted in 1856, and joined the German Methodist Episcopal Church in Portsmouth, O. Removing to Independence, O., and finding no Methodist Church there, he joined the German Evangelical Church and was made class-leader. He rapidly developed the gift that was in him, and manifested such power in exhortations and prayer, that many were visibly moved. Many thronged to see and hear this "stone-cutter." He entered in 1857 the ranks of the ministers of the Gospel. He served the following appointments: Marshall, Ill.; Warrenton, Ind.; Mount Carmel, Ill.; Camri, Ill.; Vandalia, Ill.; Louisville, Ky.; Cincinnati, O.; Dayton, O., and Indianapolis, Ind. He was sent a second time to Louisville, Ky., but because of ill health had to give up his work, and on the advice of his friends and physicians went, in the spring of 1878, to Denver, Colorado. Finding no Evangelical Church here, he joined the German Methodist Episcopal Church. He recovered in a measure his health, and in the hope of completely regaining it he re-entered the work. After three years of faithful labor in Denver, he again broke down. Then followed three years of painful sickness, and on October 14, he entered the heavenly rest. He was patient in suffering, cheerful in death, and with joy witnessed to his faith in Christ as his only hope and Saviour.

East Ohio Conference.

James Ezra Starkey was born of Methodist parentage, Feb. 3, 1837, near Otsego, Muskingum County, O., and died, after a brief illness, April 20, 1886, at Newport, Washington County, O. In his twelfth year he was converted, and while yet a boy was strongly impressed that God wanted him for the Methodist itinerancy. He was licensed to exhort, Dec. 19, 1860, and was granted license to preach by the Adamsville Circuit Quarterly Conference, Sept. 4, 1864. In March, 1865, he was appointed supply on Adamsville Circuit and in March of the following year he was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference, and sent to Westchester Circuit. His subsequent appointments were Plainfield, Warrenton, Winchester, Bethel, Harlem Springs, Washington, Rich Hill, and Newport. It was while laboring on the last-named field that the blessed Master said: "It is enough, come up higher." Few men loved the Church better than he, and few men attended to all the duties of a Methodist preacher so well. As a preacher, he was earnest and practical, a clear and safe expositor of the Scriptures, and sought in every sermon to realize to the Church some immediate benefit. In the prime of manhood he was cut down, but he has left a grand record.

James Clark Russell was born in Jefferson County, O., Oct. 4, 1830, and died at the old homestead, Oct. 9, 1885. At the age of fourteen he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was thenceforward noted for his deep piety and his devotion to the interests of the Church. His Christian experience appeared to be always joyous. He often gave expression to his feelings in shouts of praise; and especially when he talked, or preached, or sang of Christ's redeeming love and the wonders of salvation. At the time of his conversion he felt that he must preach the Gospel and help bring the world back to Christ. These convictions were to him unmistakable, and he trembled in view of the responsibility of such a calling. He was admitted on trial in the Pittsburg Conference in 1860, and appointed to the Malvern Circuit. He subsequently served in the following charges: Sandyville, New Cumberland, Hanover, New Market, Westchester, Adamsville, Summerfield, Freedom, and Morgan. He was a member of the East Ohio Conference from its organization in 1876. In 1877 his health failed, and he took a superannuated relation, in which relation he remained until his death. During his retirement from the active work he frequently expressed an intense desire to be again in the pastorate, winning souls to Christ. But the Master willed otherwise. His work was done. In his last sickness he suffered much, but would often speak with great assurance of a glorious immortality awaiting him. He was a good man—full of faith and the Holy Ghost. He now rests from his labors, but his work and influence abide.

Patrick K. McCue was born in Lancaster County, Pa., Aug. 22, 1802, but spent his youth in Maryland. His parents were Roman Catholics, and his sympathies were with that Church until he was providentially brought under the influence of Methodism and powerfully converted. He at once united with the church and became a most active and devoted Christian. He was by nature a leader of men. He became first a teacher, then the superintendent of the Sunday-school, then class-leader and local preacher, and increasingly useful in all church work. In 1834 he removed to Ohio, and the following year was received into the Pittsburg Conference and appointed to Freeport Circuit, thence to Morefield. His subsequent appointments were: Richmond, Leesburg, Massillon, Canton, Westchester, Sharon, McConnelsville, Norwich, Cumberland, Centreville, Morristown, Barnsville, Bearsville, Richmond, again; Somerset, Cumberland, Industry, Pa.; Georgetown, Morgan, Harlington, Unionville, Cow Run, Rich Hill, and Brownsville. From the latter appointment he retired from the active ministry at the age of seventy-five, removing to Columbus, O., where he lived until the death of his wife, in 1880, after which he made his home in Chicago with his daughter. He was a faithful, useful, acceptable, and godly minister, successful in winning souls and building up the churches under his care. With a commanding personal presence, a face that was beautiful even in old age, scrupulously neat in his personal habits, and a fine command of language, he had the bearing of a Christian gentleman in a high degree. On Tuesday morning, March 29, 1886, "he was not, for God took him."

Billings Otis Plimpton was born in Sturbridge, Mass., March 7, 1799, and died at the home of his daughter in Cleveland, O., April 27, 1886. Both of his grandfathers were officers in the army of the revolution. When a boy he was converted, and, in the face of the strongest opposition, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Our Church in Peacham, Vt., was founded as the result of his labors, when, as a mere youth, he was a teacher there. He moved to Ohio in 1818. In 1823 he was admitted to the Ohio Conference. His appointments were: Beaver; Detroit, Michigan; Deerfield, Canton, Youngstown, Cleveland, Chardon, Talmage, Ashtabula, Agent of Allegheny College, Warren, Warren District, Youngstown, again; Greenville, Ravenna District, Hartford, Meadville District, and Erie District. He also acted for years as Agent of the Colonization Society, and subsequently as Agent of the Bible Society. He was a member of the General Conferences of 1832, 1840, and 1848. He was a preacher of unusual power. Analytic and logical, rather than diffuse or declamatory in style, he was yet nervous and energetic in delivery, and poured forth his carefully studied sermons with the vehemence of a flood in spring-time. Brother Plimpton was only a name to our younger men. But the territory that was the theater of his activity is full of the record of his work, and he was a powerful agent in bringing our Church to its present place of commanding influence, and has left an imperishable impress on a large part of our State.

Cyrus Prindle was born in Canaan, Litchfield County, Conn., April 11, 1800, and died Dec. 1, 1885, aged eighty-five. He was converted at the age of sixteen, being awakened at the first Methodist prayer-meeting he ever attended. He soon after united with the Church of which he was a member till the year 1843, when he joined the Wesleyan Methodist connection, on account of his profound convictions on the subject of slavery and the attitude of the Methodist Episcopal Church at that time. In 1867 he again joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he continued a member till his death. He was self-educated, having never attended school of any kind but a few months in his life. He joined the New York Conference in May, 1821, and was appointed to the Plattsburg Circuit. He continued in the effective ministry over fifty-three consecutive years with but a single month's relaxation from the regular work. He was thrice married, the first two wives being sisters and living only a short time. His last wife was Miss Mary Jennison, with whom he lived most happily until his death. In his last years he became very feeble and helpless, but with greatest kindness and affection his faithful wife and children cared for him and met his every want. Brother Prindle was a man of rare purity of character, a true friend of the oppressed, of intelligent and very positive convictions. In all his ministry he was greatly distinguished for sound practical sense, quiet force, and intimate knowledge of human nature and love of his kind. In all his walks and conversation he manifested consistent and devoted piety. To such a man's life there could be but one ending. "He rests from his labors and his works do follow him."

JOHN COYLE died Feb. 11, 1886. His early training was in the Roman Catholic Church, and we have learned that he had the priesthood in view, but in early life he learned of a more excellent way, and sought and found salvation by faith. The story of that conversion as told by him was simply thrilling, and all who knew him knew that he had met the Angel of the covenant by some Jabbok, and won a name that the mouth of the Lord had named. In 1833 he sought a place in the Pittsburg Conference and was accepted. Those were the heroic days of Methodism in Western Pennsylvania; large circuits and districts manned always by noble, if not always great men. Whatever may have been the work or travel of the day, there was sure to be an appointment for the night. The message delivered and the benediction pronounced, it was not uncommon for the congregation to sit down and some one ask some question of theology; this answered, another would follow, and another, far into the night. Catching such sleep as he could, the early morning found the "circuit rider" on his way to other congregations, and other questions perhaps, studying the Epistle to the Romans and thinking how like his work was to that of Paul. It was in these times that Brother Coit put his life into this ministry. These discussions compelled diligent study and kept him bright in the doctrines of his Church. In after life the doctrines of the Church had always in him an able defender, and, on cases of difficulty, a wise counselor. As a preacher he was plain, earnest, often doctrinal, and always profitable. He was at his best in revival work; there he was a leader, preaching or praying, or pointing seekers to Christ. Never did chieftian lead his clan to battle more joyously than he led the Church militant against the powers of the prince of this world. Thus it was for the forty-three years of his membership in Pittsburg Conference. He filled the following appointments: Carmichaeltown, Blairsville District, Barnsville District, Manchester; Beaver Street, Allegheny City; McKeesport, Temperanceville, Deersville, Moorefield, and Leetonia. In the last-named place, while on his way from a temperance meeting at night, he was struck down by a blow from a saloonist or his agent, which was evidently intended to be fatal, and it was nearly so. He was carried home and for many hours he lay insensible. Slowly he rallied only in part. He never was his own grand old self again. In 1876 his name was placed on the superannuated list. In the division he became a member of the East Ohio Conference, and lingered on in superannuation, occasionally preaching but fading away, until, thank God! "at evening time it was light." His remains were buried at Morgantown, West Virginia.

FRANCIS DANIEL FAST was born near East Springfield, Jefferson County, O., March 31, 1830, and died in Beverly, Washington County, O., Dec. 15, 1885. His conversion to Christ occurred in early youth, which was decidedly clear, filling him with joy. He early joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He entered the Pittsburg Conference on trial in the year 1854. In the order of appointments he served the following charges: East Liverpool, Sewickley, Alliance, Enon Valley, Elderton, Irwin, Greentown, Worthington, Chartiers, Sewickley, again; Smith's Ferry, Macksburg, Newport, Beverly, Bethel, Summerfield, Duncan's Falls, and Unionville. In 1857 he was joined in marriage with Miss Mary F. Frazier, of Beaver, Pa., whose companionship was appreciatively helpful to the end of life's toils. With a high sense of personal honor, he proved himself worthy of the relation sustained to the Church, and honored that relation by unstained nobility of character.

DAVID MIZENER was born in Buffalo Valley, Pa., Dec. 12, 1810, and died at Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 26, 1886. In his seventeenth year he sought religion and always dated his religious experience from that period. But having been thrown among ungodly associates he lost his confidence, which he did not regain until in his twenty-fifth year in a protracted meeting in Philadelphia, Pa., when he found great peace and joy, and immediately united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. On Sept. 13, 1836, he was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth Zellers, of Buffalo Valley. In 1851 he was received into the Erie Conference at Warren, O., and subsequently filled the following charges: Wattsburg, Columbus, Waterford, Wesleyville, Albion, McKean, Quincy, Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Sugar Grove and Pine Grove, Delanti, Silver Creek, Conneaut, Mentor, Perry, Mayfield, Thompson, and Concord, Saybrook, Grand River, Nottingham, Montville, and Hampden. In 1882, because of feeble health, he asked for and received a supernumerary relation, which he sustained for two years, preaching frequently. In 1884 he was made effective and appointed to Concord. At the close of this year, finding his strength failing, he was granted a superannuated relation. Brother Mizener was a faithful student, and a clear, vigorous, and instructive preacher. He understood Methodist law and was a strict disciplinarian. He was exact and careful in all the details of his work. He was a good pastor and always in earnest in seeking the salvation of men, and was truly a man of faith and prayer. His record is on high!

DANIEL ROWLAND was born April 16, 1835, in Ellery, Chautauqua County, N. Y. He was married to Jane A. Winchester of Madison, O., April 30, 1856, who died at Twinsburg in 1876. He was converted and united with the church at Perry, O., in 1857, enlisted in the Second Regiment, Ohio Heavy Artillery, Aug. 4, 1863, and served faithfully until mustered out at Nashville, Tenn., in 1865. He was received by the Erie Conference at its session in 1866, and appointed to the Euclid and Glenville Charge, where his ministry was attended by a gracious revival of religion. His subsequent appointments were: Thompson, Grand River, Mayfield, Jefferson, Pleasant Valley, Twinsburg, Montville, Saybrook, Welshfield, and Poland, where, surrounded by a faithful church, and ministered to by the best medical skill, and the devotion of wife and kindred, he died in peace Nov. 15, 1885. He was born and reared in a Christian home, and from a child had known the Scriptures; but the prayers and influence of his wife were needed to bring him to Christ. He was naturally diffident and sensitive; quiet and reserved in manner, but firm in his convictions. The work of the minister was the joy and crown of his life. To lead men to Christ and build them up in him his one work. At Great River and Mayfield, great revivals cheered his heart. He knew of the bitterness of bereavement; an only daughter, at the age of seventeen, and the wife of his youth had been called away by death; but this only led him nearer to Christ. His second wife, Miss Minnie L. Gill, to whom he was married in 1878, entered heartily into all his labors.

Genesee Conference.

JOHN G. GULICK was born in Sunbury, Pa., March 26, 1811, and died in Penn Yan, Yates County, N. Y., July 22, 1886. He was licensed to preach in 1832 by the Quarterly Conference of Ovid and Ulysses Circuit, and was employed the next year as a supply on Southport Circuit. He was recommended for admission into Genesee Conference by the Quarterly Conference that licensed him, and was received on trial at the session held in Lockport, September, 1835. His first appointment was Painted Post and Bath, where he gave assurance of success as a minister. In 1837 he was appointed to Medina, and subsequently to Pembroke, Carlton, and Yates, Geneseo, Mount Morris, and Rushford District. In 1848 Genesee Conference was divided, and Brother Gulick fell within the Genesee, but was transferred to the East Genesee at the first session of that Conference, and was appointed as follows: First Church, Rochester; Geneva, Honeoye Falls, Rochester District, Alexander Street, Rochester; Waterloo, Lodi, Penn Yan District, Elmira District, South Main Street, Elmira; after which he became supernumerary. He was pastor twenty-four years, presiding elder fifteen, and supernumerary twelve. During his ministry he was a member of the Genesee, East Genesee, Central New York, restored East Genesee, and the consolidated Genesee Conferences. Brother Gulick was endowed with large mental powers, developed them and placed himself abreast of the culture of his times. He was a man of great common sense, unassuming and conservative; inquired, "Lord, what wilt thou have me do?" and abode by his conviction. His fidelity to the right was never questioned. His friendships, carefully formed, were enduring. His religious experience was based on the atonement of Christ, and was inwrought by the Holy Ghost, the fruit of which was a consecrated life. Though not demonstrative, he was ever prepared to give a reason for his Christian assurance, and his precious testimonies will be long remembered. His call to the ministry was clear. As a preacher, he was an able expounder of the Word, rich in illustration, logical, and cogent. His sermons were carefully prepared and adapted to the occasions. His ministry was owned of God in many precious revivals. He was eminently successful in cementing and edifying his church, and on some occasions he preached with wonderful power. In no department was he more successful than in pastoral visitation; especially in times of bereavement and sorrow was he a ministering spirit. He was peculiarly qualified for the presiding eldership, having great executive power, thorough knowledge of Methodist law and usage, and just appreciation of ministerial character and adaptation. He was a delegate to the General Conference in 1852, and did good service. He filled many important offices in his Conference with unstained reputation. On Jan. 1, 1837, he married Miss Eliza Baker, a lady adapted to her position. The last sickness of Brother Gulick, caused by dilation of the heart, complicated at last by lung difficulty, was long and painful, but his end was peaceful.

Edward Hotchkiss was born in Smithville, Chenango County, N. Y., April 13, 1806; he died at Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15, 1886. In 1827 he was converted while living at Orange, Schuyler County, N. Y., and was received into the Church the same year. He removed to the State of Maine and was licensed to preach at Readfield, and the same year joined the Maine Conference. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Roberts in 1832, and elder by Bishop Hedding in 1834. In the Maine Conference he served as pastor the churches at Solon, Sangerville, Rumford, Skowhegan, Winthrop, Fryeburg, Waterford, and York. In 1843 he was transferred to the Genesee Conference and appointed to Bellona, Castleton, Towanda, Painted Post, Milo Centre, Tyre, Port Gibson, Henrietta, Beaver Dam, and Logan. The following years of retirement from public work were spent mostly with his son in Minneapolis, so that this generation knew little of him personally. Brother Hotchkiss was a man of good abilities, rare social power, great prudence and kindness, and an earnest worker. He was such a man as one is always glad to meet. With imperfect health he joined the itinerancy in his twenty-fourth year; and after thirty-two years of faithful labor, nineteen of which were spent in the Genesee and East Genesee Conferences, he retired, and in his eightieth year was found still "waiting for the Lord's returning." His ministry was blessed with many revivals. Among them he mentioned with special delight the good work at Towanda, "where," he wrote, "the good Lord favored me with seeing some eighty or more souls happily converted." His long life of labor and suffering is ended, and who can doubt that the "good and faithful servant has entered into the joy of his Lord?" His wife, who wrought by his side through all their active years, now a suffering invalid, is waiting patiently and hopefully the call to join the husband in the Father's house on high.

Ebenezer Latimer was born at Winsdor, Conn., Dec. 31, 1798, and died at Kewanna, Fulton County, Ind., June 10, 1886. He was converted at the age of twenty years, and, although he had been reared in the Congregational Church, he chose to unite himself to the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the year 1833 he was received on trial into the New York Conference. The same year that he was received on trial he was transferred to the Genesee Conference, of which he became a member in full connection in 1835. He became a member of the East Genesee Conference at its formation in 1848; and of the Central New York, by the annihilation of East Genesee, in 1872. The consolidation effected in 1876 threw him back into our grand "Old Genesee," in which he continued till he was transferred "to the general assembly and Church of the first-born, which are written in heaven." Brother Latimer's consecutive appointments, till 1858, were Seneca Falls, Elmira, LeRoy, Castile, Pike, Dansville, Clyde, Phelps, Benton Centre, Honeoye Falls, Mount Morris, Nunda, Havana, and Dresden. Then he took a supernumerary relation, and labored for one year as agent for the cause of Sabbath observance. In 1858 he was made effective and appointed to Junius. His following appointments were Bellona, Conesus, and Bristol. In 1865 he was made supernumerary, and in 1869 superannuate. The years of his superannuation he spent chiefly in the homes of his children. The last few years, during which he has spent each year some months at the Clifton and Geneva Sanitariums, where he greatly prized the social and religious privileges, have been years of waiting—patient, loving waiting. In the many charges where Brother Latimer labored as itinerant minister, his one aim seemed to be winning souls, and no opportunity was lost for a word for his Master. The secret of his success lay in the fact that he was a man of prayer. It surely was his "vital breath." A friend in whose home he often tarried says: "Father Latimer, in coming to the house, before mingling with the family sought first a quiet room where he could for a few moments drop on his knees in prayer." His prayers at the family altar were always a benediction.

John Spinks was born in England, but came to this country in 1841. In 1817 he received his first license to preach. He joined the East Genesee Conference on trial in 1848, the year the Conference was organized, and was appointed to the following charges: Hornellsville, Cohocton, Middlesex, Chapinville and Hopewell Centre, Sodus, Potter, Wellsville, Angelica, superannuated; Grove, superannuated; Ridge, Henrietta, Webster, Fairville, Marion, supernumerary; Gaines, superannuated. Brother Spinks was a most devout and earnest Christian, a man of pure life, consecrated to God; a faithful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ, through whose instrumentality many souls were converted and the Church of Christ edified. He died June 12, 1886, at his home in Bradford, Pa., aged about 83 years, after a brief sickness of two days. He died peacefully, in Christian hope.

George Washington Terry was born at Middleport, Niagara County, N. Y., on Nov. 6, 1823. In the year 1845 Brother Terry joined the Genesee Conference on trial, and two years later was received into full connection. He was ordained deacon in 1847 and elder in 1849. In the year 1847 he was married to Miss Armenia M. Odell, who survives him. He was stationed at the following places, namely: Caledonia, Parma, Alabama, Scottsville, Covington, Pavilion, Gainesville, Asbury and Wesley, Springville, Olean, Rushford, Castile, Newfane, Knowlesville, Cambria, Kendall, Holley, Oakfield, Rush, North Cohocton, Bloomfield, Lancaster and Bowmansville, and Miller's Corners. All of these charges he served with acceptability, and some of them with very signal success. It is impossible to write the life-history of a Methodist itinerant. Eternity alone can reveal it. Brother Terry was a believer in revivals, and as a result of his faithful and consecrated ministry he led over a thousand persons to Christ, some of them to-day preaching the Gospel, honored members of the Genesee Conference. He was a great sufferer during the last weeks of his life, but was very patient, never complaining. Often during the night of pain and weakness he could be heard praying for patience and submission, sometimes saying, "Jesus knows all about it." Finally when death came he quietly breathed his life away as sweetly as a child falls asleep in its mother's arms.

Cincinnati Conference.

Joseph Jefferson Hill was born in Frederic County, Md., Sept. 18, 1805. His parents moved to Chillicothe, O., in 1809. Here he was converted and united with the Church, Dec. 12, 1824, being in his nineteenth year. On his twenty-fifth birthday, 1828, he was admitted to the Ohio Conference and appointed to Hillsborough Circuit. In 1829 he was on Lebanon Circuit. In 1830 he was ordained deacon and put in charge of Saint Mary's and Fort Defiance Mission. In 1831 he was on the Mad River Circuit. On July 28, 1832, he was married to Miss Faustine Cordelia, daughter of Bishop Soule. This year he was ordained elder and appointed to London Circuit. In 1833 he was made supernumerary. He served successively on Westchester, Franklin, and Milford Circuits. From 1840 to 1845 he had charge of Xenia, Frankford, Wilmington, Circleville, and Lebanon appointments. In 1846 he joined the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and served two years in Covington. He was then transferred to the Tennessee Conference and put in charge of the Harpeth work. At its close he was transferred to the Kentucky Conference and again placed in charge of Covington Station. Here his wife died, July 26, 1850. After one year in charge of the mission work in the mountain region of Kentucky, he was re-appointed in 1851, and in 1852 to Covington. He was married, July 26, 1853, to Miss Mary L. Drake, of Lebanon, O. In October of this year he returned to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and being admitted into the Kentucky Conference, he was transferred to the Cincinnati Conference and stationed at Hamilton, O. After two years in the Middletown, and one year in the Greenfield Stations, he became supernumerary for one year. From 1858 to 1860 he was in charge of Highland Circuit and Waynesville Station. In 1861, while pastor at Fairfield, he was elected Chaplain of the Seventy-third Ohio Regiment, and immediately entered upon his duties. After the war he filled respectively: Bethel, Germantown, Westchester, Fletcher, Saint Paul and Lena, New Paris, Tippecanoe, Fair Haven and Centenary Charges. Six years ago he was placed on the superannuated list and settled in Lebanon, O., where he continued to reside until his death, Nov. 11, 1885. He was deeply penetrated with evangelical doctrines, and especially the great distinctive doctrines of Methodism. He held them clearly and preached them firmly and fully. He could preach no otherwise. As God gave him to see the truth, he uttered it. He was a flaming evangelist. He felt, himself; he made others feel. A revival was his normal state. At fourscore and beyond, his powers of mind and body seemed undecayed. Death was like a translation, so short and painless was his last sickness. November 6 he was stricken with apoplexy and its resultant paralysis. He probably never knew his condition, as he sunk into a comatose state immediately, which continued to the end. Nov. 11, 1885, he passed away at the age of eighty years.

John C. Maddy was born in Monroe County, W. Va., Feb. 5, 1822, and died in Kokomo, Ind., Dec. 12, 1885. He embraced religion at a camp-meeting held near where he was raised in West Virginia, Aug. 30, 1842. His conversation was clear and satisfactory, and he at once united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. A vacancy occurring on the Ironton Circuit, he was sent out as junior preacher two weeks before he was licensed to preach. In 1850 he was admitted on trial in the Ohio Conference, and in due time he was admitted into full connection and ordained deacon and elder. On the division of the Ohio Conference he fell into the Cincinnati Conference, of which he remained a member until his death. The following is the list of his appointments: Wheelersburg, Madisonville, Goshen, Amelia, Harrison, Miami, Laurel, Manchester, Moscow, Amelia, again; Mount Washington, Centenary, Walnut Hills, and Amelia, again. While at Amelia for the third term, in 1870, his health failed in the middle of the year. He was obliged to take a superannuated relation, and in that honorable relation he remained, testifying to the grace of God to sustain in the midst of the greatest prostration of body until his death. In 1852 Brother Maddy was married to Miss Hanna S Langdon. As a man Brother Maddy was transparent, ingenious, and honest; he was the soul of honor in all his relations, especially in pecuniary matters. He feigned to have characteristics which he did not possess. Toward others he was confiding, truthful, and unsuspecting. He was public spirited, and all his powers were ever fully thrown on the side of every great and good reform, his reputation as well as his character was ever above reproach, and not the faintest shadow of aspersion was ever cast on his fair fame. As a preacher, Brother Maddy never sought great things for himself, and yet he was a most excellent preacher—"a workman that needed not to be ashamed"—his sermons were generally expository and usually distinguished by great originality of thought. As a superannuate he was cheerful and sweet-spirited. In his home, as a family man, he was affectionate, kind, and full of love; yet always ruled his own household well.

Dennis Callahan was born near Mount Orab, O., Nov. 24, 1819. He died in Willsborough, O., May 6, 1886. When about sixteen years of age, he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1846 he was married to Miss Sarah H. Wright. He was admitted in 1853 into the Cincinnati Conference, and stationed at Sinking Springs, where he remained two years. His subsequent fields of labor were: Buena Vista, Winchester, West Union, Moscow, New Lexington, and Lynchburg Circuits. Health failing, he asked for, and was granted a superannuated relation. Locating at Willsborough, he resumed the practice of medicine, which he followed with eminent success for sixteen years. A severe stroke of paralysis occurring, Sept. 3, 1881, unfitted him for active work, though pastors often sent for him to preach as formerly. After an interval of nearly five years, during which his strength had gradually failed, a second stroke rendered him wholly unfit for any professional work. He lingered a while, when death came to his relief. Brother Callahan was a good, genial Christian man, a sensible preacher, a safe pastor. His memory will long live, and will be cherished in many hearts.

Alabama Conference.

JOHN S. BLAIR was born June 14, 1858, in Nashville, Tenn. He was a living example of the hallowed teachings and godly living of his devoted parents, who were waiting to welcome him into the heavenly home. He moved to Alabama in July, 1880, and became a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He joined the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church on trial in 1883, and was appointed principal of Andrews Institute. In 1885 he was admitted into full connection and ordained deacon. Brother Blair was a very excellent young man, with more than ordinary preaching ability, and was a superior teacher. He filled up his short life with kindest deeds and great usefulness, and will be remembered only as an example of heroic effort and pure devotion to the interest of Christ's kingdom. On the 11th day of August, 1886, he passed away in great peace and complete triumph of faith, rejoicing in Jesus as the "Mighty to save."

West Wisconsin Conference.

JAMES HIGHTSHOE was born in Licking County, O., April 28, 1835. In the fall of 1837 the family removed to Hendricks County, Ind., where they remained until the spring of 1843, when they went to Green County, Wis. He was converted at the age of seventeen, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. At the age of nineteen he felt a call to the ministry, which was so clear and distinct that he never for a moment, to the day of his death, doubted its divine validity. In 1856 he joined the Wisconsin Conference on trial, and was appointed to Black Earth Circuit as junior preacher. Here he remained one year, when he was appointed to Wyoming Circuit, where he remained two years, during which time he was ordained deacon by Bishop Morris. Desiring a better mental preparation for the work, he was granted a supernumerary relation to attend school. After two years of study he was re-admitted and appointed to Jamestown Circuit, where, July 29, 1862, he married Miss Caroline E. Williams. In 1863 he was ordained elder, by Bishop Janes, and appointed to State Line. After two years he removed to Fayette, where, during the second year, his health failed. On New Year's Eve, 1866, he preached his last sermon in the regular work. During the following summer he went to Indiana, and from there to Missouri, hoping to regain his health. Disappointed in this, he returned to Wisconsin, where he remained until 1875, when he removed to Marble Rock, Ia. His years of active ministry were few. Among all his crosses the greatest to him was that of being deprived of the blessed privilege of laboring for the Master.

HENRY DOCKHAM was born in Ogdensburg, N. Y., March 16, 1826. He married Miss Lois Landon, of Brockville, Canada, in 1847, who has ever been a patient, worthy toiler in the Master's vineyard. He was licensed a local preacher in 1848, and in July of the same year was employed as junior preacher on a circuit. At Farmersville, in 1849, he was admitted on trial in the Bay of Quinte Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, in which he graduated into the eldership in four years. When the Ontario Annual Conference was formed his lot fell within its bounds. He proved himself a successful laborer from the commencement. After serving a term as presiding elder his health failed, and for many years he could do but partial work, still he managed to fill some of the best charges in his Conference. In 1869 he was transferred to the Niagara Conference. His health not improving, he came to Monroe, Wis., in 1873, and settled in business. Here he regained good health, and in 1878 joined the West Wisconsin Conference, and has since served as pastor of Black Earth, Dodgeville, Lancaster, River Falls, and Prescott; where, after only a few months' toil, he "fell asleep in Jesus" on April 24, 1886. He pursued his work during the day and retired to rest as usual. At about one o'clock in the night he complained to his wife of being very ill, and in about an hour he was dead. There was no loss of time between labor and reward. He was a man of good talent, which enabled him to rise above all the disadvantages of his youth. His convictions were exceedingly deep, hence he was always positive in his acts. His mind was closely logical and capable of tracing the most minute distinctions. He toiled well and long, and the Master has given him rest in the better home.

EDWARD MCGINLEY was of Irish birth and Roman Catholic parentage. He was born in 1813, near Londonderry. When eighteen years of age he removed to New Brunswick, united with the church of his choice, and was licensed as an exhorter. In 1848 he moved into the State of Massachusetts, was ordained deacon by Bishop Simpson, and continued his ministry as a local preacher, and was successful in winning men to Christ. In 1852 he removed to the State of Wisconsin. In 1864 he was admitted on trial in the West Wisconsin Conference, and in 1866 was received into full membership. The following is a list of the appointments which he received from Conference: Cadiz, Delton, Murrimere, Montford, State Line, Belmont, Providence, Patch Grove, Brereton, and Poynette. In 1878 he took a supernumerary relation. In 1879 he was made effective, and appointed to Orion, Juda, and Mount Sterling. In 1883 he was appointed to Alma Center, but ill health prevented his going. In 1884 he was granted a superannuated relation, and settled at Brodhead. The following spring he moved to Monroe, and supplied the Monroe Circuit. Though in feeble health and subject to attacks of severe prostration, he met most of his appointments, won universal sympathy and respect, and greatly benefitted the people to whom he preached. Knowing his physical condition, it was a surprise that he asked for a field of labor. He secured one, which soon became a field of rest. The Conference continued his superannuated relation and appointed him to Avoca. The work of moving, and the demands of a large circuit were too much for his enfeebled health. Early in the winter he was taken sick and was soon confined to the house. His health continued to fail as the winter rolled on. After months of patient suffering, during which he often ministered instruction and comfort to such members of his flock as were able to visit him, he fell asleep in Jesus on Thursday, May 15, 1886, at the age of seventy-three.

Rock River Conference.

JAS. R. GOODRICH was born in Swanton Falls, Vt., in 1805. He was converted in the eighteenth year of his age. He recognized his call to the ministry, and entered the New York Conference in 1828, where he continued his labors until 1835. In 1837 he was transferred to the Illinois Conference and stationed in Milwaukee. He was for three years presiding elder of Green Bay District, and superintendent of missions. In 1844 he was appointed to the Chicago District. After many years of faithful and successful service in this Conference, this willing servant of the Church was overtaken by sickness, and was obliged, most unwillingly, to drop out of the active ministry, which he did in 1866, from which time he has been a superannuated member of the Conference, but has never made any claim on the superannuated fund. Since 1866 he has made his home in Dubuque, Ia. He was refined in his tastes and manners, a scholarly, pure, accomplished Christian gentleman, and an honored minister of Christ. After years of physical suffering, on March 15, 1886, he quietly and peacefully passed into the service of the Church triumphant.

William Patterson Jones was born in Wilmington, Del., June 21, 1801. When about eighteen years of age he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at Newark, Del. He began to exhort almost immediately after he joined the church, spending most of his evenings in conducting prayer-meetings and class-meetings in the neighborhood. On June 2, 1822, the next day after he was twenty-one years of age, he received a formal license to exhort. His zeal in helping to organize new classes, which in time grew into new churches, attracted the attention of his brethren, and led them to urge him to take a local preacher's license. On March 24, 1827, he was licensed by the Philadelphia District Conference to preach. In 1824 he was married to Ursula Linderman, who proved a most loving and faithful wife in all the vicissitudes of life. In 1848 he joined the Rock River Conference. He continued in the active work of the ministry for over twenty-five years, filling, among others, such appointments as Rockford, Marengo, Elgin, Ashton, Malta and Waukegan, in all of which places his memory is still precious. He also had charge of the Woman's College at Evanston, Ill., for two years. His hand was in every good work, encouraging the establishment of libraries and literary societies for the young, or organizing and building up every social and religious means of improvement that the mind could devise. After continuing faithfully in the ministry until 1873 he felt it his duty to cease from the active work and take a superannuated relation. He died in Mount Morris on March 29, 1886. Like a sheaf of wheat fully ripe, he has been gathered into the heavenly garner.

Benjamin Close was born March 11, 1821, in Sullivan, Loraine County, O. In 1840 he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1848 he united with the Wisconsin Conference, was ordained deacon and elder by Bishop Morris at the same Conference, held at Southport, Wis., and was transferred for mission work to Oregon, where he labored successfully for several years. Returning East in 1855, he joined the Rock River Conference, and served the appointments of Kaneville, Naperville, Fulton, Polo, Morrison, Sterling, Hadley, Blue Island, Fulton again, Baileyville, Platteville, Channahon, Byron, Scales Mound, Arlington, Paw Paw, West Paw Paw, Belvidere, First Church; and at the last session of our Conference was appointed to Blaine, where he laid down his work and life, March 27, 1886. In 1861 he took a supernumerary relation for one year. An excellent preacher, a good pastor, a hard worker, looking well to the temporal as well as the spiritual interests of the work, always leaving his work better than he found it, having a special faculty for building up and improving church property, Brother Close was a man of clear perceptions, and had the courage to maintain his convictions. During his last sickness he said, "All is well with my soul."

William Potter Gray was born in Cambridgeshire, Eng., June 17, 1813, and died Aug. 3, 1886, at Elgin, Ill. He was reared a farmer. At eighteen he was converted and became a Wesleyan. In 1834 he came to America, and in June, 1837, was admitted on trial in Troy Conference; was ordained by Bishop Elijah Hedding, June 9, 1839. His appointments in the Troy Conference were: Bennington, Pittstown, Argyle, Pawlet, Benson, Castleton, Chatham, Keesville, North Adams, Dalton, Lansingburg. In 1856 he moved to Ela, Lake County, Ill., where he lived one year, and in September, 1857, joined the Rock River Conference, and was successively appointed to Belvidere, Court Street; Rockford, Aurora, Elgin, Court Street again, Joliet, Morris, Joliet District, Rockford District, Turner Junction, Wheaton, Waukegan. Oct. 10, 1881, at his request, he was granted a supernumerary relation, in which he continued until his death. His illness was of at least two years' duration, although he was confined to his room but a few days. He met death fearlessly. His end was peace. A brother greatly beloved by his colleagues, honored by the younger ministers, and gladly received and trusted by the churches, he is in death deeply lamented. He was a close student of books, especially of the Bible. He was grave without moroseness, candid without unkindness, faithful without severity, cheerful without frivolity. A vein of quiet, refined humor and quaintness ran through even his weightier efforts, imparting a genial flavor to all his discourses. He was a man of strong convictions. "He believed what he preached, and he preached what he believed." In the pulpit he was master, in the conference honored and trusted, in council wise and discreet, in society pure and genial, in the home beloved, in heaven—we trust—glorified.

North-west Iowa Conference.

George C. Haddock was born in Watertown, N. Y., in 1831. His parents were staunch members of the Methodist Episcopal Church; thus, in early life, he was brought under strong religious influences, and at the age of fourteen was clearly converted to God, and united with the Church. At the age of twenty-one he was licensed to exhort by Rev. James Jameson, of the Ohio Conference. In a short time a local preacher's license was granted him, and he preached as opportunity afforded while pursuing his secular calling. He was married on Feb. 4, 1852, to Miss Cornelia Herrick, who proved herself worthy, in every respect, to be the companion of such a noble man. Yielding to the urgent advice of others, he entered the ministry as a supply, and was sent to fill out an unfinished year at Port Washington. His next appointment was at Clinton. Here he served the church successfully for two years. From Clinton he went to Waukesha. His ability as an able reasoner and an eloquent expounder of the word attracted general attention, and made him conspicuous among his brethren, many of whom were giants in those days. His next appointment was Oshkosh, at that time one of the best in the Conference. Here he became noted for his ability in exposing the hypocrisy and corruption of society, his denunciations of the saloon system, and his deep sympathy for the erring and the helpless. It was while pastor at Oshkosh that the Holy Ghost, in a wonderful and powerful manner, sanctified his nature, and imparted unto him the baptism of fire. Under its inspiration he led scores, and, if we remember aright, hundreds of precious souls to the Saviour. He really became the Chrysostom of Wisconsin Methodism. Others exceed him in breadth of scholarship, and in culture, but for power in presenting the truth of the Gospel, and mightily moving the people, he had no equal in Wisconsin. In October, 1867, he went from Oshkosh to Ripon, where he remained two years as pastor, and while there became extensively known as a disputer with Spiritualists. From Ripon he went to Appleton, the seat of Lawrence University. While there, his great ability became more than ever recognized. From Appleton he went to Fond du Lac, Division Street, and after serving as pastor for two years was appointed by Bishop Merrill presiding elder of the Fond du Lac District. This broadened his field of activity, over which he swept like a storm, striking terrific blows for truth and temperance. He was frequently threatened, several times waylaid, and at Sheboygan Falls, in the spring of 1874, was assaulted with deadly intent by three armed hirelings of the saloon, who, after a short but terrible encounter, fled, routed and dismayed, leaving one of their number wounded and their weapons on the field. In this encounter Brother Haddock received wounds the effects of which he carried until his death. His next appointments were: Racine, Appleton, Algoma Street; Oshkosh, Milwaukee, Asbury Church; and Bayview. In 1882 he was transferred by Bishop Wiley to the Iowa Conference, and stationed at Burlington. He remained there one year; was granted a location of his own request, that he might enter fully the temperance work, but at the earnest solicitation of Bishop Simpson allowed his name to be presented to this Conference for re-admission; was re-admitted and stationed at Fort Dodge. Here he remained two years, and at the last session of this Conference was stationed at Sioux City, where he toiled, as only heroes can toil, until the third of August, 1886, and while on his way home, at ten o'clock at night, was approached from the shadows and the rear by a cowardly assassin, whose conduct and character no language can justly describe—an employee of the saloon—and shot down, in cold blood, upon the street, and thus ceased at once to work and live.

Minnesota Conference.

Thomas M. Gossard was born in Ross County, O., Aug. 13, 1824, and died in San Jose, Cal., Jan. 2, 1886. He was converted when seventeen, and commenced his ministry three years later in the Ohio Conference. He came to Minnesota Conference in 1856. Twelve years were spent in Hudson, Minneapolis, Hastings, Red Wing, Wabasha, Lake City, Winnebago City, and Northfield, and fourteen on the districts named: Winona, Owatonna, Saint Paul, and Minneapolis. In 1882, with impaired health, he asked a supernumerary relation. In 1884, not so well nor so hopeful, he asked to be made superannuated. A letter from him reached the last Conference, bearing his love to all, and intimating his purpose to try the climate of California. November 4 the family left Minneapolis for San Jose, Cal. He reached there in feeble condition, and did not rally, but gradually grew weaker. On Saturday, January 2, about ten o'clock, he asked that the door might be opened, as it was difficult to breathe. His head was seen to droop, and they thought he had fainted. Without a struggle, shudder, or sigh, his spirit had gone. He was a man of fine presence, naturally noble and dignified. As a preacher he was able, logical, soundly orthodox, practical, and well acquainted with the standards of Methodism. His talents fitted him for district work; he was a good presiding officer, prompt and systematical, and has made a good record. He will be long remembered as a presiding elder. Some of his efforts were grand, and occasionally overwhelming. Twice his brethren honored him with a seat in the General Conference. He was no schemer for place or position. He was not a policy man. He had convictions upon all issues of the day. He did not conceal, but frankly gave expression, so that all knew what he thought. He was transparent and frank almost to a fault. He was a good man, powerful in prayer, and in the final day multitudes will rise up and call him blessed, and own him as the instrument of their salvation.

Thomas C. Stringer was born in Indiana in 1836. Early feeling a call to the ministry, he yielded to the demand, and after some preparation joined the North-west Indiana Conference in 1859. For twenty-four years, consecutively, he continued in that Conference as an effective member. He served, in all, seven circuits and eight stations, rising to a good rank among his brethren. By studious habits and regular application he became a sound theologian, and was well informed in current literature; a thoroughly loyal minister of the gospel, faithful in all the duties of pastor. Always frail in body, he found at last that his disease was mastering him; he yielded to advice, and transferred to the Minnesota Conference in 1882. He was appointed to Fairbault, and was reappointed the next year. In this charge he made full proof of his ministry. Much of the time unable to do full work, he was yet mainly instrumental in the removal of a heavy church debt and in making extensive improvements on the church. In January, 1884, his strength became so impaired that he was forced to resign his charge. From that time until his death, March 27, 1886, more than two years, he waited with patience for the summons to depart, and when it came, met it with eager willingness to be gone.

Boyd Phelps died at his home at Morris, Minn., March 17, 1886, in his eighty-second year. He was born in Tyrrell County, N. C., Oct. 15, 1804. In 1829 he was admitted on trial into the Illinois Conference, which at that time embraced the two States of Illinois and Indiana. In 1831 he was received into full connection, and ordained deacon by Bishop Roberts, and two years later was ordained elder by Bishop Soule. He was ever in the front rank of itinerant pioneers, until broken health compelled him to locate in 1838. He returned to the work in 1851, and was appointed presiding elder of the Fox River District in the Wisconsin Conference. He served as chaplain to the Wisconsin Senate during its first session. He was again compelled to leave the effective ministry, and in 1856 removed to Mower County, Minn., where he was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and of the State Senate at its first session. He entered the Minnesota Conference in 1859, and rendered good service until advancing age compelled him to take a superannuated relation six years ago. His was a life of singular sweetness and purity. He professed perfect love, and his outward life was in beautiful harmony with his profession. His faith was strong and simple, and "he walked with God." He combined, in a remarkable degree, the dignity and strength of a noble manhood with a child-like simplicity. Having lived to a good old age, he contemplated his departure with cheerful calmness. His last recorded words, uttered in view of his approaching end, were: "I think some of these fine mornings I shall pass over." He was loved and revered by all classes.

William Merwin Bowdish was born at West Hartwick, Otsego County, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1843, and was called to his coronation from Chatfield, Minn., on Easter Sunday morning, April 25, 1886, aged forty-three years. He was admitted to the Minnesota Conference on trial at the Conference of 1867, when he was stationed at Alexandria, and in 1868 at Grove Lake. He was ordained deacon at Minneapolis, by Bishop Scott, in 1869, and stationed at Greenleaf. In 1870 he was stationed at Money Creek. He was ordained elder at Mankato, by Bishop Simpson, in 1871, and stationed at Plainview, then at Saint Charles, Caledonia, Lenora, Preston, and Fillmore. Zumbrota was his last charge, where he ministered from 1882 to 1884. In 1885 he was supernumerary. This was his hardest appointment. He was sensitive, nervous, inquisitive, persevering, and impulsive. His perceptions were quick, his intuitions keen, and his memory remarkably tenacious. He was a very generous man—generous almost to a fault. He was a good preacher, much better than the grade of his appointments would seem to indicate. He aimed at strength, beauty, and effect in his preaching. He had a fine vocabulary, and was a fluent and easy speaker.

William Henning was born in the County of Cornwall, Eng., in 1829, and came with his parents to this country when about ten years of age. About the year 1875 he felt moved to give himself entirely to the ministry of the Gospel, and was received on trial in the Minnesota Conference in October, 1876. His first appointment was at Janesville, his last one was Currie and Fulda. He served seven charges in the Conference. In 1881 he was granted a supernumerary relation. He moved near Tracy, where he died Jan. 12, 1886. Brother Henning was successful in winning souls to Christ on every charge. Although he was a superannuated man, he preached to the people only a few weeks before his death.

Nebraska Conference.

D. W. Gage was born in Pennsylvania, Dec. 5, 1803. At the age of twenty-one he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. Four years afterward he entered the ministry, and labored in the following Conferences: New York, Genesee, Illinois, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, and Nebraska. He came to Nebraska in 1855, serving the Nebraska City Charge one year. Here he commenced the erection of the first Methodist Episcopal Church in Nebraska. At the close of the year he located, and continued in that relation for a number of years. In advanced life he again entered the traveling ranks, continuing to do active work until failing health compelled him to take a superannuated relation. He was married to Miss Sarah Schoonmaker, Jan. 1, 1833, who died in 1862. Brother Gage died in peace and triumph, Nov. 20, 1885. He was a minister of good preaching ability, and very successful in every department of church work.

W. E. Davis was born in Spencer County, Ind., in 1836, and died in Evansville, Ind., Feb. 27, 1886. In 1867 he joined the Indiana Conference, and served the following charges: Prairieton, West Franklin, Poseyville, Washington Circuit, New Lebanon, Staunton, Putnamville, Gosport, New Harmony, Fort Branch, Ingle Street, Evansville; Sullivan, Martinsville, and Newburg. In 1881 he was transferred to the Nebraska Conference and appointed to Wahoo. In 1882 he took a supernumerary relation. In September following he was employed by the presiding elder of the Evansville District to supply Simpson Chapel and Ridge. In 1861 Brother Davis enlisted in the Twenty-seventh Regiment of Indiana Volunteers and was appointed captain of a company. He was six months a prisoner in Andersonville and Libby. "He was one of the most popular and well-known men in his regiment—a braver, truer soldier never drew sword in defense of his country," writes one acquainted with his record. Brother Davis was an eloquent preacher, and his memory will long be cherished by the only church he served in the Nebraska Conference.

Thomas S. Gross was born in Monroe County, Mo., March 1, 1859; converted when fourteen years old, soon after joining the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1883 he was licensed to exhort; in the spring of 1884 licensed to preach, and received on trial by the Saint Louis Conference at Kansas City, and appointed to Medoc Circuit, which he served till September, 1885, the time of his transfer to Nebraska Conference and appointment to Doniphan. On this charge he entered upon his work with great earnestness and large promises for a year of great success. His first round was not completed before he was prostrated with the fatal illness. Of his work in Missouri, Rev. I. J. K. Lunbeck says: "He was an earnest and faithful worker, and tried to do all the work of a Methodist preacher."

Central New York Conference.

John D. Adams, D.D., was born at North Manlius, N. Y., Nov. 26, 1832, and died at Lebanon, Ill., Nov. 30, 1885. In 1855 he was admitted on trial to Black River Conference, and appointed to Williamstown. This charge he served one year, and labored two years at each of the following places: Euclid, Geddes, Little Falls, and Fulton. His next field was Watertown, where his health failed, and he was obliged to desist from preaching. For awhile he was engaged as agent of Genesee College, but the work was far from being to his taste—he longed for the pastorate; and as soon as he felt able he accepted the invitation of Centenary Church, Binghamton, where he labored a year. The next six years were divided between First Church, Syracuse, and Delaware Avenue, Buffalo. Subsequently he served Ames Chapel, New Orleans, and Erie, Pa. In 1879 he was appointed to University Avenue Church, Syracuse, where he preached three years. His feeble state of health, however, again necessitated rest, and at the expiration of his last-named pastorate he was granted a supernumerary relation. This occurred in 1882, and in this relation he was continued as a member of his Conference (Central New York) until his death. In the fall of 1884 he was induced to try a milder climate, and in compliance with Bishop Foster's suggestion he consented to supply Lebanon, Ill., the seat of McKendree College. Though he had occupied the pulpit in this place but a little over one year, he had endeared himself to the entire community. He preached as only a God-commissioned man can preach; and the people hung upon his ministry as upon the words of an angel. Never can his burning words, his thrilling thoughts, or his living pictures be erased or forgotten. Naturally of a delicate constitution, Dr. Adams had for many years been a great sufferer with asthma, and to this there had lately been added a disease of the heart. A combined attack proved too much for his feeble system, and hence the sudden and unexpected close of his days upon earth.

David C. Dutcher was a supernumerary member of the Central New York Conference. He died at his home near the village of Cortland, Jan. 12, 1886. He was born at Newburg, N. Y., Jan. 23, 1823. He was admitted on trial to the Oneida Conference, Aug. 1, 1851, at the session held in Ithaca. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Simpson, July 24, 1853. He was married to Miss Henrietta Crawley, a daughter of Abner Crawley, January, 1851, in Walton, Delaware County, N. Y. Two sons were the fruit of their marriage, both of whom entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The charges served by Brother Dutcher are as follows in their order: Decatur, Springfield, Lawrence, Gilbertsville, Green, Preble, McGrawville, Groton. He then served in the army until the close of the war, nearly one year, and as the Conference met before his relations with the Government as Chaplain were ended he could not serve the appointment to which he was assigned. He then took a supernumerary relation for one year. His service then continued as follows: Scott, Freeville, North Lansing, Gilberts Mills. His appointment was nominally the Valley, but there being no place for him to live at the Valley, and no opportunity seeming to open for work, he betook himself to the Hill, occupying an ancient structure, which would have been considered too hard but for the self-sacrificing devotion of his courageous wife. Meanwhile he preached in the Dutch Reformed Church and was successful in revival work during the year, thus lying the foundation of a society afterward regularly formed. From thence his work went on: Cardiff, Wayne, Chemung, Owasco, Savannah, and Fabius. Here he began to show signs of the trouble which was the immediate cause of his death. He would occasionally preach or hold services in the village or surrounding school districts, being under appointment to preach on the Sabbath, when the fatal stroke of apoplexy laid him low.

George Loomis, D.D., was born in Attica, N. Y., June 30, 1817, and died at Clifton Springs, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1886. In early youth our departed brother gave his heart to God, and devoted his time and powers to preparation for usefulness by a thorough education. He was graduated with honor at the Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. After his graduation he returned to Lima and engaged in teaching as a professor of the institution. The Rev. Schuyler Seager had sustained the presidency for seven years with great prosperity. In 1844 he retired, and Professor Loomis was elected his successor. After three years of marked success at the head of the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, he accepted the Chaplaincy of the American Seamen's Friend Society at Canton, China, where he served three years with eminent usefulness. In 1852 he accepted a call to the presidency of Wilmington Female College, a flourishing institution in the State of Delaware, where he remained five prosperous and happy years. From Wilmington Brother Loomis was called to the presidency of Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. In that institution he remained fifteen years, during which the college rose in popularity, patronage, and financial ability. It has been justly said that "in breadth of scholarship, in tact and sagacity as an administrator and disciplinarian, and in personal influence with public and private men, Brother Loomis proved himself the peer of any college president in our Church. At length, feeling compelled to seek rest and recuperation, he retired to Clifton Springs. As soon as his health would allow, he became enlisted in developing a favorite idea of Dr. H. Foster of the Sanitarium, that of founding a non-denominational, but in the best sense religious, female college. That institution, under the name of the Foster School, was effectively organized and successfully conducted by Brother Loomis for a period of ten years. As a teacher, he exerted a pre-eminently pure and inspiring influence, so that hundreds and even thousands of students have had occasion to remember with gratitude his influence on their lives and characters. As a Christian minister he was dignified, able, and true to every doctrine and interest of the Church of his choice. His religious character was proved by every act of his life. It was severely tested by protracted feebleness and suffering during the final decline of his health. But during all his sickness he was blessed with great spiritual peace and complete submission to the will of God. While relieved from all anxiety to live, he calmly rested on Christ in a perfect readiness to die.

John H. Hall was born in Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 24, 1819. In 1841 he joined Oneida Conference, and was appointed to Clinton, N. Y. This little church was quadrupled in membership during his pastorate. To the people of Clinton his name is as "ointment poured forth." Here he met her who was subsequently his companion—Julia A. Gillespie—whom he married in June, 1844. For eighteen years Brother Hall has been a resident of Cazenovia. Six of those years he served charges in the vicinity of his home. Failing health came, and for twelve years he was an honored superannuated minister. In the fall of 1885 he had a serious illness, from which he temporarily, but never fully, recovered. Several months preceding his death he suffered much pain. In this furnace he tested the keeping power of God. He came down to death in full possession of his mental powers. This, united with his deep spiritual experience, made his sick room "the gate of heaven." Brother Hall will live longest in the memory of men in his saintliness. His mature life was a commentary upon the psalmist's words, "Thy gentleness hath made me great." Many bear testimony to his grace of character. He was mighty in prayer. His sublime pleading with God for men reminded the devout worshiper of the masterly intercessions of Abraham and Elijah.

Thomas D. Wire was born in Goshen, Litchfield County, Conn., May 7, 1809. In 1836, at Binghamton, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Waugh, and in 1838 he was ordained elder by Bishop Morris. He served successively the following charges in the order named: Broome Circuit, Green, Bainbridge, Slaterville, Groton, Lisle, Speedsville, Union, Broome, Osborn Hollow, Page Brook, Freetown, McGrawville, Cincinnatus, Dryden, Montezuma, Ledyard, Groton again, and Willett. He served in most of these charges his full constitutional term. At the Spring Conference of 1865, he took a supernumerary relation and moved to Auburn, intending to settle there as his home. But he was ill at ease, and soon accepted an application to supply the Cayuga Charge, and from there he was removed to Owasco, Mich., which was his last pastoral charge. In June, 1838, he was married to Miss Nancy B. Cobb. In the spring of 1870, he was superannuated, and fixed his residence at Evanston, where he finished his course. Brother Wire was grave and serious in his bearing. His mind was clear and discriminating. His judgment was sound and trustworthy. He was discreet and prudent, yet firm in his administration. He was a man of one work and gave himself wholly to it. His health had failed gradually from 1880; he ran down rapidly. Oftentimes he was in great pain, but he endured with much patience. He was present at public service on the day before his death, the thermometer ranging twenty degrees below zero. In the evening he told to his family some of his experiences and labors; read for evening worship the one hundred and thirty-second Psalm; sang his favorite evening hymn, "Thus far the Lord hath led me on," etc. He retired for the night and slept well till nearly four o'clock, when he was up for a few moments, and then retiring to his bed again soon sank away into everlasting rest. His death was instantaneous, but apparently painless, caused by paralysis of the heart, and occurred on the morning of Jan. 11, 1886, in the seventy-seventh year of his age.

John T. Brownell was born at Castile, N. Y., Aug. 24, 1836, and died at Tangerine, Fla, May 26, 1886. He joined the East Genesee Conference in the fall of 1865. He was appointed successively to the following charges: Towanda, Naples, Bath, Lima, Warsaw, Geneseo, Lyons, Mansfield, Auburn, where after a short month he met his great trial in the loss of his wife. Still he toiled bravely on until by failing strength he was forced to resign his charge, to the great regret of the church which had already learned enough of his worth to appreciate its loss. On the charges where his work was well known, at Towanda, Mansfield, Geneseo, and Auburn, he won and held the best minds of the community with increasing interest. His great heart and influence went beyond church lines and made friends for himself and his Master. He was at home among the richest and the lowliest. His personality as a pastor was felt. In many homes his name is affectionately spoken, and the shadow of his death will there fall with great sorrow.

John W. Brown was born June 12, 1833, in the town of Wheeler, Steuben County, N. Y., and he died of apoplexy, June 11, 1886, in Branchport, Yates Co., N. Y., aged fifty-three years. Brother Brown was a licensed exhorter in the Methodist Episcopal Church before he enlisted in the Union army in August, 1862; he returned home, and enlisting again in 1863 he was commissioned a lieutenant and served in the army until the close of the war. He was a private in the One Hundred and Seventh Regiment, New York State Volunteers, and in the One Hundred and Eighty-ninth Regiment he was a commissioned officer. He was brave, loved, and honored as a soldier. He was married Nov. 12, 1853, to Miss Rebecca P. Hadden, of Pultney, Steuben County, N. Y. The following charges were favored and helped by his service: Italy Hollow, Reading Center, North Chemung, Milo Center, Orleans, Reading Center again, Wayne, and Fairville. At the last session of his Conference he consented to go to Montezuma, where his prudent and wise course was working desired results. He has suddenly fallen. He was stricken in his carriage as he and his wife were leaving Branchport on their way to Montezuma after visiting his friends, and in about twenty-five hours passed the gate of pearl, washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb. Brother Brown was a true and faithful man. His pulpit work was instructive and scriptural; his pastoral work was kind, painstaking, and comforting; his life and spirit adorned his confession of Christ and his call to the ministry; his ministry was fruitful in comfort to the friends of righteousness and reproof to sin and sinners; he gathered souls to Christ and sheaves to the garner of our Lord, who has received him to prepared mansions.

Franklin Ball, D.D., died at Towanda, Pa., Saturday, July 31, 1886. He was born in Fairfax County, Va., in October, 1823. Early in life Franklin gave his heart to God, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Fairfax Chapel, Va. In 1846 he was married to Miss Mary Catharine Dulaney, of Dumfries, Va., who, with a daughter, Mrs. Anna B Hurnes, survives him. He joined West Virginia Conference in 1856, and was appointed to Grantsville Circuit, in Western Maryland. Here, though in his first year bereaved of his father and two of his own children, he urged on the Lord's battle till the close of his two years. His next appointment was Brandonville Circuit, W. Va., where he remained two years; among other achievements, building a new church at Brewston. After two years on Morgantown Circuit and one on Kingswood, he was stationed at North Street, Wheeling, where he remained three years. Thence he was removed to East Wheeling, virtually missionary ground. He organized the congregation, and succeeded in building Jane Street Church, and at the end of three years turning over the charge as one of the most desirable in the Conference. His battle shout is next heard at Triadelphia, six miles out from Wheeling. He raised money enough to free the parsonage from debt and build a beautiful two story brick church, which he occupied during his last year. Thence he was sent to Charleston, the capital. Though his stay was but a year, he remodeled the parsonage, and succeeded in getting a commodious new brick church under roof, dedicating the basement. His next appointment was to the presiding eldership of Wheeling District, where during his four years he proved the same indefatigable minister of our Lord. At the end he consented to exchange with Dr. A. C. George, who was desired at Fourth Street, Wheeling, and thenceforward his labors were in Central New York Conference, his appointments being: Phœnix, Marcellus, Elmira, and Towanda. At Marcellus he freed the church from debt. At Main Street, Elmira, he erected a new church, which he occupied the third year, the name being changed to Centenary. But here his health began to fail; his robust constitution had been almost imperceptibly undermined by his thirty years' toil, and now he was made aware that recuperative power was on the wane. Still, the very next Conference the old itinerant appeared in battleline, awaiting orders; but his health failed as the Conference year advanced, he persisting in preaching when hardly able to walk to the church and when his voice was almost inaudible. Brother Ball was a preacher of holiness, both by precept and example. He was a man of good presence, sweet spirit, and gentle manners.

Stephen Crosby Hatmaker died of pneumonia at the parsonage in Troy, Pa., May 15, 1886, aged forty-seven years. In the spring of 1874, when thirty-five years old, he accepted work under the presiding elder. There was ever with him a realization that he had lost time, and this linked a sense of hurry with his thoroughness, making an intensity that characterized his work as pastor and Christian teacher at Potter, Pultneyville, Marion, Branchport, Havana, and Troy, Pa., and as well as a student in the Conference course and in Conference work. He was converted when about twenty years old, and was a Methodist, and so joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was as thorough in his Methodism as in any thing else. As an administrator he was careful, and glad to do his work as the Church directs. He did not himself realize how the zeal of the Lord's house was eating him up. If he had, no doubt he would have done the same. He had a well-balanced mind, studious habits, systematic methods, urbanity, industry, and sincere devotion to his work. In his home he was a Christian gentleman, a devoted, helpful husband, a loving and self-sacrificing father.

Frederick J. Whitney was born in Alexandria, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1825, and died in Fairville, N. Y., May 12, 1886. During his childhood his parents moved to Watertown, New York, where at about twenty-five years of age he was gloriously converted at the altar of State Street Methodist Episcopal Church, during the pastorate of Rev. E. Arnold, and licensed to exhort by Rev. F. H. Stanton in the early part of 1853. He received license to preach the following year. In the year 1855 he was recommended to the Black River Annual Conference, and for nearly thirty-three years, until the day of his death, proved himself to be a man of one work, wholly consecrated to the ministry of the word. His appointments were successively: New Bremen, Henderson, Brasher Falls, Louisville, Heuvelton, Jordan, Weedsport, Canastota, West Eaton, Chittenango, Manlius, Horseheads, Lysander, Dresden, East Palmyra, and Fairville. In 1882, on account of poor health, the Conference granted him a superannuated relation, and he spent the year at Clifton Springs. This was the only break in his ministry of over thirty-two years. He was married, December, 1845, to Miss Charlotte M. Smith, who died in 1849, leaving two children, a son and a daughter, the latter of whom is still living. Two years after he married Miss Adelia A. Smith, and in a few months he was called to mourn her death. On Sept. 24, 1854, he was joined in matrimony to Miss Amelia A. Cummings, of Watertown, with whom he walked in blissful union thirty-two years. Brother Whitney was a devoted husband, a kind, loving father, and an affectionate and true friend. To know him was to love and revere him. He was a faithful and conscientious pastor, ready to reprove, exhort, encourage, comfort, and instruct. He was an able preacher, rightly dividing the word and giving to all a portion in due season. His sermons were methodical, scriptural, pointed, and full of divine unction. They accomplished the great end of preaching by bringing souls to Christ. In all his charges he was successful. He was a man of one work. "Give me souls or else I die," was the cry of his earnest heart, and blessed revivals followed his faithful ministry.

Henry Fenton Spencer was born March 21, 1834, at Leyden, in the State of New York. He was converted at the age of seventeen, but made no public profession of religion until some years later, while attending the academy at Lowville, N. Y. At the latter place he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was there licensed to preach. In 1859 he entered the Concord Biblical Institute, at Concord, N. H, from which he graduated in 1862. During the latter part of his senior year at Concord he supplied the pulpit of the State Street Methodist Episcopal Church at Watertown, N. Y., pursuing his studies at the same time. He joined the Black River Conference in 1862, and was stationed at Watertown. April 23, 1863, he was married to Mary B. Weeks, who, with their only child, survives him. In 1863 he was appointed to Clayton, N. Y., where he remained three years, and was thence transferred to the Michigan Conference in the spring of 1866, from which time until the session of the Conference in the autumn of that year he supplied the church at Lansing. His appointments in the Michigan Conference were: Lansing, Jackson, Division Street, and Grand Rapids. At the session of 1875 he was appointed to Kalamazoo, where he remained three years, and was then transferred to the Central New York Conference and stationed at Elmira. He served as pastor of the churches at Elmira, Auburn, and Ithaca, and as presiding elder of the Cazenovia District one year, ill health compelling his retirement from the active work of the ministry in 1885. On Nov. 25, 1885, he was transferred from the church militant to the church triumphant. Brother Spencer was a man whose Christian life and character were so well rounded, that it is difficult to refer to his characteristics without seeming to give them undue prominence. As a preacher he was earnest, persuasive, fervent; and he was emphatically a preacher of the word. As a pastor he was faithful and efficient. His anxiety for the spiritual welfare of every member of his church was constant and unceasing. A tireless worker himself, he was no believer in a passive Christianity in others. The manner in which he conducted the weekly prayer-meeting made it rival the preaching service in attendance, interest, and spiritual results. If asked to name the one element in his character, as a man and as a minister of the gospel, which included all the rest, one would unhesitatingly answer, "Love to God and to his fellowmen." His life was one of constant obedience to the tender and touching, but authoritative, saying of our Saviour to his disciples, "This is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you."

North Carolina Conference.

Levi Hayes was born in Mecklenburg County in 1850. He departed this life June 6, 1886. He found saving faith in Christ when eighteen years of age, and was soon licensed as a local preacher. As such he preached the Gospel for eight years. Joining the traveling connection, he took Moore Circuit under M. G. Croom. He there served for three years. At the end of that time he took the Hamlet Circuit, which he was faithfully serving at the time of his death. Brother Hayes was one of the sweet singers of Israel, a good preacher, and a devoted husband. He was beloved by all with whom he came in contact. He leaves a loving wife to mourn his departure.

North Ohio Conference.

Francis M. Searles was born in Royalton, O., Feb. 22, 1840, and died from organic disease of the heart, in the city of Cleveland, Nov. 19, 1885, aged forty-five years. Dec. 16, 1863, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary E. Sperry, of North Eaton, who most cheerfully and serviceably shared with him all the toils and sacrifices of his itinerant life, and now mourns the loss of a most affectionate husband. In 1864 he was appointed by the presiding elder to fill a vacancy on Chesterville Circuit, Rev. John Whitworth preacher in charge. In 1865 he joined the North Ohio Conference, of which he was a member for more than twenty years. His appointments were as follows: Galena, Mount Vernon, Wellington, Norwalk, Bellevue, Franklin Street, Cleveland; Mansfield, Cleveland District, and Galion. Brother Searles was a man of no ordinary cast. He never failed to command the respect of all with whom he came in contact, and the reverence of most; yet it is due him to say that not all even of his intimate friends fully appreciated his worth or the possibilities of his natural endowment. He was timid and retiring, so that he did not impress himself as readily and fully as the beauty of his life, the fullness of his mind and the greatness of his soul warranted. As a preacher he was always thoughtful, instructive, clear, logical, and systematic in the construction of his discourses. He had some specific, definite object in each, and made all his preparations serve its presentation. He was choice in language, graceful in manner, reverent in spirit, commanding the most thoughtful attention of the most intelligent hearear. Brother Searles was a refined Christian gentleman. The purity of his mind, the delicacy of his nature and the profound reverence of his spirit were manifest every-where, even in the most intimate social relations as well as in the performance of more sacred duties. His cultivated taste, his self-poised nature, his love for the pure, noble, and elevating, his guarded thought and records, his dignified personal bearing, his humility, his regard for the feelings, views and preferences of his fellow-men, his faith in humanity, his profound reverence for the word, the church, the sanctuary, and his deep devotion to the great work to which he was called, are all worthy of our study and imitation. He was a close student of the mission and possibilities of the Church. He had enlarged views of its work and power. He loved to study its varied resources and complete adaptability to the wants of men. He was free from cramping processes of thought, all narrow prejudices and one-sided sympathies. His head, his heart, his hand, and his means went out into all the benevolences of the church. He was greatly imbued with the missionary spirit; he was the friend of education; he made all the collections a means of grace; he respected the preferences of age: he was patient, tender, and hopeful when confronted by the mistaken notions of the young; he knew the rich needed salvation; he loved to preach the Gospel to the poor and otherwise minister to their wants.

Frank A. Owen was born at Bellville, O., Nov. 4, 1855. He was converted at the age of fifteen years, and received into the church by his father, Rev. A. K. Owen. On Sept. 7, 1879, he was united in marriage to Miss Ella S. Haskins. He entered the North Ohio Conference in September, 1880, at Norwalk, on trial, having been licensed to preach in 1878, and was appointed to Sycamore Charge, where he and his estimable wife endeared themselves to the people in a very remarkable manner. After two years at Sycamore, he was appointed to North Liberty. His third charge was Olena, where his health began to fail, and where he rested from his ministerial labors for one year; after which, his health having improved, as he thought, he was appointed to East Townsend Charge. In December his health again began to decline, and it seemed to many that there must soon be a vacant chair in the home, and a vacant pulpit in the Sandusky District. He was a close student—was able to answer questions almost in the language of the author, and always stood at the head of his class. As a sermonizer, he had few superiors among us. He was one of the most excellent preachers of this Conference of his age and experience. As a husband and father he was kind, tender and affectionate. The Conference has lost a worthy member, and the church a master builder.

Joseph Jones was born in Otsego County, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1811. He was married to Miranda Briggs, April 15, 1832, came to Ohio in 1836, and soon after settled in Norwalk. In 1838 he was recommended to the Michigan Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which at that time included a large part of Northern Ohio. He was admitted on trial and appointed to Medina Circuit, and in 1839 to Brunswick Circuit. In 1840 the North Ohio Conference was formed; he remained within its bounds and was appointed to Brunswick, Wellington, Fitchville, Richwood, Perrysburg, Norwalk, Lower Sandusky, Fremont, Bellefontaine, and Republic. His health failing, in 1851 he took a supernumerary relation. Improving in health, and at the earnest solicitation of some of his brethren in the ministry, in 1852 he was appointed to Plymouth Circuit. His health again failed, and at the Conference of 1853 he was superannuated, and remained in that relation until he left the militant church to join the church triumphant. Clear in intellect, strong in faith, sweet in spirit, kind and winning in manner, he was a blessing to the churches he served and to the communities in which he lived. A safe counselor, a firm and reliable friend. Though an invalid for years, he passed away suddenly and unexpectedly.

Samuel Fairchild was born in Sussex County, N. J., June 29, 1807, and died in Bellevue, O., Oct. 25, 1885, aged seventy-eight years. While at Norwalk Seminary he was licensed an exhorter, and at Republic, Tiffin Circuit, on Aug. 5, 1842, he received a local preacher's license. In 1844 he was appointed, by Presiding Elder Shaffer, junior preacher on Wyandot Circuit, and in after years received and served the following appointments: Lower Sandusky, Bryan, Defiance, Evansport, Florence, North Amherst, Wellington, Dalton, Vermillion, Ontario, Jeromeville, Plymouth, Sulphur Springs, and Bellville. Prior to these he served the Pulaski and Bean Creek and Auglaise Missions, making in all twenty-five years of continuous service. In August, 1845, he was admitted on trial in the North Ohio Conference. In 1847 he was ordained deacon by Bishop Hamline, and in 1850, he was ordained elder by Bishop Ames. In 1847 he was married to Miss Eliza Jane Huestis. She died in Doylestown in 1854. In 1855 he was married to Mrs. Ann M. Ward, the widow of Rev. H. P. Ward. Brother Fairchild traveled upon circuits where the work was as hard as the North Ohio Conference afforded. Broken-down by severe sickness, he was compelled to ask for a superannuated relation in the Conference in 1865. From that time he lived in retirement in the beautiful town of Bellville. Brother Fairchild was in manner, reserved; in bearing, dignified; in friendship, true. His pulpit ministration was calculated to attract the thoughtful, rather than to arrest the heedless. The world was made better by his life; souls were saved through his ministry; wife and children rise up and call him blessed.

Elmore Y. Warner was born near Wooster, O., July 3, 1833, and died at Norwalk, O., July 6, 1886, aged fifty-three years. He was received on trial in the North Ohio Conference, at its session at Elyria, in 1857, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott, in Cleveland, in 1859. In 1860 he was appointed to Monroeville, and in 1861, at the Conference held at Millersburg, he was ordained elder by Bishop Janes, and appointed to Milan. He served in succession the following charges: Mount Eaton, Bellevue, Monroeville, Clyde, Bellevue again, Wellington; at the end of which time he was appointed presiding elder of Sandusky District, which position he occupied four years. At the end of his time on the district he was appointed to Galion, where he continued two years, and the following two years he was pastor at Berea. In 1881 he was appointed presiding elder of Mansfield District, in which he spent the last four years of his effective work. Though very feeble and greatly reduced at the close of the year, he came to the Conference held at Berea in 1885 cheerful and hopeful; and feeling that a year of rest might fully restore his health, he asked for a supernumerary relation. Early in the fall of 1885 he decided to make his home, during the time of his resting, with his former friends in Norwalk, where he received a cordial welcome, this having been his home during the time he was presiding elder of Sandusky District. Here he came to rest, and here he was received as a weary prophet of God by a loyal people who loved him very much. With a sad pleasure many loving friends gathered about him, and in substantial ways ministered to his wants. During all his slow but certain decline he was cheerful and hopeful, and often his loving heart turned longingly to the chosen work of his life, like a wounded soldier who forgets his suffering when in sight of the field of battle. His Christian experience was seldom marked by much ecstasy or joy, and yet his mind and heart were kept in quietness and peace.

Central Illinois Conference.

Joseph S. Millsap was born near Salem, Washington County, Ind., Dec. 29, 1828, and died near Healdsburg, California, June 22, 1886. We do not know the date of his conversion, but early in life he gave his heart to God, and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, unto which he was ever afterward most sincerely devoted, and in the ministry of which he spent one third of a century, thirty-one years of which were employed in the effective itinerant ranks. On Nov. 27, 1856, he was united in marriage with Miss Martha J. Beeson, of Canton, Ill. By division of the Conference in 1855 he became a member of Peoria, now Central Illinois, Conference, at which time he was received into full membership and ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. In 1857 he was ordained elder by Bishop Scott. His appointments were as follows: Blandinsville, Liverpool, Nauvoo, Brimfield, Princeville, Chillicothe and Rome, La Prairie Centre, and Lacon, to which he was re-appointed and from which, in January, 1864, he went into the army as chaplain of the Eighty-sixth Regiment of Illinois Volunteers. Returning from the field in 1865 he was appointed to Lexington, where he labored for three years, at the end of which time he was appointed presiding elder of Washington District, in which capacity he served four years. His subsequent appointments were Normal, Onarga, El Paso, Streator, Princeville, a second time, and Buda, at the end of which, at the Conference in 1884, because of failing health, he took the supernumerary relation, and soon after went to California in the hope that change of climate with proper treatment would restore his health. Heroically did he struggle against that dreadful disease, cancer, and at one time hoped that he had conquered, and entered again upon his chosen life work as pastor of Windsor, California; but soon the relentless foe renewed his terrible work of destruction, and again the Christian warrior sheathed his sword and sat down amid the gathering shadows of this life's border-land to wait for his summons to that land that is afar off. As a man his sympathy was of the broadest type, his friendship of the tenderest and strongest character.

Jonathan Walker Odell was born in Barnsville, Belmont County, O., Aug. 28, 1827, and died near Marseilles, in La Salle County, Ill., Jan. 22, 1886, in the fifty-eighth year of his age. In 1855 he was received as a probationer into the Rock River Conference, and was appointed to the Prophetstown Circuit, which he had served much of the previous year as a supply. In 1856 he was appointed to Chicken Grove. Aug. 30, 1857, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Scott, and appointed to Wheeling Circuit. At the close of this year his impaired health made it necessary for him to discontinue the active work of the ministry, and, fearing that he would not again be able to resume the "effective" relation in the ministry, he asked for a location, and settled in or near Geneseo, Ill. Change of avocation during the six succeeding years so much improved his health that he was urged to again enter the itinerancy, and in 1864 he was admitted on his "certificate of location" to the Central Illinois Conference, and was appointed to Deanington Circuit. In 1865 he served as pastor on the Atkinson and Annawan Charge, and was returned for the second year. In 1867 he went to Waupecan Circuit, embracing territory lying south of the Illinois River, adjacent to Seneca, Ill. This charge he served successfully three successive years. At the session of Conference in 1869 he was ordained elder by Bishop Thompson. He was appointed to Metamora in 1870, and to Deer Creek in 1871, which charge he served two years. In 1873 he was sent to Ottawa Circuit, covering territory now within the bounds of Grand Ridge Charge. During this year his health gave way so completely that he was necessitated to ask for a change of relation, and was placed on the superannuated list. This relation he justly sustained with great credit until his death. His life and faith were such as to command the esteem and sympathy of all who knew him. March 8, 1855, the year after he was licensed to preach, he was united in marriage to Miss Harriet, daughter of Rev. P. K. Hanna. Brother Odell was not a demonstrative man, but quietly lived and zealously labored in the vineyard of the Lord. Though not remarkably aggressive, he had successful revivals during his active ministerial life, and made himself useful in building and improving church property.

THOMAS HEAD was born in Highland County, O., July 24, 1814, and died at Bainbridge, O., March 31, 1886. At a camp-meeting he gave his heart to God under the ministry of George W. Maley and George W. Walker, men of precious memory in the Ohio Conference. His first great concern after his adoption into the heavenly family was for his kinsmen according to the flesh, and in this work, by his untiring zeal and fervent piety, he won them all to Christ. Two members of the family became itinerant ministers, and others filled important officers in the Church. In January, 1834, he was united in marriage with Miss Margaret Foraker, who, after a companionship of fifty-two years, is now left in loneliness of widowhood. In 1853 he was employed to supply Highland Circuit as junior preacher, and the following year admitted on trial to the Cincinnati Conference, and appointed to Buena Vista Circuit. His subsequent appointments were: Aberdeen, West Union, Higginsport, Winchester, Aberdeen a second time, Manchester, Moscow, Batavia, Hamersville, and New Burlington. In the fall of 1869 he and his youngest son, Rev. M. A. Head, then a member of the same Conference, were transferred to the Central Illinois Conference, where for nine years he faithfully served the Church in the following appointments: Orion, Millersburg, Hennepin, Magnolia, Vermont, Macomb Circuit. In 1878 he took a supernumerary relation, and the following year he was granted a superannuated relation; and returning to his former home, he supplied the Linchburg Circuit in the Cincinnati Conference, one year, which closed his labors in the effective ministry. Brother Head was a good man, a Christian gentleman of the old school, a faithful pastor and fast friend of the Church, whom a great company of redeemed souls will hail as a spiritual father.

Indiana Conference.

WILLIAM C. SMITH was born near Richmond, in the Territory of Indiana, Sept. 14, 1809, and died April 27, 1886. In February, 1828, Brother Smith was deeply convicted, and at a two-days' meeting in Richmond, in the following June, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church as a seeker of religion, and on the next day the Lord filled his soul with peace and joy. He was married July 17, 1828, to a young Quakeress, Phoebe E. King, who was in consequence disowned by the society. She afterward became a Methodist, and for fifty-nine years has been a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Under the searching inquiries of his pastor, Brother Smith acknowledged his call to preach, and at the next Quarterly Conference, at Noblesville, February, 1839, he received a license, and in a few weeks was appointed as assistant preacher on the circuit. In 1840 he was admitted on trial in the Indiana Conference. His first circuit was Franklin, including all of Johnson County and parts of Morgan, Marion, Bartholomew, and Brown Counties. His family occupied a log-cabin, without a sawed timber therein, twelve miles from store, mill or post-office. The next year he was sent to Greenfield. For two years he was stationed at Rushville. The two following years he was financial agent for Asbury University. Then for two years he became pastor in Wesley Chapel, Madison, where there were over two hundred accessions; one year in Rising Sun, one year in Wesley Chapel, New Albany; then for four years presiding elder of Paoli District, which he ever regarded as his hardest work; two years on New Albany District, four years on Indianapolis District; again pastor in Martinsville two years, Vincennes two years. Two years following he was on the superannuated list, and afterward, for two years, he was financial agent of the Conference Preachers' Aid Society. He was then permanently superannuated. Ultimately, he and his wife went to spend the evening of their life with their children, at Indianapolis, Peru, and Frankfort. He was one of the principal members of the Indiana Conference, and was connected with it for nearly half a century. He was an earnest, logical, pathetic, and loyal Methodist preacher. His zeal for the purity and prosperity of the churches was unbounded. He enjoyed the confidence of his ministerial brethren, whom he twice represented in the General Conference. He was the author of a very interesting book, entitled, "Indiana Miscellany." The younger ministers are little aware of the good work he accomplished. His funeral occurred in Martinsville.

Central German Conference.

WILLIAM DRESSLER was born April 18, 1806, in Flomersheim, Rheinbavaria. In 1839 he emigrated to America, locating near Pomeroy, O. Several years after his arrival in America he went, in company with Father Geier, on foot to Marietta, O., to attend a quarterly meeting, where he found forgiveness of his sins and the peace of God through faith. In the year 1843 he was licensed to preach, and in 1844 he received a call from the Church to step in the ranks of an itinerant. In September 1850 at the session of the Ohio Conference in Chillicothe, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Janes. One year later he was received into full connection, and in 1853 he was ordained elder, also by Bishop Janes. During the sixteen years of active service in the Church as an itinerant he took care of the following charges: Marietta, Washington Mission, Marietta and Bonn, Furnace Mission, Birmingham, Magela, Portsmouth and Waverly. At several of these charges he had been stationed twice. For sixteen years he suffered more or less with asthma, and on Dec. 1, 1885, he suddenly received a paralytic stroke, causing his death several hours later at the age of seventy-nine years.

PHIL. B. WEBER was born Oct. 10, 1834, in Dantenzell, Baden, Germany. He was converted March 11, 1852, and united with the church. He afterward removed to Detroit, where he was received into full connection. On May 2, 1853, he was licensed as exhorter, and in Jan. 28, 1854, as local preacher. He entered the itinerant works Feb. 8, 1855, and was appointed to the Rockport and Vermillion Mission. During the year he added Berea to his work, and thereby became the founder of our society at that educational centre. From 1856 to 1872 his appointments were as follows: Delaware (O.), Allegheny City (Pa.), Toledo (O.), Bucyrus (O.), Woodville (O.), Sandusky, Vermillion, Berea, and Dayton (O.), and New Orleans (La). Becoming afflicted with a throat trouble, he ceased his itinerant work, and was until the end an almost constant sufferer. During the last months of his affliction, he had a great desire to depart and be with Christ. When the attending physician informed him of his approaching decease, he received the intelligence with joy. He departed in the afternoon of Good Friday, at the age of fifty-one years, having been an itinerant seventeen years, and superintendent of our Orphan Asylum at Berea four years. He was one of the most gifted ministers of the Central German Conference, and many were led by him to a knowledge of the Saviour and were made strong in the faith. The remains of our brother were interred at Delaware, O.

Ohio Conference.

NOAH SPECK was born in Putnam County, O., June 16, 1809; died in Roseville, O., Oct. 16, 1885. He joined the Ohio Conference in 1854, and received ordination as elder at the hands of Bishop E. S. Janes in Marietta, O., Aug. 29, 1858. He was effective fourteen years, serving the following charges: Roseville, Nelsonville, Maxville, Baltimore, Rushville, Hebron, Baltimore, again; Maxville, again; New Albany and Johnstown. In 1868 his relation was changed to superannuated, which continued for seventeen years. Brother Speck was a faithful and acceptable preacher, devoutly attached to the Methodist Episcopal Church.

JOHN W. WHITE.—[Obituary not received.]

Wisconsin Conference.

W. H. WINDOW was born in Abergavenny, Monmouthshire, Eng., Jan. 8, 1814. On April 15, 1832, he married Miss Elenor L. Saunders. They came to America in 1832. In 1833 he was pastor of Lewis Circuit, Pittsburg Conference, and in 1834 he came West and joined the Illinois Conference. His first appointment was to Rushville Circuit. The next year he went to Jacksonville Circut. His next year was spent in the Winchester Charge, and in the following year he was sent to Rushville Station, where he remained two years. While there his wife died, Aug. 13, 1838. During his labors there the new church was finished, the debt paid, and the church greatly strengthened. Before going to Rushville he was ordained deacon by Bishop Soule, and two years afterward elder by Bishop Morris. Jan. 9, 1839, he was married to Miss Rebecca Little, in Rushville. Next year he was appointed to Quincy and had a good year, and on the following year was sent to McComb. Great sickness prevailed at McComb that year, and the leading physician, who was taken sick, urged him to practice medicine; and at the end of the year he was further persuaded by his friends to continue it and take a location. He was regarded as an able and successful minister. During his practice he was an active worker and assisted in revivals. In 1867 he came to Wisconsin and supplied Lowell Charge. The next year he entered the Wisconsin Conference and served the following charges: Randolph, Cotton Street, Fond du Lac, Waupun, Allen's Grove, Watertown, and Shopiere. He had revivals on all these charges except one, and souls were converted on that. At the close of his pastorate at Shopiere he became a superannuate. Afterward he lived in Pewaukee and Mazomania and finally settled in Allen's Grove, Wis., where he spent the remainder of his life. He was emotional, sympathetic, and cheerful, and had the happy faculty of driving gloom from other hearts. His faith in God was strong, and his zeal usually went far beyond his strength. His influence was a blessing to all, and many were led to better lives. On the morning of July 5, 1886, after more than sixty years in his Master's service, he passed to the rest above.

DAVID OLIVER JONES was born in North Wales, Dec. 21, 1821. He was clearly and happily converted in his nineteenth year, and soon afterward received a class-book and local preacher's license. A part of his time was spent at Ohio Wesleyan University, where his health failed, obliging him to leave the course unfinished, very much to his regret. Thinking to improve his health he came west and joined the Wisconsin Annual Conference on trial, at Waukesha, in 1851. He was ordained deacon in 1853 by Bishop Scott, and elder by Bishop Janes in 1855. His first appointment was Patch Grove. Subsequent pastorates were: Elk Grove, Richland Centre, Muscoda, Green Bay, Janesville, Horicon, Evansville, Emerald Grove, Watertown, Berlin, Fox Lake, Fort Atkinson, Allen's Grove, Orfordville, Shopiere, Dartford, Green Lake, Eureka, Depere, Zion, New London, Hortonville, Medina, and Second Church, Oshkosh. He also served as chaplain in the army for some time during the war. For thirty-five years he was a member of this Conference, every year of which he was effective except the last. Near the beginning of this long period of service he was joined to Miss Frances R. Hield, of Janesville, whom he married in 1855. Brother Jones was faithful to every trust the church gave him. He was an earnest preacher, a superior pastor, and a man of excellent business qualifications, so that every interest of the church was well cared for. He had, during his ministry, several large revivals, and left every charge he served in some way improved. He was a man of strong convictions and fearless in their expression. He was an intense lover of Methodism, and for it made many sacrifices as a pioneer preacher. His final illness, though full of suffering, was patiently borne. The day before he died, though so week he had to be supported, he baptized his little grandson, saying as he did so, "this is probably the last official act of my life." The next day at eleven o'clock, May 20, 1886, he was not, for God took him.

Des Moines Conference.

W. R. DOUGLASS was born in Plymouth, N. C., Feb. 26, 1836, and died on his farm, near Bayard, Guthrie County, Ia., Sept. 7, 1886, thus being fifty years of age. He was married to Miss Sarah A. Wood, at Chatham, N. J., Sept. 13, 1856. Brother Douglass was converted and united with the church in the winter of 1873. He joined the Des Moines Conference at its session in Des Moines, in 1875, and was sent to Bear Grove Circuit. His following appointments were: Lewis, Exira, Missouri Valley, Woodbine, Fremont City, Astor, and Coon Rapids, on which charge he died. Brother Douglass was a most genial and cordial friend and brother, and an earnest and successful preacher. He was strong in his convictions and fearless in his efforts.

Kentucky Conference.

HERMAN NEWMAN was born in Cabell County, West Va., Dec. 15, 1816, and died Nov. 19, 1885, near Young's Spring, Bath County, Ky. Trusting in the Lord, he fell asleep in Jesus. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in Cabell Court-house, West Va., Dec. 1, 1833. He was born of the Spirit March 1, 1834. He was ordained deacon Sept. 8, 1844, at Marietta, Ohio Conference, by Bishop Joshua Soule; ordained elder March 6, 1870, at Maysville, Kentucky Conference, by Bishop Edward Thomson. He received the following appointments from Conference: Louisa, Coalton, Carter and Elliott, Sandy and Blaine, Fox Springs, Bangor, Irvine, and Jeffersonville. He was reappointed to the Jeffersonville Circuit the second year. Filled his appointment at Laurel Spring, which was his last sermon. He was taken sick after preaching, arrived home, and lingered sixteen days, suffering intensely from Bright's disease. He bore his afflictions patiently, trusting fully in the Lord, in whom he had believed for over fifty years. When told by his physicians that he could not get well, he was not alarmed. His wife, weeping by his bedside, was told not to weep for him, saying, "Living or dying I am the Lord's," and "Tell my brethren of the Conference that I am not dead, but transferred."
